Shoulder Your Own Errors.

We are shallow and selfish and lacking in dignity when we play one thing against another to gain our ends. Is it that we cannot think largely, comprehensively enough to realize that when we disown responsibility for our actions and sayings we are reflecting upon others to their hurt and discomfiture? It is almost as great a crime to be indifferent or unhelpful of these matters as to be malevolent. There is something radically wrong with us inately if we cannot sponsor our own individual ideas and opinions without making some one a "but" for them.—Exchange.

Offended the Herring.

In the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries Helgoland was a center of the North sea herring fisheries. Then the herring veered back to Scotland's coast and the Islanders handed down a tale of the impety by which they forfeited the boon. Yearly they would form in procession to march about the island to invoke the coming of the fish. One spring, when they had gone but half the route, the herring were sighted. They abandoned the rite and made for the boats. The herring never came again.—National Geographic Magazine.

Chinese Wheelbarrows.

1 ably more freight and more passengers are transported in China by the wheelbarrow than by any other land method. The wheelbarrow there used differs from that used by us, in the fact that the wheel is set in the center, and thus supports practically the entire load, while the handles are supported in part by a strap or rope over the shoulders of the man who operates it. As a result, the wheelbarrow cooie in China will transport nearly a half-ton on his vehicle.

The Brainsy Bee.

The following incident testifies to the remarkable sagacity and efficiency of bees. A hive was being "spied upon" by a wasp. When wasps ascertain a hive is worth attacking they often succeed in ousting the bees. Every time the wasp approached the small entrance hole a bee came out. An hour later the wasp was dead.

JUST THE THING FOR CORNER

Shelf That Takes Up Very Little Room and Will Be Found Remarkably Handy.

If one lives where room is scarce, this convenient corner shelf will be found remarkably handy. It not only looks pretty, but endless articles or boxes can be kept on the floor behind the curtains.

Get two pieces of wood about 3 inches wide and 1/2 yard long, and nail on wall from corner outward, and 1 1/2 yards to 1 3/4 yards from the floor. Then procure a piece of wood measuring 1/2 yard at sides to point, and fix on top of the wood supports, and nail through in several places.

To cover: Get some pretty chintz to match colorings in room or wall paper, and nail over shelf. Cut two pieces 3 inches longer than distance from shelf to floor. This will do for making hem at bottom of curtains. Turn over a small turning at top sufficient for a tape to be run in. This can be nailed along shelf. Cut also a piece length of shelf, about 1/4 yard deep, and scallop at bottom, neatening edges with fringe or ball trimming.

MANY SHADES IN STOCKINGS

Fair Wearer Hard to Please if She Cannot Find Something Especially Suitable This Season.

Royal blue silk stockings are often seen with otherwise entire white costumes. These, and all shades of orchid and yellow are worn with white buck or white canvas oxfords, with promenade and sports dresses, but never with slippers or pumps. For dressy afternoon wear matching satin pumps are often worn, and in the evening silver or white kid slippers, with matching rolled stockings fastened just below the calf of the leg with jeweled pins, or round garters of roses or other small flowers on narrow elastic fastened just below the roll.

Cotton hose are popular (when obtainable), for they hold the roll better than silk; they are made with solid lowers and striped tops. The real "kitties" have little on the young ladies of today, for above these hose are very bare legs to the knickers, teddies, or whatever.

With this bare knees fashion there is much care taken of the corset, for without the garters from edge to hose to hold them down the corset must be made with insets of elastic below the belt to give the supple, uncorseted effect.

Corset makers have been endeavoring toward this end, for this is no new departure, as it was launched from a fashionable school over a year ago, and worn all during the winter, even at Saratoga, where the cold is severe. —Women's Wear.

SMART BLOUSES IN FLANNEL

All White or With Striped Colorings They Are to Be a Rival of the Sweater.

Many of the smartest of the new fall blouses show panel arrangements, either back or front, and some of them have both back and front panels.

In the range of strictly tailored blouses now being brought out for fall some very smart flannel models are being shown.

Flannel blouses have always been rather highly regarded for sports wear, but they were rarely seen last year, manufacturers reporting that fabrics were too difficult to secure. All-white blouses are featured, but those made of white flannel striped in dainty pastel colorings are decidedly the best looking. The flannel blouse trimmed with collar and cuffs, and sometimes pocket flaps of angora in a color to match the stripe in the flannel is a smart novelty, and for golf or other sports wear promises to be a rival of the sweater.

New Autumn Sweaters.

A large proportion of the girls who have been at seaside and mountain resorts during the summer have come home determined to make new sweaters out of their old ones. Many a painfully knitted sweater has been ripped apart, and is being remodeled into one of the new shapes with bell sleeves and a full peplum. The problem here, of course, is to match the old wool. One clever girl, however, used the old wool for the body and bought wool of contrasting color for collar, belt and cuffs. Black is usually fine for this purpose.

Velvet for Wraps.

Velvet is being used in a variety of frock wraps. It is used for coat frocks which are fur trimmed, for picturesque dinner frocks of flowing line, and for draped effects in evening wear.

CHAUNCEY'S TURN TO LAUGH

Cross-Filed Farmer Learned Something About the Value Legal Lights Set on Services.

Chauncey M. Depew, in writing the story of his life, recalls his first law case. It was in Peekskill. The client was a farmer and he wanted an opinion on certain property rights.

Depew spent a week in looking up the points of law that had bearing on the case and when he had finished charged the modest fee of $5.

"Too much," cried the farmer. "But it's taken me a whole week to prepare this," protested Depew.

"Don't make no difference," declared the farmer. "I figure $1.50 is all it's worth and that's all you're going to get."

About a week later the man came to the office again.

"Mr. Depew," he said, "I had some doubts about that opinion of yours, so I took it down to New York and showed it to Mr. —. And what do you think he charged me, just for readin' that opinion of yours and puttin' his O. K. on it?"

"How much," demanded Depew, all excited.

"Five hundred dollars!"

up the sides against the soil or wall then with cement or brick, running a foot above the surface at the rear and nine inches in front, the end walls having an even slope to give support to the sash.

Two of three inches of coal ashes should be placed in the bottom, on which to set the pots. Ventilate when the weather will allow and cover with straw or old carpet to keep out the frost in severe weather.

Water the plants thoroughly when potted and then give water very sparingly to all plants in the pit during the winter.

EVENING FROCKS OF TAFFETA

Charming Designs in That Material Put Forward by Leading American Designers.

Flowered taffeta is being used in the development of evening dresses by some of the best American designers. One charming frock seen recently was made of gray taffeta splashed with pink roses. The girdle or bodice was of cloth of silver and a small pink ostrich tip held the side drapery in place. Draped effects predominate in the development of evening frocks. Tunic and redingote frocks share honors with the more fluffy draperies, the general tendency being to show a greater width at the hips than is in evidence in daytime frocks.

Metal trimmings are very much favored, and in the lineup of lovely fabrics, shown especially for evening frocks, a chiffon with gold or silver motifs is one of the novelties of the season. A gown made of one of these fabrics may have bodice or girdle of metal cloth matching the motif on the fabric proper, a really gorgeous gown being the result.

MAKE A COLD PIT

In a dry spot in the garden excavate for a depth of two feet or more of a size suitable to be covered with glass sash.

Many plants such as roses, violets, lilies can be kept in a cold frame and brought into the light and heat of a window garden or conservatory from time to time to keep up a succession of blooms during the winter and spring.

Ordinary hotbed sash, which are three feet wide and six feet long, are used for covering cold pits. Board Needed Help.

Rather pretty young woman and small son on Clifton car. Gentleman sits opposite; stranger to lady and boy, but a lover of children. Cultivates acquaintance of youngster by means of smiles and winks. Boy receptive, but has not yet acquired the art of winking with one eye—can only squint with both eyes at once. Thinks nice stranger deserves better recognition; peremptorily and loudly calls on his mother for assistance. Thus: "Mamma, wink at that man, I can't." —Cleveland Plaindealer.
