

FROM DOWN THE STATE

Telegraph News by Direct Wire from All Over Indiana

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 28. — Two or three accredited representatives of the Greek government are expected at Terre Haute to get evidence, if possible, on which the United States government can be asked to put an end to the work of agents of the Macedonia committee, which has its headquarters in Sofia, Bulgaria, and whose ostensible object is to convert Macedonia into Bulgarian territory, although many persons believe it is only a huge financial swindle.

Affair May Be International.

The arrest of two Bulgarians on a charge of extortion in demanding money from Greeks in Terre Haute is fast developing into what may be an international affair. The two Bulgarians were caught at Danville, Ill., where they were making like demands on Bulgarians and Greeks employed on the Indiana Harbor division of the Big Four road. That the arrests attracted attention elsewhere is shown by the appearance of a rich Bulgarian named Stephenson from Granite City, opposite St. Louis, who at once arranged for the defense of the accused.

Demand Backed by Threats.

Immediately after their arrest at Danville they were anxious to get into communication with a friendly lawyer at Kansas City. Both men had regular credentials as captains in the Bulgarian army. Gustave Kathromeros, who says he is a representative of the Greek legation at Washington, has put in an appearance. The Bulgarians at Danville and the three under arrest in Terre Haute demanded money, with threats on the life of the person on whom the demand was made or on the lives of his kinsmen in Greece or Macedonia through the secret society known as the "Nom Cristl."

Prisoners Have Plenty of Cash.

The representative of the legation says that if it is proved money is solicited for the revolutionary movement which seeks to overthrow the protectorate established six years ago by Greece over Macedonia the United States government will be asked to assert its authority. The arrested men at Danville and here had plenty of money, each carrying several hundred dollars. The Greeks and Macedonians in Terre Haute have no doubt of the presence of the Bulgarians as agents of a death society.

BLOOD THICKER THAN WATER?

Wouldn't Seem So from the Way These Kinsmen Lived Without Association.

Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 28. — Arthur Frank Applegate, 23 years old, and his father, William Applegate, have lived within six miles of each other all the young man's life, but their first meeting in many years was last Saturday. When Frank was only a few weeks old his mother died, and the infant was consigned to the care of her parents, near Fairland. He grew to manhood with his grandparents, with whom he still lives, while his father remained in this city and never went to see him.

Last Saturday Frank came here and met Harvey Applegate, his uncle, who suggested that they call on his father. In this way the father and son met for the first time since the lad's infancy. Two brothers of William Applegate have lived within four miles of each other for forty years, but the families have never visited as other families do. They are on good terms, however, and are friendly when they meet.

Shulley's Victim Is Dead.

Shulley, who escaped from the Tower Hill mine, is believed to be in hiding within a short distance of the mine. Search is still being kept up in an effort to apprehend the fugitive.

Two Cities Fight.

General passenger agents of eastern and western lines are determined to bring about the establishment of a new trans-continental train service through the St. Louis gateway. It is said to be a fight for supremacy between Chicago and St. Louis. Chicago for years has been a recognized gateway between New York and California. Fast limited trains have been run via Chicago to San Francisco and via Seattle to Portland. So far as Chicago is concerned of course it must remain a gateway to the northwest, but the movement now indicates that the St. Louis gateway is at last to be recognized and that the eastern and western roads are to establish limited train service via this route. An old coincidence is that the mileage by the various routes to both San Francisco and Los Angeles from New York is practically the same. From New York to San Francisco via Chicago is 3,488 miles via the Santa Fe and Rock Island 3,484.

WIDE TIRES AND GRAVEL ROADS.

It does not require the wisdom of a Solomon to discover that wide tires on the farm and road wagon are a benefit to farmers in many ways.

Broad tires lighten the draft by presenting more surface to the road bed, and they do not sink so easily into soft ground for the same reason. Since heavy loads can be hauled more readily with a wide tire wagon than with that having narrow tires the owner of such a conveyance is thus more merciful to his horses. Tests and observations have proved that wide tires are a benefit to country roads while the narrow tires are road destroyers. Wide tires act as rollers, compacting the track, while narrow ones only cut up the roadway and make travel upon it very difficult in bad weather.

Wide tires cost but little more than narrow tires, hence there is no good excuse for the use of the latter. Farmers are beginning to see the necessity and economy in using the broad tires and are slowly discarding wagons of narrow tires.

TILLMAN AT CHICAGO

Good Care Taken, Much to His Disgust, That He Is Unmolested.

HANDS A COUPLE TO THE MAYOR

Says Democrats Are All White Where He Comes From.

How He Shat Up an Annoyer and His Strenuous Comment on Free and Equal Law.

Chicago, Nov. 28. — When Senator Tillman arrived at Chicago he was met in almost regal state. A great crowd, in which were a few negroes, was gathered at the station to see the man who was expected to denounce the negro race in his speech for the benefit of the Chicago Union hospital in Orchestra hall. Thirty policemen and numerous plain clothes men were present. When the senator got off the train there were a few cheers and fewer hisses. He was greeted on alighting by Mrs. Adele Keeler and Mrs. Warren Springer, representing the hospital.

Bottled Up for Awhile.

Representatives of the Ironclad club were there also, with an invitation, which was accepted, to lunch at the club. Tillman did not want a "body-guard," but the police authorities thought it best to take no chances. He said he would speak his mind at the lecture and "took a whack" at Mayor Dunne when he said that where he came from Democrats are white men. He was asked by the management of the hospital to say nothing about the negroes before the lecture as the men at the head of the opposition were talking of stopping the lecture with an injunction.

Colored People at the Lecture.

But nothing occurred to mar the peace of the city. There was quite a crowd in front of the hall and forty detectives watched out for any disorders. There were many colored people in the audience. The injunction was not obtained, and the South Carolina senator had a carte blanche to say what he liked. Tillman took his first whack at Mayor Dunne, saying that the mayor's refusal to preside did not snub him (Tillman); it snubbed "these gracious ladies"—the patronesses of the lecture.

GOES IN "HAMMER AND TONGS"

Gives a Talk on the Race Problem and Nothing Else.

"I have been advertised to discuss the annexation of Cuba," continued Tillman, "but in view of the fact that I could not discuss that subject without discussing the race question I am going to go at the matter hammer and tongs, straightforward, like a man. Therefore I shall discuss the race problem pure and simple. Owing to my experience with the question and the diligent study I have made of it I believe I am better qualified to discuss this question than any other man in America."

While discussing the fifteenth amendment of the constitution, which he declared gave the negro every right that a white man had, he was interrupted several times by one of his listeners, who kept asking "How about Kentucky?" Finally Tillman seemed to lose his temper and exclaimed: "Oh, shut your mouth. You don't know the A B C of this thing. I forgot forty years ago more than you ever knew."

"If this law was enforced it would result in two states at least being dominated absolutely by negroes, while four other states would be so near being governed by the negro that there would practically be an equal division of officers." A voice—"How about the law?" Senator Tillman—"The law? To hell with such law."

After telling in detail how the negro is prevented from casting his ballot in the south Tillman said: "There is a great deal more to this question than the little racket here in Chicago." A voice—"How about the negro judge?" Senator Tillman—"Well, I will tell you about your negro judge and about your political machines putting him on your ticket and bamboozling those poor ignorant baboons into electing him, and then afterwards you fellows who voted the ticket without knowing what was on it find a way to cheat him out of it."

CAUCASIAN OF BETTER CLAY

Says the Senator—Negro Nothing but a Burden Carrier.

"No matter what the people of the north say or do the white race in the south will never be dominated by the negro," said the senator; "and I want to tell you now that if some state should ever make the attempt to 'save South Carolina' we will show them in their fanaticism that we will make it red before we make it black."

"God Almighty made the Caucasian of better clay than the Mongolian, or the African, or any other race. The Ethiopian is a burden carrier. He has done absolutely nothing for history, nor has he ever achieved anything of any great importance. There are no great men among the race. Yet this people has been picked out by the fanatics of the north and lifted up to the equality of citizenship and to the rights of suffrage."

"No doubt many of you have listened to the oratory of the greatest colored man of this country—Booker Washington. He had a white father, however, and out of his brains and his character he has gotten his qualities from that father.

In conclusion Tillman said: "Now, as a general illustration of the injustice that is sometimes done, President Roosevelt has discharged three companies of colored soldiers without a court martial, and in doing this punished innocent men for the crime of a few. In doing this he transcended the authority of the law and he ought not to have done it."

COMPANY USED DYNAMITE

That Is How It Kept Oil Prospectors Out of Its Coal Territory, Says a Witness.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 28. — Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clarke resumed the investigation of conditions affecting the coal trade in the intermountain country. The legal departments of the Gould and Harriman railroads were present and were permitted to cross-examine the witness. S. Spencer, of Evanston, Wyo., an attorney, told of the methods of the Union Pacific Coal company, in acquiring coal lands in Wyoming and in keeping out opposition companies. He testified that agents of the Union Pacific company used dynamite in their efforts to keep men with oil-well drilling machinery out of Utah county, Wyo.

When prospectors attempted to take in their machinery, he testified, a trench was dug and filled with dynamite and men were instructed to blow up the machinery if an attempt should be made to take it into Utah county over land claimed by the Union Pacific under grant of the government. Spencer testified that the sheriff of the county was called and the mine was exploded, but the earth was heaved up in such a manner that approach to the oil prospect on the side hill was impossible.

George E. Hare, special agent for the general land office, was called to the stand, and said the companies under investigation obtained many thousand acres of land by irregular means, and Charles Kingston, ex-land office register, swore that when he applied to the general land office for instructions as to allowing suspected land entries he was informed that it was "none of our business." This was in B. Herriman's term as commissioner.

FERT PARAGRAPHS.

Being a gossip is having a lot of high toned company.

Having an opinion of your own is an excellent thing when it doesn't cause you to lose money.

No man likes to see his wife work—for anybody but himself.

The average woman knows as much about politics as the average man knows of domestic economy.

All lies are detestable unless they bear the mark of our own branding iron.

The reason that most men are not jealous of their wives is because they haven't a chance to be.

When you can no longer argue, quote poetry.

It makes us feel bad when we find that our wrights are all wrongs.

Nobody but a fool ever tries to show a man that he isn't as clever as he thinks he is.

By some people it is considered quite honorable to tell a lie by keeping your mouth shut.

Mighty Poor Smoking.

It is claimed that the tobacco trust has been buying up legislatures in the east and elsewhere. This is mighty interesting, especially to smokers who would like to know what the tobacco trust might want with a bunch of green statesmen.

If they propose to grind them up and put them on the market mixed with a choice brand of cut plug to add flavor, the discriminating legislator wants to know it. He may approve of roasting the legislature, but he will be horn-swaggled and a few things like that if he wants to smoke them.

Of course the naughty trust may want them for an entirely different purpose. It may have some choice fifty cent cigars that need testing and also some special brands of legislation that it would like to have passed in response to what seem to be a great public sentiment. Ye never can tell about a trust.

"Any suggestions to make as to the way I should paint this picture of your wife?"

"Well, I don't like to ask the impossible, but if you could make it that way I would like to have it a scene in still life."

Abas Frigidity.

The absent rays of other days Are with their olden glimmer gleaming; The sunny smiles of bygone whies Are to our fond remembrance streaming As in the fog our senses cling And aching cold our joints dismember, We mutter that we'll bet our hat We catch the grip this chill November.

The poet rants about the chants That swell and ebb through skies of winter. About the lace the fairies trace When frigid cold your fingers splinter. But, as for me, I don't agree With him at all nor like his ravings. To me it seems old Winter schemes To freeze to all my summer's savings.

Thanks to the Meat Trust.

"Are you a vegetarian for sentimental reasons or because you consider it healthier?"

"Well, to tell the truth, neither. It is on account of the price."

Still Self Supporting.

"She would be a very fine actress if she just had good support."

"Well, it isn't wholly her fault that she hasn't. She has tried three different husbands."
