E. H. AULL, EDITOR.

Friday, December 16, 1910.

In the appointment of a Southern man and a Democrat as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, President Taft has shown that he is a broad man and is trying to be president of the whole country.

Having made a start, Newberry expects to furnish all the governors from now henceforth. We have some good material for the United States senate also, if the gentlemen will consent to allow their names to be used.

The Newberry chamber of commerce is working for the whole county, and wants more county members. Town and county together, and a long, strong, continuous pull, and results must follow.

We hope the people of Greenwood will not wait until the last two or three days to come to Newberry to do their Christmas shopping. Follow the example of Laurens, and make haste, so that our clerks won't be worked to death on Christmas eve.

Every business man in Newberry ought to be an active member of the chamber of commerce. The chamber of commerce is working for Newberry, and could do much better work if it had the co-operation of all the business men whose interests it is seeking to advance.

Yes, Charleston has more banks than any other city of its size in the world, and more beautiful women than any city, size ignored.—News and Courier.

A cotemporary has suggested that if faro banks and sand banks are included the first part of this assertion is all right, but the latter part must be a mistake, because we haven't heard of any Newberry women moving to Charleston recently.

The Abbeville Press and Banner says that, as it seems that nearly all crimes are committed by "prominent" people, "to prevent crime it might be well enough to arrest upon suspicion every prominent citizen in the State and lock him up." That might not be a bad idea, but since all of us are prominent, who would make the arrests? That could be remedied, though, by some arresting the others, and then locking themselves in.

OUR DEFENCES.

The Associated Press dispatches carry a story from Washington under date of December 14 to the effect that a sensational report from the war department was sent to the house showing how the country was inadequately protected from invasion against foreign governments, but was returned on the ground that the house could not receive a secret report. The report goes on to state that "members of congress who saw the document before its withdrawal, say the report of Secretary Dickinson points out that the country is wholly unprepared, that there is a woeful inadequacy of men, of guns and of ammunition, that the army should be reorganized, and that a council of national defence, with the secretary of war at its head, should be created by congress."

The reports of several army officers recently have pointed to a woeful lack of competency in the army, and in the nation's defences generally.

An enormous amount of money is each year spent by the United States on its army and navy, and it would seem that there is a lack of management somewhere or something else badly wrong.

The Associated Press dispatches of the same day tell of the gift by Carnegie of ten million dollars to further world-wide peace.

If air-ships should be perfected as instruments of war, they could have one of two effects—making war more disastrous and more barbarous than now, or making it so disastrous that no longer would the powers engage in it. World-wide peace, submitting the differences of nations to arbitration, has long been a bright dream which seems now nearer realization than ever before. The nations go ahead spending millions and millions of dollars a year for battleships and for the maintenance of standing armies, and the men of the air work night and day for the perfection of a war machine which could sail over a fleet or an army and destroy it in the twinkling of an eye. Philanthropists are giving millions in aid of world-wide peace, and The Hague tribunal keeps steadily at work.

Where it will all end is one of the great mysteries of the future, involving the happiness of millions of people.

In the meantime, if the United States is to continue to spend hundreds of millions of dollars for the maintenance of an army and navy, we ought to have it spent effectively.

MISS MCCLINTOCK'S ADDRESS.

She Spoke In Florence of The Need Of a State Board of Charities And Corrections.

At the second annual session of the State convention of charities and corrections, held in Florence, last week, the News and Courier correspondent says that Miss Euphemia McClintock, president of the Presbyterian College for Women, of Columbia, addressed the conference upon the need of a State board of charities in South Carolina. The creation of such a board was one of the matters endorsed by the conference in 1909, and the bill which was introduced was favorably reported upon by committees in both house and senate, but was later smothered before enactment into law.

Miss McClintock reviewed in detail the various charitable institutions of the State. Each with a separate and independent board, and with excellent records, directing attention especially to the county alms houses and jails. Miss McClintock then spoke with great earnestness upon the needs of these institutions and their inmates. Out of 766 inmates of the poor houses of South Carolina over 400 are white. Proper attention to the inmates is impossible under the conditions imposed upon those in charge. The grand jury reports upon these institutions are stereotyped and no adequate provision is made for investigation or relief. The jail conditions are the same. Ill prisoners cannot possibly be attended to at the per diem allotted. Children detained for trial are kept with hardened offenders, and often with those of another color. The accommodations for women criminals are grossly inadequate. The conditions in the jails are those which manufacture criminals.

Miss McClintock considered the question of the convict camps and the deplorable conditions there existing. Her final conclusion was that with the disorganized supervision of the charitable and correctional institutions of the counties the results were not so good as could have been obtained. The remedy, Miss McClintock said, lay in a central board of charities, appointed by the governor without reference to their political activities, but only as to their fitness. Miss McClintock's address was clear-cut and very convincing, both as to the unfortunate condition she described and as to the remedy suggested, which is the general method in force in most of the States of the Union.

What He Thought.

Buffalo News.

The subject of conversation between the last two sportsmen left up at night in the smoking room after a hard day's shooting was the wonderful scent of dogs.

"Mine is a marvel. Not long ago I went motoring, far from home. My pointer, although chained up, worked himself out of his collar and found me two hours afterward. What I've think of that?"

"I think you ought to have a bath."

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Newberry.

Scores of Newberry people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

M. M. Graham, Newberry, S. C., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they did me so much good that I do not hesitate to recommend them. My back ached, particularly at night and I was often unable to sleep well. The pain seated itself across the small of my back and made it impossible for me to assume any position that was comfortable. The kidney secretions contained sediment and were so frequent in passage that I had to arise several times at night. The various remedies I tried proved of no avail and I had about given up hope of ever being cured when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at W. E. Pelham & Son's Drug Store and decided to try them, although I did not think they would help me. I was agreeably surprised, however, as they went directly to the seat of my trouble and effected a cure. I have had no return attack of kidney complaint and believe that the credit is due to Doan's Kidney Pills. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
