

HOUSE SUSTAINS TAFT'S VETOS.

Democrats Fail to Muster Required Two-Thirds—Majority Fights to Last Ditch.

Washington Aug. 18.—In a succession of dramatic events the Democratic house of representatives today met defeat in its supreme effort to pass the wool and free list bills over the president's vetoes, and virtually fixed upon adjournment of congress early next week. The house on Monday, will agree to the cotton tariff revision bill as amended in the senate, but will not hold congress in session to await the certain veto on that measure. The senate cleared away all of its business and adjournment is assured in the view of leaders of both parties in both houses, by next Wednesday at the latest.

The Democratic house majority, with a great demonstration of enthusiasm, marshalled its ranks for the great battle to override the president and went down with flying colors. The party leaders failed to muster enough insurgent Republican support to pass the tariff legislation over the president's head.

Ready for Adjournment.

Tonight the Democratic members of the ways and means committee determined to end the long session. Monday the house will pass the cotton bill as amended in the senate, containing the iron and steel, chemical and cotton machinery schedules, and the reciprocal bituminous coal across the Canadian border provision and will send it to the president Tuesday. Congress will not be held in session to await his veto which the house leaders concede is certain to follow.

"Congress will adjourn on Wednesday, at the latest," was the declaration of Majority Leader Underwood, after the ways and means committee conference. "We have tried to put our tariff bills over the president's head and have failed twice. There is no use fighting it out any longer. As soon as we pass the cotton bill and amendments we will be ready to go. The president may then veto the measure. We will not be here to discuss it."

Into Next Week.

Strenuous efforts were made by senate Democratic and Republican leaders, in conference with Mr. Underwood, Speaker Clark and other house Democrats to bring the session to a close tomorrow night but owing to a desire of the members of the ways and means committee to study features of the senate iron and steel and chemical schedules before concurring in them, it was agreed to dispose of the final business early next week.

Failure of the attempt of the Democratic house to override the vetoes came in a day filled with stirring incidents. The close of the debate, on the motion of Mr. Underwood to pass the wool bill over the veto, found Champ Clark, the speaker of the house and an aspirant for the presidency, pleading the cause of his fellow Democrats from the floor, surrounded by a throng of his colleagues, who cheered vigorously. The galleries were filled to overflowing and the speaker, as he concluded, was given a demonstration that for several minutes delayed the roll call.

Wool and Free List Votes.

On the motion to pass the measure over the wool veto, there were 227 affirmative votes, 22 of them insurgent Republicans and one independent Republican, while the negative votes were 129. The motion to override the veto on the free list failed of a two-thirds majority also, being 226 to 127.

During the three hours of debate on the wool bill, the corridors of the Capitol reverberated time and again with shouts of approval and derision from the floor. Spirited discussion between members was frequent.

Republican Leader Mann and Representative Clayton, of Alabama, had a wordy encounter, which for a moment had a threatening aspect. The incident was precipitated when the minority leader objected to the Alabama member's request to have the newspaper editorial printed in the Congressional Record.

That the administration was keenly watching developments was evidenced in the presence on the floor of the house of Messrs. Wickersham, Hitchcock, Nagel and Stimson, of the president's cabinet. All of them kept a close tally on the roll call until it was apparent that the Democrats could not rally the necessary two-thirds majority.

Ovation for Speaker.

Speaker Clark was given an ovation from both sides of the house when he left the chair and took the floor to end the discussion. The climax of his address was reached when he said: "The president has a right to veto this bill, if he wants to. I am not quarrelling with him. I am lamenting his lack of wisdom as his personal friend. He has raised an issue that will rage with unabated fury until the close of the polls in November, 1912." This was the signal for such an outburst as seldom has been known in the halls of congress. Again and again, as he proceeded, the Democrats applauded, cheered and pounded the desks until Democratic Leader Underwood, who occupied the chair for the first time this session, almost despaired of maintaining order.

SAVED BY BOY'S HEROISM.

Farmer Almost Fatally Overcome by Well Gas.

Edgefield, Aug. 18.—Some days ago Mr. J. S. Williams, a prominent planter of the Ropers section of the county, made a blast in a well that he was digging. Later he descended into the well to remove the rock that had been torn up by the dynamite. After 1 or two buckets had been drawn out, those who were operating the windlass heard heavy breathing and it was soon discovered that Mr. Williams had succumbed to a noxious gas and was in an almost unconscious condition. To rescue him became at once the question, and naturally there was hesitation as to who would take the risk. Finally, a negro boy volunteered his services, and he was lowered to the bottom and placed a rope around the body of the then almost prostrated victim and he was drawn out, and medical attention was procured and Mr. Williams was restored to consciousness and is now on the road to recovery.

But for the prompt and heroic action of the negro boy there is little doubt but that Mr. Williams would have lost his life. The boy fainted as soon as he was drawn from the well, but soon recovered. It was a brave act and the boy deserves even more than commendation.

ROMANCE OF MEXICAN WAR RESULTS IN MARRIAGE

Miss Spencer Won Converse's Heart While He Was Prisoner.

San Francisco, Aug. 17.—A romance of the Mexican revolution culminated here last night, when Miss Amelia Spencer, of El Paso, was married to Lawrence Converse, of Glendora, Cal., after an elopement by automobile from Santa Monica, where Miss Spencer was visiting relatives. Converse's name was a familiar one in the headlines of the Mexican war news. Captured by the federal forces after having served with the insurgents, he was confined for many weeks in the jail at Juarez, but was finally released through the intervention of the State department.

Miss Spencer visited the American prisoners in the cuartel and won his heart by smuggling dainties to him. Converse, who is the son of a wealthy orange grower, upon his return home, persuaded Miss Spencer to come here on a visit and their marriage followed.

WAREHOUSE FOR FARMERS.

State Union Issues Interesting Announcement—The Committee is Named.

Coincident with the move started to encourage the farmers of the South to hold their cotton for a better price, the South Carolina State Farmers' union has decided upon the erection of a cotton warehouse to cost from $200,000 to $500,000. This will be one of the largest cotton warehouses in the South and will very probably be located in Columbia.

The following announcement was made by J. Whitner Reid, secretary and treasurer of the State union:

"In accordance with a resolution adopted by the South Carolina State Farmers' union at the annual meeting held in Columbia July 26-27, 1911, steps have been taken to organize the Farmers' Union Warehouse company of South Carolina.

"H. T. Morrison, of McClellanville, B. F. Keller, of Cameron; B. Harris, of Pendleton, Alfred Aldrich, of Barnwell, members of the organization committee appointed at the State union meeting, met in the office of the secretary of the State Farmers' union and made formal application to the secretary of State for commission to act as a board of corporators.

"The capital stock of this corporation will be $200,000, with the privilege of increasing to $500,000, with shares at the par value of $10 each.

"The purpose of the corporation is to do a general warehouse business, including the storing and dealing in cotton and other farm products.

"An active campaign will soon be commenced in each county to raise the capital stock."
