

THROG OF CITIZENS ENJOYS OPENING OF NEW NORTH NINTH STREET

Thousands of men, women and children thronged North Ninth street Saturday night, interesting participants in the celebration which had been arranged by the business men of one of the very liveliest and most enterprising trade squares of the city, in observance of the installation of a boulevard lighting system, from Main to North A street, the first lighting system of its kind in the city.

Accustomed to the dim illumination of street corner area the big crowd gasped its enthusiastic wonder when, promptly at 7:30 o'clock, all the boulevard lamps flashed on, throwing out a daylight brilliancy. And when Mayor W. J. Robbins, from the top of a motor truck, informed the big crowd that Richmond's entire business district should be provided with such lighting system his auditors indicated that he reflected their views on this question.

Ninth street business men did themselves proud as hosts to the big crowd which attended their celebration. There were a number of things to entertain the citizens. Piano players were stationed at different places and cabaret singers mixed with the throng. At 8 o'clock there was a very interesting demonstration of the new aerial ladder motor truck of the fire department. The big machine pulled up alongside the Masonic Temple, escorted by the motor chemical truck, then the big aerial ladder was hoisted to the top of the tall building and firemen, headed by Assistant Chief Carter, mounted to the roof with the agility of monkeys.

Ninth street's Saturday night visitors were not alone interested in the new boulevard lights. They evidenced their interest in every thing on the block. Every store room was crowded with sightseers. The Palladium entertained hundreds of its friends and patrons who took the opportunity of inspecting Eastern Indiana's model newspaper plant from top to bottom. The linotype battery vied with the new thirty-two page press in interesting the Palladium's visitors.

Haas Makes Talk.

Secretary Haas of the Commercial club briefly spoke and announced that he would read a letter from President Davis of the board of public works, who was unable to attend the celebration because of illness. Mr. Haas referred to Davis as one of the "best qualified and most competent board members the city has ever had." The Davis letter follows:

I believe in Richmond. I believe in her past achievements, in the men and women who created and conserved that I might produce and earn, enabling me to buy and pay—in the courage of her pioneers whose wisdom and foresight planned and built such a city, every foot of whose ground is worth in gold its market value, because the brain and brawn of man has added wealth to nature's own endowment.

I believe in the reality of her present—a present that combines the push and friendliness of a unit—people—transportation facilities that carry her industrial and agricultural product to the markets of the world—industrial, education, religious and fraternal organizations, whose influence is boundless in the creating and developing of good citizenship—in fostering the spirit of true friendship; where neighbors are real neighbors; where the strong sympathizes with the weak; respect and reverence for old age.

Holds Torch of Hope.

I believe in Richmond because she holds out the torch of "Hope" illuminating the way to a more hopeful confidence in the promise of a glowing youth; a city where progress is as inevitable as the tides; where co-operative competition shall be the ideal in trade, live and let live the slogan of business, serve others well to successfully serve self; the policy of industry and commerce; where each and every citizen shall be a community builder in fact, as now in name.

With this creed in my mind, you may readily see the ease with which I fall into the appreciative mood of the community spirit of the merchants and citizens on North Ninth street, that made possible, despite many obstacles, the installation of this short system of boulevard lighting.

It must go on record as the pioneer movement to a more generous adoption of this form of lighting in our city and I hope no hesitancy in predicting that ere long the east-west set by North Ninth street, will be adopted by every important part of our city.

should win," he said, "we should see a Germany of triumphant warriors seeking who it could devour, looking out for fresh spheres, or shall I say fresh hemispheres to conquer."

No one could feel a greater obligation of debt to the fleet than does Lloyd-George.

"If we overthrow German militarism now," he said, "it will be because our command of the seas has given us time to organize and so make good our unpreparedness."

REVIVE AGITATION OF LODGE CIRCUIT

The advent of the present spring balminess has caused the old baseball bug to get busy.

The fraternal circuit, a league to be composed of representative fraternity teams of Richmond, is the latest result of the B. B. B. activities. While yet in the embryo stage, the circuit gives promise of developing into one of the permanent baseball organizations of Richmond.

From present indications the league will include representative teams of the Eagles, Elks, Kaysee and other local fraternities. George Bayer, one of the promoters of the new circuit, will call an organization meeting soon.

Business College Jottings

Miss Ethel Creitzer of this city, Miss Selma Roney of Eaton, O., and Miss Maude Wattle of New Paris, O., entered school last week. Miss Creitzer is taking the combined course and Miss Watts and Miss Roney are taking stenography. All three girls are getting along nicely with their work.

Miss Myrtle Steen, whose home is in Raleigh, O., called at the school Friday morning. Miss Steen was in the first stenography class the college had. She has been employed for some time with the Maxwell, Briscoe Motor Co., at New Castle, but recently had to give up her position on account of ill health. Although Miss Steen is still staying at home she feels that she has almost regained her former good health.

L. B. Campbell made a business trip to New Castle Friday where he visited the New Castle Business College. From there he went to Indianapolis and spent the remainder of the day at the Central Business college.

Miss Harriet Williams has been doing some temporary work for C. O. Williams, county superintendent.

During the week ending January 14 the employment department of the Indiana Business college filled thirty-nine positions and had twenty-three calls which could not be furnished with help.

Herbert Moore has been working for Attorney Frank T. Strayer.

Earl Almsworth called at the school this week. Mr. Almsworth is a former student of the Richmond Business college.

Miss Rosella Bussen has been absent on account of sickness.

A very interesting letter was received this week from Miss Blanche Lloyd a former student of the college. Miss Lloyd is in training at a hospital at Goshen, Ind., and is much interested in her work. Miss Lloyd has a year and a half more in the Goshen hospital before she finishes her course. From there she will go to the Cook County Hospital, Chicago, for six months. Miss Lloyd wishes to be remembered to her friends in Richmond.

To correct an error in the Business college notes of last week, we desire to say that Mr. and Mrs. Earl Huethe, former students of the college, have taken up their residence in Dayton, O., instead of West Alexandria. Mr. Huethe is connected with a wholesale hide company at Dayton.

Miss Goldie Fisher has been doing temporary work for the Typewriting Exchange.

Mr. C. M. Manhoff, representative of the Stenotypy company, who was to have come to Richmond Monday, Wednesday.

TSETSE FLY CAUSES DEATH BY SLEEPING

DR. ALBERT C. PERVELL, TSETSE FLY.

Heroic efforts are being made by New York physicians to save the life of Dr. Albert C. Pervell, the Brooklyn physician who is a victim of the mysterious African sleeping sickness. Dr. Pervell was an athlete, six feet tall, and weighed 200 pounds when he was bitten by the dreaded tsetse fly while he was visiting a Belgian Congo. The bite of this tiny insect has obliterated African tribes. No antidote has been discovered for the poison. Doctor Pervell is said to be the first case reported in this country.

"Within the last fifteen years the sleeping sickness has killed more than 1,000,000 persons in Africa," said Dr. Louis L. Seaman, a specialist who has made two trips to the Congo to study the tsetse fly and the sleeping sickness.

LLOYD-GEORGE

common sense of the industrial classes—capitalists or labor—had risen against the organized insanity of swollen armaments, and the race for supremacy. Mr. Lloyd-George then said:

"Germany's military classes saw this fact as clearly as I did. They made a most desperate effort to re-establish their predominance. Germany started spending money on its army as well as its navy. I saw this could only mean that the military class was determined to strike at the earliest possible moment and that the real menace of Germany was once more to be found in her army."

To a question about the strength and solidarity of the alliance he answered: "The alliance was as firmly united now as at the birth of the war."

When I hinted at the possibility of industrial trouble at home, Lloyd-George retorted:

"I refuse to believe that such a thing will occur."

Even Cross, Sick Children Love Syrup of Figs

If Feverish, Bilious, Constipated, Give Fruit Laxative at Once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Adv.
