RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Bemidji People. Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Bemidii.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now makes his testimony even

Mr. Henry Revor, 808 Bemidji Ave. Bemidji, Minn., says: "I suffered from backache for weeks at a time. It seemed that I could get nothing that would relieve me. Finally, I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking two boxes, I felt like a different person. The public statement I then gave, praising Doan's Kidney Pills, still holds good. The benefit they brought, has been permanent."

SCOOP THE CUB

The sense most developed in plants is that of sight, which enables them to see light but not to distinguish objects. This sense limitation is found among many living creatures, such as the earthworm, oyster and coral, etc., which possess no localized visual organ, but give proof of their luminous impressions by the contractions that they manifest when exposed to a ray of sunshine. Similarly, it is easy to gauge the influence of light on plants. Cultivate a plant in a room with a window only on one side and its stalks in growing will incline toward the source of light. Physiologists explain this by suggesting that the side to the dark grows more quickly than that exposed to the light. There remains, however, the fact that the plant has reacted to the light of whose effect it was conscious.

A sense common to many plants is that of touch. Of this the most illustrative example is, as its name implies, the sensitive plant. Another leaf, responsive to the touch, is the catch-fly, whose two halves close down upon the other by means of a central hinge.-Harper's Weekly.

On Life's Road.

All our weariness of suffering is without avail to leave even a little memory among those for whom the work is done. All that is wrought in despair, all that is loveless and mechanical, falls to the ground. We live for even so much as a brief life only in that which carries the breath of our being, the love of our heart. It is not in ceaseless routine and grinding that we live, nor in what is small and anxious. Machines will continue the tale of that forever. No cog will ever be missed in that endless chain. But we shall not wholly die in the song we carry in our heart, the love with which we love the being of another, the smile we give another wayfarer at dusty noonday.-Collier's Weekly.

HAS SENT PHOTOS BY WIRE

French Inventor Succeeds in What a Few Years Ago Was Considered impossible,

M. Edouard Belin, a French inventor, has succeeded in telegraphing a photograph from Bordeaux to Paris the record time of four minutes. M. Belin's process differs radically from Korn's method. Instead of using selenium, he prepares a photographic plate the basis of which is bichromated gelatine and the surface of which is uneven. A small metal point, passing over the uneven surface of the plate, causes a variation of the electrim current, which renders possible the transmission over a telegraph or telephone wire of the lights and shades of half-tone plates, and is attended with remarkable regularity and speed. The most interesting feature of M. Belin's invention is that it is possible to carry about a small apparatus weighing about 16 pounds, and immediately attach it at any telephone station. This renders possible the telephoning of pictures over long distances. In the experiment referred to made recently a photograph six inches by five was sent. was occupied in preparing the plate.

WOMEN ADOPT THE MONOCLE

What Seems Extremely Silly Fad Has Been Taken Up by "Society" in New York.

The ultrafashionable young woman of 1913 will wear a monocle. In fact the fad has already struck New York and on Broadway and Fifth avenue the monocle is seen every day adorning the faces of up-to-date femininity. More than a year ago one of the most noted horsewomen in New York wore a monocle at the horse show. It attracted no end of comment. Despite the attention it drew to her she continued to wear it-on horseback, at society functions, both in the afternoon and evening. The tiny piece of glass was in her left eye whenever she was seen in public. Whether she started the fad or it sprang up from other sources is not known, but recently there has been a steady demand for monocles at the big jew elry shops on Fifth avenue.

The smart young woman does not wear a monocle on all occasions. She allows it to dangle from her neck by a fine gold chain or a narrow silk ribbon. Now and then she raises it to her left eye, but she never wears it for any great length of time. Most of the monocles that are sold on Fifth avenue have tortoise shell rims. They are more easily worn than the rimless or even gold-rimmed variety.

According to several jewelers, the hand monocle—a glass too large to be worn in the eye, but which can be raised to aid the vision—is destined to eclipse the smaller and true monocle in popularity.
