SWITZERLAND, the oldest existing republic, celebrated the 600th anniversary of its independence on the 17th instant. It has witnessed the rise and fall of many kingdoms and empires.

THE Central American states ought to form a more perfect union, to mutually aid in keeping down the revolutionary spirit of their people, if for nothing else. Both Guatemala and Nicaragua are now worrying with revolution.

ONE of the Alaska transportation companies is already advertising to sell berths by steamship to St. Michaels and steamboat up the Yukon to Klondike, the steamship to leave San Francisco, May 1, 1898. They will probably catch more suckers than now swim beneath the frozen surface of the Yukon.

If the people had seized and summarily executed that anarchist, or whatever other kind of crank he may be, who was found pistol in hand, hanging about the white house grounds looking for President McKinley, it would have been a long time before another case of insanity of the kind would be heard of.

"SERVED him right" will be the verdict of every sensible person on reading the account of an Oregon blacksmith who loaded up with whisky and went to the home of two young ladies to invite them to accompany him to a circus, and when the girls left the room on account of his condition, he drew a pistol and blew out his brains. The girls not only served the fellow right, but he served himself right.

THE Rainier liquor law of New York appears to be unpopular with all classes. The saloon men denounce it, the state prohibition convention resolved that it was "a measure that had gratified its enemies and disappointed its friends," and the New York City prohibitionists declare that it "surrenders the Christian Sabbath to the liquor dealers." In the matter of strong drink the prohibitionists appear to be very hard to please.

It was a graceful act on the part of President McKinley to continue General Fitzhugh Lee, a political opponent, in office and send him back to Cuba, on the ground that General Lee had become acquainted with the complicated condition of Cuban affairs and could be of greater service to the government in the (apparently) approaching crisis than could a new man unacquainted with the details and intricacies of the situation.

A FALL of 16 cents an ounce in the value of silver in one year is not encouraging to the silver men. Silver was worth 67 cents an ounce in New York on September 1, 1896, and 51 cents on September 1, 1897. At this rate of decline during the next 3 years, there will be nothing left to talk about in 1900 so far as silver goes. That there is not much left now is shown by the fact that the Ohio silver men are trying to run away from their platform even now.

ONE hundred staple articles of production and manufacture furnish a very good index, in their advance or decline, by which to measure prices generally. Bradstreet's, which is quoted elsewhere, shows that there has been an average advance of 69 per cent in this number of articles during the past 60 days. Meantime silver has fallen over 15 per cent. No wonder the Ohio democrats are trying to run away from their platform. But they will not be permitted to do it.

THE strike of the soft coal miners in the middle states proved a success at which every human person may well rejoice. Prior to the strike the men were working at less than actual living wages, and by the strike they have gained eleven cents per ton in the Pittsburgh district and five cents in Ohio and other states, or a general increase of twenty per cent. Some of the corner coal mine owners and operators of the Pittsburgh district have not yet given in to the emancipation of their white slaves, but against such the 100,000 laborers who were in the strike will continue the fight, dividing their earnings with the idle until a uniform scale is established.

COUNTY CLERK JACOB WORTH, The Republican Leader of Kings County, N. Y.

ENGAGEMENTS IN INDIA.

Attack and Repulses from Tribesmen—Message From the Queen.

A dispatch from Bombay, says: Advice from the front show that the various columns are advancing against the Mahomkhis from Paojora and Shabkadr. As yet they have met with no serious opposition, but the difficulties of transportation in a mountainous and almost pathless country are immense. Another formidable obstacle in the way of rapid movement is the lack of water.

The brigade of Gen. Jeffreys has not joined in the advance. Yesterday it left Camp Anayet, with sixteen companies of infantry and four guns, in order to reattack the enemy at the village of Damatagor. The enemy made a desperate resistance, but were driven out into the hills. The British demolished their towers and captured 400 mule loads of supplies. As soon as the troops began to retire from the village the enemy reappeared in force. The retirement, however, was effected with great precision, the native troops behaving splendidly. Two Sikhs were killed and six wounded.

It is now known that the enemy's loss during the fight on Thursday last between the Mounds and the 21 Brigade of Gen. Sir Blinco Blood, in the valley north of Anayet, was very heavy. The tribes engaged did not press the brigade during the retirement, but fresh tribesmen appeared. Capt. Fryder's company of Sikhs virtually owed their lives to an African sergeant of the guide corps, who, when the Sikhs had exhausted their ammunition and were desperately cutting their way back through the enemy, dashed up the hill under a heavy fire with a supply of cartridges. He arrived just in the nick of time, as the swordsmen of the enemy were already among the Sikhs, who were absolutely unable, after the heavy climb and the hard fighting, to continue a successful struggle.

Lieut. Watson was thrice wounded while gallantly leading a handful of Buffs, who routed a large body of the enemy, that was trying to storm the village on which Gen. Jeffreys, with his guns, had taken up a position. It appears that the enemy lost 180 men before they captured the Saragal police post. They buried alive two village women whom they captured while out hunting for firewood. The queen has sent the following dispatch with reference to the reverse near Camp Anayet: "I am deeply grieved at the loss of so many brave officers and men. I earnestly desire to be informed as to the condition of all the wounded. The conduct of the troops was most admirable." The lower Mohmands, south of here, have submitted and have agreed to pay a heavy fine and to surrender their arms.

Populism in Kansas. If the saying that hard times are required to make populists is true, then populism must be at a low ebb in Kansas at the present time. According to State Bank Commissioner Brice, there is so much money in the Sandlower state that the country banks are refusing deposits. Under a law enacted last winter, no bank can take more than 10 per cent of its capital and money in deposits in the state, with a capital of but $5,000, have deposits amounting to $75,000. Since only $20,000 can be loaned by an institution of the kind mentioned, the handling of such large sums of money is not only unprofitable, but unwise, and bankers refuse to receive any more money on deposit for those reasons. The harvesting and marketing of the wheat crop has resulted in a generally embarrassing the state banks, but not in the way embarrassment generally comes. After the pitiful stories that have been told of the poverty stricken Kansas farmer by the stockless farmers of the state, a condition is not only gratifying but extremely amusing.

Another feature of the situation must not be overlooked, and that is the much talked about mortgage debt. Mr. Brice states that in 1890 the mortgage debt of the state was $300,000,000, while at the present time it does not exceed $40,000,000, and the farmers are paying that off as fast as the crops can be harvested and marketed. A reduction of debt amounting to over $270,000,000 a year during the past seven years, in an agricultural state, shows anything but a poverty stricken condition of the people. Of course there are certain farmers who have been hard up and lost their homes through the foreclosure of mortgages, but those men belong, as a rule, to a class of men who are always in financial straits, no matter what the yield per acre is, or what the market price for grain may be. With a condition of the money market in Kansas, as has been reported, it will be an astonishing thing if a real estate boom does not sweep over the state, and the values of farm lands reach those of the east. In that event there will be a material change in the character of the population. The present settlers will sell out and hunt cheaper lands, and the purchasers who take their places will be of a less erratic class. Kansas has been the starting place of more "isms" and wild notions concerning finance and politics than any other locality, so it has been said, but present indications point to a new state of affairs, and populism may be said to be dead, so far as that state goes.—New Mexican.

Citation By Publication. The State of Texas, to the Sheriff or any constable of El Paso County, Greeting: Oath therefore having been made as required by law, you are hereby commanded that by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in said county once a week previous to the return day hereof, you summon George Howland to be and appear before the district court, to be held in and for the aforesaid county of El Paso, at the Court House thereof in the city of El Paso on the 4th Monday after the 1st Monday in Sept. A. D. 1897, then, and there to answer the petition of R. E. Beckham, receiver of the El Paso National Bank of Texas, Plaintiff, filed in said Court on the 21st day of March A. D. 1897, and numbered on the Docket of said Court 1939 against the said George Howland, defendant in substance as follows:

Plaintiff sues as Receiver duly appointed by Comptroller of the Currency of the United States of America of the El Paso National Bank of Texas, a banking corporation duly organized under the National Banking laws of the United States by attachment on promissory note dated 20th of July, 1892, executed by said George Howland due on demand for the sum of twelve thousand dollars with interest from said date at the rate of ten percent per annum until paid, and an additional ten percent in case said note be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, and to foreclose a lien held by said bank to secure said note on two hundred and sixty-seven shares of the capital stock of the company Metallurgica Mexicana, a corporation duly organized under the laws of the state of New York, title to said stock being evidenced by stock certificate No. B-6 issued by said company.

Plaintiff prays for judgment against said George Howland for the amount of said note, interest, and attorney's fee, and for foreclosure of said lien on said shares of stock, and for general relief. Herein fall not but have you then and there, before said court this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Witness my hand and seal of said court, at office this 31st day of August A. D. 1897.

Witness, J. A. ESCAJEDA, clerk of the district court of El Paso county, Texas. Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office this 31st day of August A. D. 1897. J. A. ESCAJEDA, Clerk of the District Court of El Paso County, Texas.

Thousands of Women are dragging out a weary, miserable existence because they do not fully realize what is the matter with them. They know that they have "female weakness" but they do not really appreciate what that means. They do not know that to this one trouble, which is traceable almost all of their bodily ills. They consider it a disease by itself, and if they also have neuralgia, nervous headache, biliousness, kidney troubles and other things, they see no connection between them and the derangement of a strictly feminine nature. Busy and overworked physicians often treat these things as separate ailments, when the whole trouble has its origin in one source. The reproductive organs are so important a part of the body that when they are out of order, the whole system is deranged. Whatever illness a woman has, she will do well to look there for the cause. A great many women knowingly neglect themselves, because they dread the telling of their troubles to a physician and the subsequent "examination" and "local treatment." All this is needless for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been found to perfectly and permanently restore lost strength and promote regularity of functional action.

The True Remedy. W. M. Repline, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief" says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds, experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a certain cure of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at W. A. Linn & Co's wholesale and retail drug store.
