How to Make Molasses Candy

In the February Woman's Home Companion, Fannie Merritt Farmer, cookery editor of that publication, presents a dozen receipts for home made candy. Following is her recipe for molasses candy:

"Put one-half cupful of butter in a Scotch kettle or saucepan, place on range, and when butter is melted add two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of molasses and one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water. Bring to the boiling point, and let boil with as little stirring as possible, until mixture will form a soft ball that will just keep in shape when tried in cold water. Turn into a buttered dripping pan, and as mixture cools around sides, fold toward center. When cool enough to handle, pull until porous and light colored, allowing candy to come in contact with tips of fingers and thumbs, not to be squeezed in the hand. Cut in small pieces or sticks and arrange on slightly buttered plates to cool. A few drops of oil of peppermint, cloves or cinnamon may be added during the stretching. To keep several days wrap in squares of paraffin paper, store in a glass jar, and keep in a cold place."

STYLISH AFTERNOON GOWN.

This uniquely built black satin gown has a Persian belt which gives a bit of glowing color to the gown. It is threaded under the tunic. At the sides the tunic is finished with buttons. The short sleeves of the bodice are made long by the addition of half sleeves of white crepe de chine. The vest is also of white crepe de chine, while a sailor collar of the Persian stuff finishes the neck.
