

One Gallon a Month Law Before Supreme Court

been similar to that of West Virginia, or to that of Alabama and North Carolina, we can not assert; suffice it to say, that up to this time the Tennessee Court has rendered no decision that would militate against the soundness of the conditions embodied in this brief.

One other case cited for appellant will be noticed, and then we will conclude:

In Hamm Brewing Co. v. C. R. I. & P. R. R., 215 Fed. 672 decided by District Judge Willard, it was said:

"But the Webb-Kenyon Law, while it says that the liquor must not be received, possessed, sold, or used in violation of law, does not say that it shall not be transported in violation of law. If it had been the intention of Congress to prohibit the procurement from points outside the State by a citizen of Iowa of intoxicating liquors for his own personal use, it would have been very easy to have indicated that, by prohibiting the transportation of all interstate shipments."

In this paragraph, the District Judge shows a total misconception of the meaning and purpose of the Webb-Kenyon Law. In the first place, it does not say that "the liquor must not be received, possessed, sold, or used in violation of law." What it says is that all shipments of liquor are prohibited when said liquors are "intended by any person interested therein to be received, possessed, sold, or in any manner used in violation of any law of such State." It was not intended by Congress in its enactment to prohibit the procurement from points outside the State, by a citizen of Iowa, of liquors for his own use, nor to prohibit the procurement of such liquors by citizens of other States, for personal use: what Congress intended to do, and did, was to leave the whole matter to the State under their police power, and to give effect to whatever regulations they might adopt in reference to intoxicating liquors, whether these might relate to receipt, possession, sale or use. Had Congress prohibited transportation of all interstate shipments, as the Judge thoughtlessly suggested, this would have excluded liquors from both wet and dry States—a thing no one contemplated.

The correct view of the meaning of the Webb-Kenyon Law was thus expressed by the Circuit Court of Appeals in the West Virginia case, 219 Fed. 794:

"This statute prohibits the shipment or transportation of liquor from one State into another, not only when it is intended to be sold in violation of any law of such State, but when it is to be received or possessed, or in any manner used, in violation of State law. This is a direct recognition of the right of the State to prohibit the receipt or delivery, as well as the possession and use, of liquor, without trespassing upon the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce."

ABILITY TO SHOOT WELL ONCE LOST, IS REGAINED

PAST EMPHASIZES GOOD FORTUNE
(CONNOR HAS MET.)

ONCE WAS NEAR DEATH

Lexington Man Tells Highly Interesting Story of His Experiences.

C. T. Connor has reached the parting of the ways. He is now traveling along the way of greater happiness and of contentment, which he appreciates all the more, he says, because he had been through enough of trouble and suffering during the past several years to emphasize to him what he considers the good fortune he has met.

Mr. Connor lives about five miles from New Brookland, a suburb of Columbia, on rural route No. 2. He is a substantial farmer. He came to Burnett & Whetsell's drug store, at New Brookland, and while there he voluntarily told his amazing story of how Tanlac, the master medicine, had banished his really alarming troubles. He said:

"I had been a sufferer for a long time with stomach and intestinal troubles. I underwent an operation for appendicitis more than a year ago, and peritonitis, which followed, almost killed me. Before and after this operation, nothing I would eat would stay on my stomach. I had no appetite. I lost weight until I was about fifty pounds under my normal weight. Indigestion caused me a lot of suffering, and I expect it was the beginning of all my other troubles. Very little of what I ate was assimilated. At breakfast I could not eat at all. For six months I was so weak I could not work, though I tried many medicines and had the benefit of other competent treatment. My nerves were almost shattered. I could not sleep well.

"Several friends told me of Tanlac, and I began taking it. I have gained thirty pounds in weight, and my system has been wonderfully built up. I can work as long and as hard now as the average farmer. My system has been regulated by Tanlac, and I eat all I can get. I can shoot accurately now, so steady have my nerves become. Indigestion has been banished by Tanlac, and I feel strong and healthy. My, but it feels good to be free of all those pains! I tell many people of Tanlac, and some members of my family, too, have been much helped by Tanlac."

"Tanlac, the master medicine, is sold exclusively by Gilder & Weeks, Newberry; Prosperity Drug Co., Prosperity; Little Mountain Drug Co., Little Mountain; Dr. W. O. Holloway, Chappells; Whitmire Pharmacy, Whitmire; D. G. Livingston, Silverstreet. Price $1 per bottle straight.

SENDS MESSAGE ON CHARLESTON AFFAIR

GOV. MANNING TELLS WHAT USE OF MILITIA COST.

Borrowed $11,000 to Pay Expenses of Troops and Asks Banks be Reimbursed.

News and Courier.

Columbia, Jan. 31.—Governor Manning sent to the general assembly tonight a message transmitting the documents in connection with the mobilization of the Charleston militia during the recent municipal primary in that city. The message also contained a detailed statement of the expenses in connection with the mobilization of the militia and stated that the amount of appropriation that will be needed to settle that indebtedness is $9,910.46. The governor had borrowed $11,000 from banks in Charleston with which to pay the militia, and of this amount there is still on hand $1,089.54. The message of the governor was referred to the committee on finance. The message follows:

Governor's Message.

"I have the honor to transmit herewith the record in re mobilization, National Guard and naval militia, in the city of Charleston, October, 1915, for the purpose of preserving the public peace.

"Acting on the representations, requests and recommendations contained in the affidavits, letters and statements attached hereto, said affidavits, statements and letters having satisfied me that there was imminent danger of violence and disorder in the city of Charleston, incident to the municipal primary election to be held in said city of Charleston on October 12, 1915, and which might not be controlled by the ordinary forces of that city, I did as a matter of precaution direct Companies A, B, C and D, 2d South Carolina infantry, under Major A. Hardy Silcox, and the 1st, 4th and 5th divisions South Carolina naval militia, under Lieut. Hazel W. Crouch, to report to their respective armories at 8 o'clock p. m. on October 11, 1915, fully uniformed, armed and equipped for active service.

"Brig Gen. William W. Moore, the adjutant general of South Carolina, was directed to proceed to Charleston and take command of these forces and report to the sheriff of Charleston county. The sheriff of Charleston county was directed that in the event of disorder or violence in the city of Charleston, incident to the municipal primary election, to call upon Gen. Moore for such troops as might be necessary to put down said disorder or violence and to preserve the peace and dignity of the state at any cost.

"I further ordered and directed the sheriff to appoint, equip and commission such number of deputies as in his judgment might be necessary in order to assure the preservation of peace and to guarantee the untrammelled expression of the will of all voters casting their ballots, and to see that peace and good order were preserved on the day of election and so long thereafter as might be necessary. The sheriff was cautioned to use the militia only in case of necessity.

"On the morning of October 13 Brig. Gen. William W. Moore, the adjutant general, relieved the troops from active duty. On Thursday evening, October 14, I received the following communication from Jos. A. Black, chairman Democratic executive committee of the city of Charleston:

The governor then sets out a copy of the request from Mr. Black for the militia, a similar request from Sheriff J. Elmore Martin, and all the various letters and telegrams which passed in connection with that event. Copies of the affidavits and the orders to the troops are also included in the message. After giving copies of the record in the case, the message continues:

"The men composing the National Guard and naval militia, acting under these orders from me as commander-in-chief, responded promptly, neglecting their private business and sacrificing their personal interests because of this call to duty.

"I desire at this time to commend most highly their patriotism and devotion to duty. The officers and men of the South Carolina National Guard and naval militia have proven their worth and their value to their state and country in the preservation of the ideals of those who believe in supremacy of law and the preservation of the sacredness of the ballot.

"To these men we owe a debt of gratitude and to them the law-abiding citizens of the state will be under lasting obligations. It became necessary to keep these men on duty for a longer period of time than at first anticipated, and in my judgment their presence and regard for duty prevented more serious disturbance and greater loss of life.

"In order to provide funds for the payment of the expenses of this mobilization, including pay, subsistence and incidental expenses, it became necessary for me to negotiate loans in the city of Charleston aggregating $11,000, (this being the amount estimated as being necessary for the payment of these expenses. After some correspondence I arranged to secure this money at the rate of 3 per cent per annum, and accordingly made three notes, due March 1, 1916.

"These notes were as follows: Carolina Savings bank of Charleston, $5,000; Bank of Charleston, N. B. A., $2,750; People's National Bank of Charleston, $5,500.

"These notes were signed by me as commander-in-chief and endorsed by me personally. Of this fund there is now on deposit, to my credit as commander-in-chief, in the three banks a total of $1,089.50. This amount on hand deducted from the total of the original loans leaves a balance of $9,910.46. I attach hereto financial statement showing disbursements. The vouchers covering these disbursements are now on file in the office of the adjutant general and are subject to your inspection.

"I respectfully request that your honorable body enact such legislation as may be necessary, authorizing the comptroller general to draw his warrants on the state treasurer for the amounts necessary to reimburse the three banks in Charleston for the amounts advanced by them to pay the expenses connected with this mobilization, and the state treasurer be authorized to pay same."

The appropriation bill, as already reported to the house, carries, $9,910.46 for the expenses in connection with the mobilization of the militia in Charleston in October, 1915.

The Record.

According to the report of L. L. Bultman, state dispensary auditor, there remains on hand $94,533.28 worth of liquors in seven of the 15 counties which had the dispensary system prior to January 1, when statewide prohibition went into effect.

During the last month of the life of the dispensary in South Carolina Charleston had the sales with $144,304.95, with Richland second with $128,613.63. Beaufort county made no report of sales. The total sales for the 15 counties was $512,271.22.

Of the stock left over Richland led with $34,385.76 worth. Aiken had $8,837.08; Calhoun, $2,434.31; Charleston had $19,340.19; Dorchester, $635; Orangeburg, $11,082.52; Union, $17,818.42. No reports of left over stock was made from the counties of Beaufort, Barnwell and Georgetown. Bamberg, Florence, Jasper, Lexington and Williamsburg counties had none left.

Following is the report of sales and profits:

Tribute of Respect.

Whereas, our kind heavenly Father in His great wisdom allowed death to enter our circle and take our dear sister and co-worker, Mrs. Emma Buzhardt.

Therefore, be it resolved by the Woman's Missionary society of Colony Lutheran church, Newberry, S. C.,

1. That we bow in humble submission to Him, who doeth all things well, even though we feel deeply the loss of such an esteemed member.

2. That while we miss her greatly and mourn her loss, we feel that our loss is her eternal gain.

3. That we extend the bereaved family our deepest sympathy, praying that the Lord will richly bless and comfort them.

4. That these resolutions be recorded in our minutes, a copy be sent to the family, also the Lutheran Church Visitor and county papers.

Mrs. P. E. Shealy,
Miss Ethie Cousins,
Miss Ida Fellers,

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Newberry evidence of their merit.

H. F. Addy, blacksmith, 1308 Caldwell street, Newberry, says: "A hard case of la grippe left my kidneys in frightful shape. I had severe pains across my loins and was laid up for two months. I couldn't do a stroke of work. My kidneys were weak and the kidney secretions were scanty and caused a burning sensation in passage. The secretions also contained sediment. I had dizzy spells and headaches. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills helped me and after I had taken six boxes all signs of kidney trouble left and I was cured."
