When the pilots of the Flying Fleet sweep over the city at noon Monday, twelve parachutes will be dropped over the business district of Brownsville. To stimulate interest in aviation, local merchants will give presents to the finders of the parachutes. When you find a parachute, glance at the number stamped on it then take the parachute to the merchant whose space on this page corresponds with the number appearing on the parachute and receive your gift.

Fly For $1

Free exhibitions will be given today and tomorrow by Flying Fleet pilots at the Neitert-Slater field on the main highway. These will include parachute jumps, wing-walking, acrobatic flying and other events. In addition, passengers will be carried for only one dollar in order to stimulate interest in flying. FREE TICKETS, wrapped in copies of The Brownsville Herald, will be dropped over the business district of Brownsville at 3:00 p. m. today and tomorrow.
