The great interest these three democratic lawyers had in this case is, to say the least, peculiar, but of course, they merely acted as attorneys.

The honest, conclentious voter hould stop and ask himself which party has served blm best, and comare his condition now to what it was in Harrison's administration. Then we were a prosperous people. The flag everywhere was respected; money was abundant, and there was nowhere any popular stress in financial matters. Our manufactories were employing a full complement of men, and thrif, and enterprise and industrial energy were the rule everywhere. But the present administration brought us the worst financial panie ever known to our history four months after it was inaugurated, and there has been continued industrial prostration and commercial depression ever since. There has also been an appailing increase in the national debt of over $200,000,000. So much for the applied principles of the democratic party to the government of the country. The American people understand this, and are not slow to trace effects to their causes. They have grown sick of free trade doctrines, and demand in unmistakable tones protection to American industries and American products.

We are a great and rich people, we have a country of unbounded resources, and we have unlimited faith in our future. The democratic party has taught us that it does not know how to rule, and the people have weighed it in the balances and found it wanting. As a consequence, the revolt from it in the next presidential campaign will be overwhelming.
