duced in the house by Representative Murdock, of Kansas, and this will be given the support of the "pure fabric" fighters. They hope to secure legislation so that a person may find in the stores, labeled before him, the pure linens and the adulterated linens, with the labels stating the per cent of adulteration. Wool would be labeled the same way so that one could tell whether he was buying an all wool suit or one of fifty per cent cotton. With the silks each bolt of goods would be marked, showing whether it was pure silk or adulterated and, if so, how much.

CONFESSES PLOT IN MURDER.

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 5.—The Reuter murder case, one of the most sensational in the records of Tulsa, was called in court today and it is expected the trial will get under way the first of next week. Charles T. Reuter, a lawyer, formerly of Peoria, Ill., was murdered in his home in the west residence section of this city on the night of May 5 last. The police investigation resulted in indictments for murder being returned against Mrs. Laura M. Reuter, widow of the slain man, and Guy D. Mackenzie, "Dud" Bellew and Joe Baker. Bellew is alleged to have confessed that the motive for the murder was "love, revenge and robbery," though declaring at the same time that the wife had no knowledge that her husband was to be killed. Mrs. Reuter is confident of acquittal, and public sentiment now appears to be strong in her favor.

READY FOR FLEET VISIT.

New York, Oct. 5.—Before this time next week the mightiest fleet of warships ever assembled under the American flag will be riding at anchor in the Hudson River. Rear Admiral Osterhaus is due to arrive with sixteen battleships tomorrow, being followed on Thursday next by the reserve, including eleven battleships and four armored cruisers. Other arrivals before the end of the week will make a total of thirty-two battleships, four armored cruisers, four protected cruisers twenty-one special type vessels, three colliers, six naval militia ships, twenty-six destroyers, sixteen torpedo boats and ten submarines, a total of 127 vessels. The secretary of the navy will inspect the vessels on Monday week and the next day the fleet will be reviewed by President Taft.

WILSON GUEST OF BRYAN.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Enos Lollar of Saratoga, Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Her Idea of Fig Leaves.

The story is told of a young lady from the east who, seeing a fig tree for the first time, exclaimed: "Why, I always thought fig leaves were larger than that!"—San Francisco Argonaut.

New Industry. "Now that so many automobiles are passing your house," said the visitor, "I should think you would keep your hens shut up." "What?" said the farmer, "and cut off my greatest income?"—Judge's Library.

FOOD OF EUROPEAN PEASANTS

Many Are the Substitutes for Bread Eaten by Poorer Classes of Europe.

In various parts of the world the poorer classes consume little or no bread, the London Globe observes. Baked loaves of bread are practically unknown in portions of southern Australia and Italy and throughout the agricultural districts of Roumania.

Austrians aver that in the village of Obersteiermark, not very far from Vienna, bread is never seen. The staple food is sters, a kind of porridge made from ground beechnuts, taken at breakfast with fresh or curdled milk, at dinner with broth or fried lard and at supper with milk. This dish is also called heiden and is substituted for bread not only in the Austrian district mentioned but in Carinthia and other parts of the Tyrol. Northern Italy offers a substitute for bread in the form of polenta, which is a kind of porridge made of boiled grain. Polenta is not, however, allowed to granulate like Scotch porridge or the Austrian sters. It is instead boiled into a solid pudding, which is cut up and portioned out with a string. It is eaten cold as often as it is hot and is in every sense an Italian's daily bread.

There is a variation of polenta called mamaliga, the favorite food of the poorer classes in Roumania. Mamaliga resembles polenta inasmuch as it is made of boiled grain, but it is unlike the former in one respect—the grains are not permitted to settle into a solid mass, but are kept distinct after the fashion of oatmeal porridge.

LEARNED CHIVALRY IN WILDS

Men of the Frontier Spontaneous in Their Tribute to Woman Met in Casual Fashion.

James Oliver Curwood, author of "The Flower of the North," tells the following story about the men to be found in the country about Hudson Bay, where the scene of his story is laid:

"I was at Prince Albert," he says, "sitting on the veranda of the little old Windsor hotel, facing the Saskatchewan. During the few days previous a number of factors, trappers and half-breed canoe men had come down from the north. One of these men had not been down to the edge of civilization for seven years. Three of the others had not been down in two, and this was the annual trip of the other eight—for there were just eighteen of us sitting there together."

"We were smoking and talking when a young woman turned up the narrow walk leading to the veranda. Immediately every voice was hushed, and as the woman came up the steps those twelve roughly clad men of the wilderness rose to their feet to a man, each holding his cap in his hand. Thus they stood, silent and with bowed heads, until the young woman had passed into the hotel. It was the most beautiful tribute to womanhood I had ever seen. And I, the man from civilization, was the only one who remained sitting, with my hat still on my head."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Seven Daughters Enough.

Rev. John W. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame college, tells of a priest who was giving a lecture on the evil of great wealth. In the audience was a man the priest knew. The man was the father of seven girls, and the lecturer pointed to this man as an example.

"Think," said the priest, "of being the proud father of seven daughters. Think who is happier—the man with a million dollars—the man who is the father of seven daughters."

"I will ask you, Mr. Sheldon, who do you think is the happier?" said the priest, pointing to the subject of his argument.

The man arose and said: "Father, I think that a man with seven daughters is the happier. A man with a million dollars worries for more. A man with seven daughters never does."—Kansas City Star.

St. Petersburg's Flower Show.

There is to be an international horticultural exhibition at St. Petersburg next spring, under the patronage of the emperor of Russia. The United States secretary of agriculture announces that requests for registration should be addressed to the executive committee, care of the Bureau of the Imperial Society of Horticulture, Quai de la Cour, 23, St. Petersburg, not later than January 1, 1913. The exposition will comprise the following sections: Floriculture; decorative horticulture, (A) greenhouse, (B) outdoor; pomology; fresh fruits and those kept naturally during the winter; vegetables and market garden plants; preservation and use of fruits and vegetables; grains; apiculture; agriculture; house plants; scientific section; school section; tools, instruments and apparatus; floral art; commercial section.

Ohio's Onion Crop.

An estimate has been made of the probable crop of onions on Scioto marsh. The yield is placed at 1,100,000 bushels, valued at more than half a million dollars. The land was valueless ten years ago.—Pittsburg Correspondence Pittsburg Dispatch.

Few Wealthy Japanese.

A Japanese periodical has compiled a list of all the subjects of the mikado who may be reckoned among the wealthy, and it shows that only 1,018 Japanese possess a capital of $250,000 or more. Nevertheless, if the Japanese are, generally speaking, poor, it would seem that they are rapidly becoming rich, for less than ten years ago there seem to have been only 441 who possessed a capital of a quarter of a million dollars.

Philosopher on Marriage.

According to Herbert Spencer, love between man and woman arises from each serving as the representative of the other's ideal. This ideal must be preserved if love is to remain, and to insure its preservation there should be not less, but greater, regard for appearances between husband and wife than between any other people. Equality of rights should also be recognized. A man cannot regard as his type of the ideal one whom he tries to command, and whom he has lowered by denying an equality of privilege with himself.

Divided Old Island.

Windmill Island occupied a position in the Delaware river between Philadelphia and Camden. A channel that was cut through the island for the passage of ferriboats divided it. One-half was afterward known as Smith's Island, the property having been acquired by a family of that name. It was on Smith's island that the resort known as Ridgway Park was located. Both islands were removed by the government for the purpose of deepening the channel in 1894.

Thoughts on Education.

Educated people are often so stupid as to make one doubt whether the poor can gain all by education. But, on the other hand, uneducated people are often so wise that we fear they have something to lose, even if they have nothing to gain, by being educated. In short, the modern methods of political reform, even when they have done well, have not done so obviously well that it is certain to be a benefit to extend them.

Women's Valuable Thoughts.

Among the first American patents taken out by women were those for a fountain pen, a baby jumper, and the first cook stove. Mrs. Ada Van Pelt of late years invented a permutation lock with three thousand combinations. A woman invented a process of making horsehoes which saved the country $25,000,000 in fourteen years. Another woman was offered $20,000 for her paper bag process.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience.

viz: Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says: "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For croup there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.
