EACH RACE FAVORED NUMBER

Study of the Preferences of Various Nations Leads to Some Curious Conclusions.

Some curious conclusions have been reached as the result of studies of what are called the preferred numbers of the inhabitants of different countries. The basis of the investigations had to do with the various denominations of money, postage stamps and other mediums of value. It appears that nearly all races evince a marked preference for the numbers two, three and five and their multiples. The Mohammedans, however, avoid the use of the number three. Among the French and other Latin peoples two and five are more popular than three, while the English prefer two and three and the Germans three and five.

The Chinese are said to resemble the Latins in their choice, while the people of India have a strong liking for two. The number seven is most used in Russia and other Slavic countries. The higher numbers are not much used except in Spanish-speaking countries, as eleven in Salvador, seventeen in Mexico, nineteen in Spain. The people of Hawaii are said to be fond of thirteen.

THE TRUTH

To loaf resembles cycling
 Where the hill's a ragged drop
 It's easy to get started,
 But it's very hard to stop.

IMPROVISED SWINGING COUCH.

A great source of entertainment to our small children this summer is a cheap imitation of a swinging couch. The legs were removed from a stout cot with a strong, woven wire mattress, and this was suspended from the ceiling of a roomy back porch. Heavy iron screweyes, each containing an iron ring, were placed in correct positions in the ceiling, care being taken to find the cross-beams, as the thin boards of the ceiling will not sustain much weight. Four heavy strands of rope were swung from the iron rings and fastened to the four corners of the cot. As many as five or six children can ride in this swing with safety. One small boy insists on sleeping in it nights, and he arises each morning with sparkling eyes and glowing cheeks.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

SOUTH AMERICAN DIPLOMAT.

Julio Betancourt, the new envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the Republic of Colombia to the United States, represented his country for twenty years at Madrid. During this time his government sent him on several special missions to other European capitals, notably on one to Paris from 1898 to 1901. He was successful in settling the boundary questions between Colombia and Venezuela, and between Colombia and Costa Rica, the latter controversy having been arbitrated by President Loubet of the French republic in accordance with the brief presented on behalf of Colombia by Senor Betancourt. This award gave Admiralty Bay and the adjoining lands to Colombia.

THISTLES FOR FODDER.

Farmers in the dry land districts have cut and stacked hundreds of tons of Russian thistles to be used as fodder. This former pest of the dry season is now utilized for cattle feeding in winter.—Keota Correspondence Denver Republican.

ANOTHER REASON.

"We must go to Stratford."
 "What's the use? We can buy Stratford postcards in London."
 "My friend, one travels for something more than to send postcards. I want to write my name on Shakespeare's tomb."

Could Not Write.

Virginia, K.—Miss A. E. E. Green, of his place, says: "I could not write the different papers I received last fall. Cardui I could not write. Now I am able to write the sewing machine and do my own work, and my neighbors tell me the medicine must be good, for I feel so much better." Cardui is a specific, pain relieving, tonic remedy for women. In the past 50 years it has been found to relieve women's unnecessary pains and fem. 1. miseries, for which over a million suffering women have successfully used it. Try Cardui for your troubles. It will help you. At the nearest drug store.

CHIMNEY SMOKE A SYMBOL

Has Many Varied Significances and So Appeals to the Man Who Observes.

"Can anybody tell me," said Mr. Dreamington, "why I like the sight of smoke?"

"Not far from where I live there's a tall stack of a factory of some sort. I love to sit and watch the smoke rising from that tall chimney, rolling sometimes straight up, or blowing this way or blowing that. This smoke plume is our weather-vane. But smoke has many significances.

"See the smoke flying fiercely back from the stacks of an ocean steamer—sign of tremendous energy and conquering power.

"See in some peaceful countryside in the still air of early morning smoke curling upward from the stout chimney of the farmer's home, betokening a stirring within and breakfast soon.

"See the smoke that rises from the campers fire—freedom and good cheer.

"See the smoke of burning incense in the churches—devotion.

"The smoke of the myriad chimneys of the town, activity, endeavor, pushing enterprises and the rich and the poor.

"Smoke is the universal outward sign of man; the world around it signifies everything that human life, savage or civilized, implies. This, no doubt, is the reason why I like the sight of smoke; but I should be glad if somebody could make it plainer for me for my better, keener understanding."

HAD MORE HONEY THAN

Man Who Waited For Crop Gets Ten Tons of Product.

Some of the old gray-headed farmers will remember the time when we got short of barrels to hold our extracted honey and your humble servant borrowed the wash-boilers of the neighbors; and when these were all full we borrowed the wash-boilers.

Wash-day came, and the good women came around wanting their utensils. But there was no place to put the honey. Mrs. Root said, "Oh! won't those bees ever stop bringing in basswood honey?" It was about ten years after the war, and new "extracted" honey was selling in Cleveland as a novelty for 25 cents a pound. I finally told them that we would pump the water out of the cistern and scrub it up nice and clean, and fill it with honey. Well, under the stimulus of this great yield of basswood and clover I scraped up money enough to purchase a ten-acre lot in which I planted 4,000 basswood trees; and we have waited patiently more than 40 years to see if another such harvest from clover and basswood would come, and now we have it. Pretty close to 10 tons of honey, both comb and extracted, has been taken off during the last three or four weeks. (The two carloads of bees from Florida have "paid the freight" any way). Praise God, from whom all blessings "flow," and if you, too, my friend, have also been getting a great "flow" of honey, can't you say amen to the above?—From Gleanings From Bee Culture.

MINE OF TREES DISCOVERED

Oak Forest, Buried for Centuries Under a River in Russia, is Well Preserved.

Mines of wood are found in the south of Russia, where they were discovered very recently when the bed of a river was dragged. Not very deep in the earth, but covering an extent of two hundred square kilometers, a forest of oaks was found where it had been buried by some unknown catastrophe centuries ago. The wood is in perfect preservation. The man who found the entombed forest has drawn from his mine many trunks of trees measuring from 120 to 180 feet high and at least eighteen inches in diameter. The mine is worth a fortune, for the wood is of the first quality, and as a result of its long rest underground it has taken the most varied colors, ranging from dark brown to pale rose and running through all the shades of blue and yellow. One hundred and fifty thousand of the ancient oaks have been turned over to the cabinet makers.—Harper's Weekly.

FRANCE HONORS ARTIST.

Wynford Dewhurst, the English artist, has been paid the highest honor possible to a living painter by the French government, which has purchased his "Effet d'Hiver," which has been on exhibition at the Durand Ruel galleries. Only ten pictures a year are chosen from the works of artists of all nationalities and added to the Luxembourg collection. Dewhurst is a native of Manchester, and was intended for the legal profession, but gave up the study of law for the study of art. He spent five years in Paris under the best teachers. He is an officer de l'Academie des Beaux-Arts and is well known as an author and lecturer on art.

LET'S HAVE IT.

"This high cost of living is a serious question," bawled the campaign orator. "It is a great question, a very serious question, indeed."
 "We know it's a question," yelled a coarse man in the audience. "What's the answer?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

 "He writes me such short letters. Look at this—only seven pages!"

One of the Number of Metcalfe's Exclusives

This is a cut of Metcalfe's new Prosperity Shaper, which is going such a long way in decreasing the irritation of men folks' necks and tempers. Letting all fold collars be so ironed that tie slides well in collar, and collars are given nice, smooth, oval edge. It is utterly impossible for a collar to crack or break in our laundering process. Our shirt department is one which we feel proud of; not only is work done right, but the shirts are put in Sanitary Covers. Our Dry Cleaning department is in the hands of skilled workmen.

We have flowers for all occasions. Remember that if you buy or contract for $10 worth of coupon books, and take one during August and another when the Avalon is finished, the profits from the business, and more, go into the Avalon, a place of pleasure for Hopkinsville and surrounding country people.
