

FROM DOWN THE STATE

Telegraph News by Direct Wire from All Over Indiana

Indianapolis, Oct. 16.—While mentally deranged, Mrs. A. T. Newsom, of 48 West North street, climbed to the roof of her home and walked about the eaves while a shuddering crowd in the street watched the police rescue her. Mrs. Newsom has been suffering with nervous prostration for some time and last night her reason began to fail. She imagined that enemies were trying to kill her and that her neighbors were watching for a chance to poison her. The Newsom home is a large two-story house. Newsom, who remained at home to care for his wife, heard her go up the stairs into the attic, and a moment later he heard her footsteps on the roof.

Husband Calls on the Police.
Thoroughly frightened for fear his wife would carry out her threat, Newsom ran down to his telephone and notified the police. In the meantime Mrs. Newsom walked down the sloping roof to the eaves and stood looking down into the street. Pedestrians stopped until there was a crowd in both North and Illinois streets. Several men volunteered to go after the woman, but Newsom was afraid they would cause her to jump. The woman had told him she needed police protection, and he thought a man in uniform would have a better chance to rescue her.

Glad to See the Officer.
Bicyclen Mullen and Hall answered Newsom's call for assistance. They hurried into the house and asked a few questions of the husband. "What's her name?" Mullen said, and was told that it was Ella, and this knowledge helped the police. Mullen went up the ladder and looked out through the hole. "Hello, Ella, what are you doing up here?" was his pleasant greeting. "I'm awfully glad to see you," replied the woman. "They were just about to kill me by making me inhale poisoned gas."

Confides in Her Rescuer.
Mullen held out his hand in a friendly manner and the woman confidently placed her hand in his. The strong fingers of the bicyclen closed over the hand and the woman was a prisoner. A few minutes later she was led to safety.

HAD A HOARD OF $77
Hermit Who Has Been Ejected from His Quarters Had His Money Hidden—Curious Character.

Rushville, Ind., Oct. 16.—Chief of Police William Price, of this city, while ejecting Albert Tyler, a hermit, who had been living on the August Winship farm three miles south of this city, found sums ranging from 10 cents to $15 concealed in old, rusty purses, rusty tin boxes, dirty rags and pasteboard boxes, placed in odd places about the house, in boxes of trash, hidden in cracks in the floor and in the furniture. The money totaled $77.

Tyler had allowed his hair and beard to grow until, with his bare feet and ragged clothes, he presented the appearance of a "wild man" of circus fame. Tyler is a young man, and at his father's death three years ago he retained possession of the house on the Winship farm and refused to move or pay rent.

Deadly Boiler Explosion.
Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 16.—Two men were killed and three injured when a forty-horse power boiler at Frank Gosnell's sawmill, located fifteen miles southwest of here, exploded. Frank Gosnell, owner of sawmill, and George Groves, engineer, both of Vincennes, were killed. Seriously injured—Edward Gosnell, Phillip Groves and Willard Wells. The bodies of the two killed were blown over 100 feet and horribly mutilated.

Member of a Choir Missing.
Peru, Ind., Oct. 16.—William Vance, aged 32, a member of the Baptist church choir, has been missing since last Friday morning. He was last seen walking on the Wabash river road west of Peru. The church members spent a day scouring the banks for his body. It is believed Vance was demented.

Had His Nose Cut Off.
Evansville, Ind., Oct. 16.—William Lanham, a coal miner, was caught between two coal cars and had his nose cut off. He picked up his nose from the ground and held it in his hand until the arrival of a surgeon, who sewed it back on.

Injury Caused His Death.
Connersville, Ind., Oct. 16.—Bert Welsh, a printer, was struck by a train, his right hand cut off and the arm mangled so that amputation was necessary. Welsh died of his injuries.

He Receives His Inheritance.
Rensselaer, Ind., Oct. 16.—Elmer W. Sage, of Rensselaer, has received two checks of $25,000 each as his share of the estate of his uncle, Russell Sage.

cepting a fee while senator to defend a client against a charge in a United States court, the ex-senator when told of the decision, said: "This is not my time to talk."

He has communicated with his attorneys, asking that his term of imprisonment be arranged to begin at the earliest possible moment. Some time ago Burton caused an official statement to be made by his attorneys that if the supreme court denied him a rehearing he would neither apply for a pardon nor accept one if it were tendered. His sentence was six months in jail and $2,500 fine.

Cuban Junta Would—Big Meeting of Liberals of Havana—Other Island Matters.

New York, Oct. 16.—Taking to itself the credit of having accomplished the fall of the Palma government in Cuba, the revolutionary junta in this country will now, according to Captain Cassily Cook, counsel to the junta, proceed to secure some of the fruits of the revolution in the form of offices for those who took up arms.

Havana, Oct. 16.—The Liberals held the greatest political meeting ever witnessed in Cuba at the Payret theater. Six thousand persons crowded into the building and an overflow meeting outside was attended by 2,000 more. The speeches were patriotic in tenor, but no one said a good word for Palma. Senator Zayas said he did not blame the Moderates, but only their leader, Palma, but if Palma was again chosen to the presidency in a fair election the Liberals would sustain him.

The local political parties are showing signs of reorganization. The reorganized Moderate party, which its leaders have renamed the Republican party, already has issued a lengthy programme, setting forth aims similar to those held by the Moderates.

SAM JONES IS DEAD

Noted Evangelist Passes Away in a Sleeping Car on the Rock Island Road of Heart Failure.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 16.—Rev. Sam P. Jones, the well-known evangelist of Cartersville, Ga., is dead of heart failure, dying in a sleeping car on a train of the Rock Island railroad near Perry, Ark. Jones had been conducting a most successful revival at Oklahoma City, I. T., and left there for his home in Georgia. He desired to attend a family reunion today, it being the 50th anniversary of his birth. Mrs. Jones and his daughters, Mrs. Annie Pylon and Miss Julia Jones, were with him when he passed away.

Jones arose from his berth in the sleeper about 5 a. m. and complained of sickness of the stomach. He drank a glass of hot water and immediately afterward collapsed. Rev. Walt Holcomb, who had been associated with Jones for a number of years, took the dying man in his arms, and in a few minutes the evangelist breathed his last. The body has been embalmed and shipped to Cartersville, where interment will be had.

FARMER AND DISCRIMINATION

Testimony Given Before the Interstate Commerce Board at a Chicago Hearing.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The investigation of the conditions surrounding the grain market begun here by the interstate commerce commission promises to reveal startling information before its completion. Witnesses told of the struggle between the farmer and organized commission men in Iowa and Illinois and how the farmer and independent dealer was discriminated against by the railroads. This was in the morning.

At the afternoon session J. Rosenbaum, of the J. Rosenbaum Grain company, of Chicago, declared that the farmers themselves had formed a combination. Said he: "The farmers who are organized refuse to sell grain to any but their own elevators. Part of their agreement is that if any member sells to any one else he shall be fined 1 cent a bushel for every bushel sold. The farmers are closely allied and they discriminate against others more than they are discriminated against." B. F. Rosenbaum, son of J. Rosenbaum, supplemented his father's testimony with more details.

NOVEL ACCIDENT ON THE OHIO

Upper Works of a Steamer Swept Off by a Cable—One Man Drowned—Panic Among the Crew.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 16.—The tow boat Raymond Horner, belonging to the combine, was wrecked here by running into a cable stretched across the Ohio river at Lock 18. The pilot house and everything on the hurricane deck were swept into the river. Pilot Howard Crawford, of Pittsburg, was drowned; Captain Dippold and Pilot Beler were badly injured.

To add to the horror of the scene the boat caught fire and a panic followed, until Fireman Keenan pulled a gun on the boat's employes and compelled them to fight the flames with the extinguishers. This had the desired effect, and the flames were soon under control.

Fairbanks in the Northwest.

Mankato, Minn., Oct. 16.—One thousand persons and a band greeted Vice President Fairbanks at the Union station when he arrived here. Fairbanks was escorted to the Mankato theater, where he was introduced by Representative McCleary. He spoke for one hour, and urged the election of McCleary. At noon the vice president and party left on a tour of the Sioux City division of the Omaha road and will deliver short addresses at nearly every station between Mankato and Laverne.

Suicided Sensationally.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—Jacob Geismar, curator of the university geological laboratory, committed suicide by drinking cyanide of potassium. Geismar drank the poison while walking with his wife and son on the street and died in twenty minutes. No cause can be assigned for the suicide.

Democrat According to Law.

New York, Oct. 16.—The ruling of Justice Greenbaum, to the effect that only those newspapers which support the candidacy of William R. Hearst for governor are entitled to receive election advertising as Democratic papers, has been sustained by the appellate division of the supreme court.

Good News for Postal Employes.

New York, Oct. 16.—First Assistant Postmaster General Frank K. Hitchcock has announced that the postal estimates for the next fiscal year will advise better pay involving the entire postal system of the United States.

BEAUTY HINTS.

Deep Yawning a Cheap, Sure Road to Health.

Deep yawning practiced as a regular exercise is the cheapest and surest road to perfect health. We are all familiar with the theory that systematic deep breathing is an excellent thing for the lungs, and it is on similar grounds that yawning is recommended. The expansion of the breast bones and the stretching of the arms which accompany a whole hearted yawn, together with the filling of the lungs, form a splendid daily exercise.

A Good Shampoo.

If full benefit from a good shampoo is desired never dress the hair until quite dry, and never go out with it damp. It will be better to take the shampoo at night than to risk a severe cold in the head from wind blowing on wet hair. While still slightly damp the hair may be tightly braided at night and left hanging. In the morning, when combed out, it will be beautifully waved and entirely dry. Once in six weeks is really often enough to give the head such a shampoo unless extremely oily; then once a month. Go over the head with a toothbrush and clear water between washes, using a dry towel to wipe the scalp.

Remedy For Leg Cramp.

To those who suffer during the night with that painful complaint, cramp in the leg, the following hint will be useful: When the cramp comes on take a good, strong string—a long garter will do—wind it around the leg over the place that is affected, and take an end in each hand and give it a sharp pull, one that will hurt a little. Instantly the cramp will depart, and the sufferer can return to bed assured that it will not come again that night.

If you are afflicted with a red nose and the trouble is only superficial apply, night and morning, a mixture of glycerin and tannic acid, twenty grains of the latter to an ounce of the former.

In sickness, when disinfectants are needed in sinks and basins, use carbolic acid, allowing four tablepoonsful to each pint of cold water. Pour down the pipes, and let it remain half an hour before flushing.

For a good mouth wash take an ounce of camphor and add two ounces of spirits of wine. Use a few drops in half a tumbler of water.

SLEEVE TALK.

Short Sleeves For Young and Pretty Women.

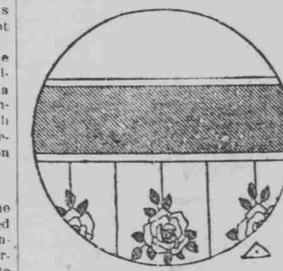

A famous French man dressmaker, one of those wonderful personages who decide the styles for the coming season, has this to say about the winter sleeves: "Young women and all beautiful women will wear the short sleeves. The long sleeve will be left to those women whose physical peculiarities are such that it is not becoming or to elderly women who cannot stand the weather. But all young women who aim at smartness will wear the elbow sleeve, which will be much puffed at the shoulder."

"We are making our very new sleeves puffed at the shoulder in exceedingly large puffs which extend almost to the elbow. They are trimmed at the elbow with lace in the form of two or three ruffles.

"There are long sleeves, but these are of very thin material and are crumpled from the elbow to the wrist. They are very full, and they are finished at the wrist with a very little jeweled trimming.

A Home Decoration.

existing covering, carefully cleaned and whitewashed or distempred. About four feet from the floor make a neat dado of brown paper. At the base lay panels of a light paper, and upon them paste neat designs cut from old scraps of wall paper. The whole effect when finished is novel and artistic, and the covering being effected in a material that can be obtained for so little, an economical scheme is the result.

Her Only Request.

A housewife complained to her milkman of the quality of milk he sold her. "Well, mum," said the milkman, "the cows don't get enough grass feed this time o' year. Why, them cows are just as sorry about it as I am. I often see 'em cryin'—regular cryin'—mum—because they feel as how their milk don't do 'em credit. Don't you believe it, mum?"

A Trick of the Trade.

Crafty Milliner—Really, Miss Passay, the white feather on your hat makes you look at least five years younger. Miss Passay—Well, you may—er—put a couple more white feathers on it.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Misery chuckles when it comes upon a poor fellow that Cupid has hit.

No flags are flying or banners waving when you go about making reparation for your misdeeds.

The sandpaper that a politician uses to keep his job from slipping through his fingers has the United States treasurer's signature.

When people have a pull together they are likely sooner or later to pull apart.

A pretty woman is fond of casting reflections on herself—from a mirror.

A looking glass is the only thing that we will permit to make faces at us.

None of us would object so much to doing hard work if it were easy enough.

The man who never tries to understand a woman understands her best.

It is first necessary to be thoroughly miserable before you know what real happiness is.

Having enough money to be able to live without anybody in particular is one way of making everybody particular.

Help For the Helpless.

It is seriously proposed by a great magazine with a bright cover and part of its reading matter to match to establish a lobby to look after congress next winter and see that it does not do things calculated to outrage the fine and lovable common people.

While it is true that the price of liberty has not been put on the bargain counter, eternal vigilance still being the cost mark, yet it does seem as though a representative government could protect itself in a much simpler way.

When selecting the membership of the next congress, why not pass up all who would steal sheep? Surely all of the sheep in the land have not been stolen, and they may be needed at home. By some such simple plan we might be able to get good results without all of the trouble of taking up collection to pay the lobby.

His Deserts at Last.

There was a crooked man, And he went a crooked back; He met a straight policeman, Who put the crook in hook.

A Modest Caller.

Sure, It's me, your Humble servant of the off year, Here On the ground, Bound To have my say In a modest way And shy Or know the reason why. You expect Because you elect No president you can suppress Me, Well, guess Again. Some men Think I should shrink From public gaze, Nor raise My voice at all, Nor call For cold and clammy cash Nor cut a dash In any way. Say, That's not my style, For, while I may not be as large as a balloon, My tune, Though low, Must go. I will be heard. It's quite absurd To ask me with a frown To go way back and sit down. On election day You may Regret The bet You overlooked. When your goose is cooked, And as a token of my affection You make connection On fourteen sides With one of my justly celebrated landslides.
