Thousands of People Participate in a Great Festival in That City—Cereals Covered with Corn.

Atchison, Kas., Sept. 25.—(Special.) The corn carnival in progress in Atchison today is a greater success than anybody anticipated. The weather was perfect and the special trains on every rail-road running into Atchison brought thousands of people. The number of nearly every residence in Atchison is decorated, and countless attractive designs have been made of corn. So much corn has been thrown by the participants of the carnival that the streets are covered with it. The carnival proper is in progress to-night. Hundreds are masked and there was a long parade of boats and a display by the Flamingo Club. There were no speeches but plenty of music. Eleven bands are present, including Marshall's of Topeka, and the big band from the Soldiers' home at Leavenworth.

VISION SECTION NOT JUSTIFIED.

Interesting Report on the Subject Read at the American Humane Association by Dr. Lellagwell.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 26.—At today's meeting of the American Humane Association Dr. Albert Lellagwell, of Cambridge, Mass., presented the report of a medical committee which for several months has been engaged in sounding public sentiment regarding vivisection. Over 2,000 expressions of opinion were obtained from leading physicians, teachers in medical colleges, authors, clergymen, college presidents and professors. Of these only about one-third were in favor of unrestricted experimentation upon living animals, a large majority being either for a total prohibition or for such restriction by law as should limit vivisection to painless operations, or to those having a definite relation to the treatment of ailments. A preponderance of sentiment appeared favorable to a statement of opinion which declared that only a great and definite advantage to the interests of humanity can justify vivisection at all, and which recommended a total prohibition of vivisection, among those taking such a view being Dr. Forbes Winslow, Dr. James Corbett, of Philadelphia, and Alfred Russell Wallace, F. R. S.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY OPENS.

The Old School Begins Its 25th Year More Prosperous Than Ever.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 26.—Harvard university begins its 25th year today, with increased attendance in all departments and the prospect of another prosperous year. The students have been pouring into Cambridge during the past week and the old college yard has shaken off its summer lethargy and become all bustle and activity once more. Every student is required to register today and many letters begin in the afternoon. Harvard begins another year with several innovations. Increased facilities for instruction in new dormitories added last year, students' rooms are at a premium and Memorial hall, which the students have long desired, is being built. The library is being equipped with electric lights, which will allow the use of the reading rooms for the first time in its history.

Priests Ask for Protection.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 26.—Father Dominic Wagner, of St. Mary's Catholic church, tonight called upon the police for protection, as he said his life has been threatened by relatives of Miss Siegel, who is being sought by officers as guarding the priest at his home. Proclamation From Governor Stone.

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 26.—Governor Stone today issued a proclamation declaring that in view of the great importance of the conference of Western states called to assemble at Topeka, Kas., on October 1, next, he felt justified in urging upon the governors of cities and the presidents of the various commercial bodies organized throughout the state to attend the conference, or to see that their cities and boards are properly represented.

DURRANT'S ALIBI FAILS.

His Main Witness Does Not Confirm the Statement Made by His Attorney in His Opening.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—The keynote in the arch of Durrant's alibi crumbled and fell to-day. The witness upon whom the attorneys for the defense depended to sustain their contention that Durrant was attending a lecture at Cooper Medical college at the hour when Blanche Lamont was murdered, gave disappointing testimony. Durrant's main witness, Dr. Cheney, who was present at the lecture, as Attorney Durrant said, Dr. Cheney would say, the doctor said he had no recollection of seeing Durrant at the lecture. He offered this reverse the defense gained only one point—the admission as an exhibit of the roll call book at the college, in which Durrant was recorded as present at the lecture given on the afternoon of April 2. The prosecution holds the roll call books in its possession from the fact that it will place them on the stand to prove that Durrant frequently asked the classmate to answer to his name when he was absent, and that they complied with his request.

The crash in the corridors at the entrance to the court was greater today than upon any other day since the trial began. Men and women fought for admission, while the sheriff and a crowd of policemen struggled desperately to keep the crowd back. At times the confusion outside was so great that the police were obliged to use force to enter the courtroom for a squad of men to execute the order.

Sergeant Reynolds, the police officer who first discovered the bodies of Blanche Lamont and John Durrant, was the first to be called to the stand. After describing the furniture and other articles found in the room, he testified that the bodies of the victims were brought into the room by a man whom he described as being a colored man. The witness testified that the marks corresponded in size to the marks on the floor. The witness also testified that the marks on the floor were made by the shoes of the man who brought the bodies into the room. The witness testified that the man who brought the bodies into the room was a colored man, and that he was not known to him.

Dr. W. E. Cheney, of Cooper Medical college, was the next witness. He said the lecture on April 2 began at 10 o'clock and continued until 11 o'clock. He said the roll call was called, and that he was not present at the lecture. He said that he was not present at the lecture, and that he was not present at the lecture. He said that he was not present at the lecture, and that he was not present at the lecture.

IMPORTANT LAND DECISION.

Secretary Smith Decides That Where Two Allotments Are Given to an Indian He Must Keep the Last.

Washington, Sept. 26.—(Special.) Secretary Smith promulgated a very important decision today, which concerns two-year-old claims in Oklahoma, New Mexico, and about 500 claims in the Cheyenne and Arapahoe country. In doing so he reverses a decision made by Secretary Noble, but he is not to be understood as reversing the decision of the court in the case of Neal Esperson, a claim near El Reno, which had been taken by Johnna Hausner, daughter of the well-known, Hans Hausner, who is a prominent citizen of the territory. The decision of Secretary Smith is that where two allotments are given to an Indian, the last one shall be the one that shall be taken. This decision is a reversal of the decision of Secretary Noble, who had decided that where two allotments are given to an Indian, the first one shall be the one that shall be taken. This decision is a reversal of the decision of Secretary Noble, who had decided that where two allotments are given to an Indian, the first one shall be the one that shall be taken.
