

PIONEER OF VALLEY DIES

J. F. Lynch, Well Known on Border and in Mexico, Expires At Sea

A cablegram received by T. J. Nye announces the death of Jasper F. Lynch, well remembered by older residents of Brownsville and also of Matamoros, where he formerly resided. He died at sea Jan. 31, as he was en route from England to Jamaica to visit relatives.

Mr. Lynch was aged 66, being the son of an Anglican clergyman, and was born in Jamaica, where his father was stationed as a missionary at the time. He went to England in early youth, being educated at Rugby. At eighteen, he came to Matamoros, joining his uncle, Jasper A. Lynch, who was a leading merchant there during and subsequent to the Civil War period and also for years was British consul at Matamoros.

Later he moved to Saltillo, where he was associated in business with Wm. Purcell, for many years a very wealthy banker and mine owner of that city. On the latter's retirement, Mr. Lynch became managing partner, which position he held for twenty years. He acquired extensive banking, railroad, and mining interests in Mexico, leaving that country at the beginning of the late revolutionary period to make his home again in England, where he owned an estate.

Mr. Lynch married his cousin, Miss Augustina Lynch, daughter of the former British consul in Matamoros, who died a number of years ago. Surviving him is his son, Hilton, who won the Victoria Cross in the World war, a daughter, who is the wife of a British army officer, and a niece living in Jamaica. His son married Miss Rowena Nye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Nye of Brownsville.

News of the death of Mr. Lynch is received with much regret by old friends here and in Matamoros. He was a popular figure in the social life of the Twin Cities in his younger days, while in later life he was known and highly esteemed as a leading capitalist and business man in Mexico.

have a real significance, Hopkins said.

"A very distinct dissatisfaction with our present primary election laws has developed in the public mind," the Gonzales senator stated. "Restoration of the old democratic convention system of nominating candidates—modified and properly safeguarded—would be welcomed by a large number of our people who feel that the time has arrived for a change."

During the quarter of a century in which the Terrell election laws have been in effect the voter has been casting, not an affirmative vote, but a negative vote, all due to the fact that the candidates before him do not represent the type of man he conceives to be the proper material for public office and he votes for the lesser of several evils, as he sees them."

NAPIER, New Zealand, Feb. 5. (P)—Remarkable incidents of the earthquake which virtually destroyed this New Zealand city are coming to light as the population, although still dazed by the shock, gained pause enough to recount some of their experiences.

The first shock threw the whole front of the Masonic hotel, laying the interior bare. The crowd in the street saw a woman seated in an armchair near the edge of the third story. As the ceiling above started to fall, she made as if to jump, but the crowd dissuaded her and the woman sat in terror until rescued by firemen.

Tuesday night, that after the earthquake, was one of terror for everyone. Although bitterly cold no one slept indoors. For companionship people sat in little communities around common fires. The earth was shaking continually and a gale sprang up, throwing dust everywhere and spreading the fire which broke out in the town throughout the ruins.

Between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m. Wednesday there were 55 distinct shocks. In two cases babies were born to refugees in the street.

EPISCOPALIANS HOLD MISSION

Bishop Capers Delivers Third Sermon of Series

A splendid congregation greeted Bishop Capers at the Episcopal church Tuesday night, at which time he delivered the third of a series of sermons he is giving in Brownsville, ending Feb. 8.

He took as his text the eighteenth verse of the sixteenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew: "I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Bishop Capers compared the early building of the church, its humble start with the lowly birth of Jesus in a manger, and discussed its growth until the present day.

He said that the church is the expression of God's will and that the progress of civilization for the last nineteen hundred years is due to its influence.

"Christian men and women are the world's foremost leaders in every field of constructive thought," he said. "The church is the citadel of every community and city; it is back of every investment and every effort it is the ultimate resort of city or nation in the hour of need and calamity."

Blue Mediterranean Loses; Valley Preferred

The blue Mediterranean is all right for those who like the blue Mediterranean, but one northern couple now visiting in the Valley interrupted a Mediterranean tour in order to spend the winter here.

The tourists explained to the hostess of the chamber of commerce tourists department, Mrs. Ralph A. Warden, that they had visited here for two consecutive winters, but this winter they had planned on spending in Europe. They departed for Europe in August, but by the middle of October they were homesick for the Valley.

They left the Mediterranean and are now in the Valley, where they plan to remain until spring.
