

JOHNSON INAUGURAL MONDAY

Gary residents will turn out en masse New Year's afternoon on Monday of next week to witness the biggest civic affair ever held in the history of the city.

Mayor-elect R. O. Johnson, mayor of the city from 1919-1927, will again become the city's head for four years when Mayor W. F. Hodges will hand over the reins of the city in elaborate inaugural services which will be conducted at the Orpheum Theatre in Gary, starting at 11 o'clock noon. At the same time Mayor Johnson's entire cabinet will take oath of office.

Heretofore, the mayor-elect of the city has been sworn in at the council chambers of the city hall while other city officials took oath of office in their respective offices. On account of the many requests being made for a public inaugural, the ceremonies will take place on the stage at the Orpheum Theatre. It will be the first public inaugural service ever witnessed by the residents of the city.

Subject to possibly a few changes the program will be given as follows:

Mayor-elect R. O. Johnson and all other officers-elect, including members of the city council, will leave the city hall at 11:30 a. m. and proceed to the Orpheum Theatre, preceded by the Harmon band.

Mayor-elect Johnson to the theater and after the inaugural ceremonies will have been concluded he will accompany the new mayor back to the mayor's office in the city hall.

The parade of officials-elect from the city hall is expected to arrive at the theater promptly at 12 noon.

Judge Charles E. Greenwood of the Gary superior court will act as master of ceremonies at the theater and will probably administer the oath of office to each of the officers elect, although this has not definitely been decided.

COUNCIL PASSES "JIT" ORDINANCE

Jitney Official Says Neither Council Nor Police Can Oust Jitneys

The Hammond city council last night in special session passed the jitney ordinance.

It is substantially the same as ordinances previously presented and killed.

The jitney men say they are in favor of the ordinance. The president of the jitney association spoke for the measure before council. Later he said neither city council, the police department, nor any other legalized authority could oust the jitneys from the streets of Hammond. He maintained a cock attitude to the mortification of several of the councilmen who had voted favorably on the measure. His name is Charles Nichols and he says the Jits will stay because the people want them and because the Hammond Jits are big enough to hold the jitney men if the authorities decided to prosecute.

Chief features of the new measure, which becomes effective within thirty days, are:

License fees of $25, $35 and $50 annually. Bonds of $2,500 and $3,500.

Fare of ten cents per trip. Children under eleven years ride free when accompanied by adult.

Six routes proposed. These include city. Each Jitney driver must rotate his trips so as to include every route consecutively, except the routes which take in Hammond and Robertsville. Fare over these routes is ten cents. Inasmuch as there are approximately 125 jitneys now operating in Hammond it means that Hammond and Robertsville will have adequate jitney service in the future. Each jitney must make at least one trip a day to these two points. Time of trip is optional with driver. This is a problem to be worked out by new council.

No smoking by either passenger or driver.

No driver to lay off for more than four days without written permission of mayor.

Every jitney to be equipped with 35 inch and six others designating routes.

Taxicab described as those charged minimum fare of 30 cents must be equipped with meter.

Violations of ordinance provisions carry a fine of $500 and jail sentence for each charge.

The measure, killed at the last session of the city council, was recalled by Councilman Bruce from oblivion and placed on second reading.

Debate on the ordinance was brief. At one stage of the contest Councilman Pat Reilly nearly slipped one over on the other boys when he sprang to his feet and made a motion to table the measure. This was entertained favorably by the chairman. Councilman Luthman made a second to the motion. It went to a vote. The count was seven yeas to nine nays. Discussion was resumed but the Jitney men wiped their brows. It was a close shave.

In a whirlwind finish Councilman Bruce, who has fathered the ordinance since its inception, made a remarkably fine speech advocating adoption of the measure. It was one of the best talks heard in the city council this year.

Up for final passage and adoption the measure carried 11-5. The vote was as follows:

Yeas—Keeler, Kline, Haman, Heckelman, Bruce, C. C. Smith, Reinsig, Dreesen, Voorheis, White and Brandt. Nays—Lindley C. Smith, Skurafakes, Martin, Luthman, Reilly.

Absent—Highland, Kiecker.

Mayor Brown was present. He offered no comment either on the floor or after the ordinance had been passed.

Voorheis was insistent that the provisions of the ordinance are to stringent for the Jitney men. He says they can not operate profitably under terms of the measure.

Police will have their hands full enforcing the provision mandating Jitney men to traverse each route. All the drivers will want to stay on the most profitable routes say police. How are we going to regulate them?

"Utopian dream of a group of irresponsible whimsy ideas of transportation have been gathered by playing with the baby's Christmas toys" said one disgusted business man today referring to the measure aimed at regulating the Jitneys.

MRS. GAL AND MIKE DANCH ARRESTED

Mike Danch, former Gary policeman and Mrs. Julia Gal, garage owner on the south side who were in the limelight several weeks ago when a south side foreigner alleged that Danch and Mrs. Gal swindled him out of some $7,000 on the pretense that she was going to take him as a partner in the business and also to marry him were arrested on sheriff warrants served in Gary yesterday afternoon.

They were taken to Crown Point by deputy sheriff Clem Hentges where charges were filed against them. The nature of the charges was not made known although it is understood that the charge will differ from the above. From reliable information it is said that both were indicted by the recent session of the grand jury.

SURGEON URGES THE REMOVAL OF ALL APPENDIXES

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
KANE, Pa., Dec. 31.—Dr. Evan Kane, the surgeon who last summer cut out his own appendix without first taking an anesthetic, has suggested to the Elk County Medical Society that a law should be passed by the next State Legislature compelling every child to have his appendix cut out. Properly performed and with the right hospital care afterward, he said, the number of deaths from such operations would be few. He contended that many human ills were directly traceable to diseased appendix. Chronic inflammation develops rheumatism, dyspepsia and other ills. Appendicitis are results of chronic appendicitis, he said.

OLD YEAR SEES SITUATION GROW STRONGER

BY H. K. REYNOLDS
(STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The economic situation of America is growing stronger as the old year dies, Frank White, treasurer of the United States, declared today in predicting "better times ahead" and a substantial improvement in financial and industrial conditions during the coming year.

White urged the lifting of restrictions in the money market and asserted that an extension of bank credits was "absolutely necessary." He contended that money conditions today indicated a business revival which could be continued in 1932 with the help of the big financial institutions.

"America enters the new year under peculiar financial conditions," White said. "I feel that the nation has passed the bottom of depression that better times are ahead."

"The currency in circulation is the barometer of the nation's industrial activity. During active times when business is flourishing, a large volume of currency is needed. In prosperous times, large amounts of money remain in the people's hands."

"In 1929, the maximum per capita was reached—nearly $50—and it also was the peak of industrial activity. In 1931 the reverse occurred. Money left the pockets of the people. There was a reduction of almost one billion dollars in the money circulated. Business reached the bottom of depression. The per capita was about $25 for the year."

"The great volume of money coming to the treasury was for redemption. The federal reserve banks sent in money for credit rather than for release. This volume has remained practically stationary for the last three months."

"The indications for 1932 point to a business revival if money restrictions are removed. Business must get better, surely it cannot get worse."

"The readjustment of prices is moving slowly. Accumulated money reserves must be loosened. It is absolutely necessary that there be an extension of credits. The banks have a larger cash reserve now than a year ago. This money must be put back into circulation and the return to normalcy will follow."

FILES COMPLAINT FOR DIVORCE

Family troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Boardway, Fifteenth and Columbia aces, Hammond, culminated this morning in the filing of a complaint for divorce by Mrs. Boardway in the Hammond superior court.

The complaint which was prepared by Attorneys Cleveland and Cleveland, recites two instances in which Boardway attempted to kill his wife. One time he threatened her with a razor. On October 27, she says he tried to kill her with a shot-gun but others intervened. Then he accused her of supporting other men.

Mrs. Boardway says he has never provided a home for her and their child but that it has been necessary for her to draw upon her savings in order to support herself. She asks for the custody of the child and $2,000 alimony.

The Tartars Had Literary Tastes

THE lowly and uncultured Tartars—when books fell into their possession—ate them to acquire the knowledge contained therein. They doubtless suffered indigestion. At least, they weren't overlooking any bet.

There are mistakes both of commission and omission. Better, by far, to be satisfied that you have done your best and endure indigestion, than overlook real opportunities and feel the pangs of unavailing regret.

The advertisements you will find in this newspaper are business mines of opportunity. They tell you of values you might never know, if they were not there to guide you.

Do you read—and digest—this advertising? Figuratively speaking, some folks "eat it up." They are the wise shoppers—the economical buyers—the ones who are strictly up to date on the opportunities for saving money or spending it most judiciously.

Read the advertisements. Read them to know what's what in the shopping district. Read them to save steps—to save money—to save disappointments. Read them because they place before your eyes a moving panorama of business progress. Read them to keep yourself informed.
