Greater Japan.
DOUBLESS the terms of peace just made at Portsmouth are humiliating to the Japanese people in view of the fact that they have demanded so much more and the world generally credits Russia with a diplomatic victory. But the Japanese government has been moved to make peace upon narrowed terms, in all probability, by a realization of the fact that Japan had really nothing to gain by a continuance of the war. True, Russia could have been completely driven from eastern Asia and Vladivostok could have been captured; but what good would this do Japan? To force Russia to pay an indemnity was absolutely impossible; to do so it would be necessary for Japan to send its army and its navy to Russia, and this would have been to alienate the sympathy of the world and to invite irretrievable disaster. Japan has more than it contended for; it now makes peace with the applause of the world and is stronger to take up its position as the commanding nation of the East than it would be did it continue the war another victorious year.
There is every reason to believe that the world will now see as wonderful a march of material progress in the far east as it has seen a wonderful success in war in the the past eighteen months.

BITS FROM THE NORTH COUNTRY

Moorhead has had its fill of carnivals.
Kelliher will have a new $3000 school house.
The open season for chickens and school children is on.
Detroit's new hospital is hard at work for suffering humanity.
North Dakota State Fair has a full head of steam at Grand Forks.
Looks like Congressman Buckman has a clear field for a touchdown.
If prairie hens were to have a memorial day they would probably make it September 1.
The Bank of Callaway gets off the White Earth reservation and off the earth too. Too much reservation.
What the Mayor of Koochiching said to the Mayor of Fort Francis at the ball game makes the Carolino incident very commonplace.
Which would you rather be James J. Hill or Theodore Roosevelt? For drawing power in the northwest all the presidents on earth are not in it with Mr. Hill.
E. A. Nelson of the Hallock News has a boomlet for secretary of the state which is being generously watered by the north country press—because Nelson was a Collins man with loyalty enough to stay by Dunn.
The Moorhead News wants this harvest yell adopted on the plains of the northwest.

Mrs. Hattie Strickland who has been sojourning here for several months past as the guest of her uncle, Charles Summer expects to leave us soon.
The pavilion built by Lee Gup-till and Victor Fish has been sold to J. Drain who will remodel the same and use it for a stock of general merchandise and supplies.
Both the Island Lake and Cunningham schools commence a seven or eight months term of school Sept. 4.
Cunningham Bros. have recently closed a deal with the Steinke Lumber Co. of Sleepy Eye and the mill will be busy getting out a large order of lumber, lath and shingles.
A. D. Clare, representing the Iowa Lumber Co. was here a short time ago looking after stumpage.
A pleasant dancing party was given at the home of Mr. Hendrickson and all report an enjoyable affair.
Chas. Schroeder is noticed going to and from his homestead quite frequently Aad A. Tone and a brother from Chicago were Island Lake visitors the fore part of the week.
The Island cottage being put up in rustic style by our townsman, Chas. Christianson is nearing completion and when finished the architect will take a vacation and visit Two Harbors.
Suits cleaned, repaired and pressed. Good work and prompt service. T. Baudette, Minnesota avenue.
