OUR DAY OF THANKS.

Commemorating the day of thanks is a national trait of the American people. It is never forgotten, and it is never indifferently observed.

No matter how humble or obscure a person may be, there is always something for which thanks may be given.

The president has designated Thursday, Nov. 27th, as Thanksgiving Day, and has exhorted the people to render grateful homage to the source from which all blessings flow.

The Divine Being bestows His blessings in many ways, and in various degrees, but always as He in His infinite wisdom deems best. We may marvel, but it is not for us to question.

Although our country is torn with dissensions, and rumblings are everywhere, we yet have much for which to give thanks.

Our men have returned from the fields of war, undaunted in spirit, unchecked in the march of victory. Some have not returned, but the mark of a hero is above every grave.

Our fields have yielded bounteous harvests and our factories have given generously of their products.

Money has been plentiful and but little distress has been found.

Sickness has been at the minimum and the death rate has been small.

With the world in a turmoil, we of America retain yet even a small measure of tranquility, with the hope rearing its head as a beacon light of the future.

Let us give thanks for the blessings we have enjoyed, with the hope that when another Thanksgiving arrives with the cycle of time peace may abide with us all.

WE COULD, BUT WE WON'T

We are fed up on war, and strikes, and profiteering, and the many other wat-nots of the day.

We are surfeited with the complaints and the grievances of mankind.

The milk of human kindness has curdled and the benevolence of charity has vanished.

We need a change.

We need a little joy in life.

We need to remember that there is a right and a wrong—a justice and an injustice—a straight and narrow path, and one as crooked as the hairy legs of the devil.

What a world this would be if we could all make a change—if we could dig out the Golden Rule and place its tenets above avarice and greed, above suspicion and abuse.

We could bask in the sunshine of life and watch the clouds roll harmlessly by.

We could see us a people of supermen, guided by the teachings of brotherly love instead of by those of conquest and annexation.

And we could see the light of joy in every heart, in every home.

We could—but we won't.

LET THE PRODUCER

PRODUCE.

Greater production is a crying need of the day, and because of the devastation in Europe the bulk of this burden falls upon America.

We must increase our production.

We must feed the world and we must eat at the same time. We must furnish the implements of cultivation and manufacture, and we must have them for our own use. Greater production alone can do this.

Future disagreements between capital and labor should be settled "out of court"—in other words, without recourse to the paralyzing results of a strike.

Surely the government and congress can devise some tribunal which will have the authority to settle all disputes and enforce its decisions on both sides alike, doing equal justice to all and injustice to none.

Let Washington cease piddling or history may repeat itself.

Card of Thanks.

Through this medium, we wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our loving wife and grand-mother. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Frank N. Tindler, and Mr. R. N. Beasley for the way in which they conducted the funeral and burial services.

Jump Advertising Rate and Cut Size of Papers.

New York Nov. 19.—Increased advertising rates and reduction in the size of newspapers were urged today by Franklin P. Glass, of Birmingham, Ala., president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association at a special meeting here to consider the newsprint shortage.

"Every paper," he said, "should agree to cut down its average number of pages, both week-day and Sunday, by a considerable percentage and hold down its advertising volume to a fixed number of pages."

"Radical advances should be made in advertising rates. The percentage of increase should be such that they will hold back the sluice of advertising that has poured into our offices and bids fair to continue during the next year."

Declaring that English newspapers during the war reduced their size by one-third, but so advanced rates that most of them earned more than before the war, Mr. Glass said:

"It is plain that proper restriction of advertising space will not work any financial hardship here."

If the situation is not met with co-operation and sacrifice," he said, "it is certain that weaker papers will be forced to suspend. The fault is not with the mills. They have maintained a 100 per cent production, perhaps more than normal. We cannot look to them for prompt relief. We must depend upon ourselves."

Mr. Glass said newspaper advertising rates always have been too low and an advance of 25 or 30 per cent would not be enough because cost of production had increased 100 per cent in the last year.

NEWSPAPERS

Are Facing Greatest Crisis In History.

S. S. Carvalho, one of the best known newspaper men in the United States, and formerly the general manager of all the Hearst publications, stated in a recent interview that newspapers are facing the greatest crisis in the history of the industry.

He said that 20 per cent more paper is being used than in manufacturing; that high prices are inevitable, and that paper stocks are already at the danger line.

Mr. Carvalho bases the increased price of paper on the four following things:

"First—The labor cost per ton on white paper is now $20 against $10 four years ago.

"Second—It takes one ton of coal to make one ton of paper and coal at the mill has practically doubled in price.

"Third—The haul on pulp wood is growing greater each year; likewise the freight charges.

"Fourth—The six to nine cent markets of Europe, South America and Australia are now asking for Canada and United States paper."

Before the war the price of paper was given little consideration by publishers in figuring publication costs. Today it is a very important item. The only way to meet the advance is for publishers to secure better advertising and subscription rates, the only sources of revenue.—Publishers Auxiliary.

His wife and four small children are left to mourn the loss of husband and father. Funeral services were conducted at the house by Rev. C. S. Ellis after which interment took place in Richmond cemetery. The sympathy of the community go out to the family in their great sorrow.

Buckeye Baptist Church

Next Sunday, Nov. 23rd, has been set apart as Campaign day. We are expecting this to be the greatest day in the history of the church.

The church has been thoroughly organized by the leadership of our splendid organizer, A. C. Miles. The teams, their captains and the campaign boosters are having special meetings in preparation for the campaign.

To each member of the church we send this special appeal to be present next Sunday morning. The Master is calling on us. Our love for Him and our loyalty to His Kingdom will be measured by our response to His call.

D. F. Sebastian, Pastor.
