NO MORE BODIES FOUND IN RUINS

Second Clubhouse Disaster at St. Louis Costs Three Lives.

St. Louis, March 19.—Two hundred men toiled all night digging away the ruins of the St. Louis Seed company's building in a search for more dead under the debris left of the four-story building which was crushed to the ground by the collapse of part of the Missouri Athletic club ruins.

At daybreak no sight of the body of a woman thought to have been buried in the ruins were discovered and rescuers abandoned the belief in her existence in spite of the declaration by one of the men extricated from the ruins that he had spoken to her for hours before he was rescued. The bodies of three men who had been killed in the collapse and twelve others, three of them women seriously injured, were removed from the ruins. The woman thought to have been caught in the collapse came into the seed store a few minutes before the accident.

This was the second calamity within ten days to visit the scene of the Missouri Athletic club. The club's home recently was destroyed by fire with a loss of thirty lives.
