Another Lot Sold.

Mrs. Addie Garrett has sold a lot fronting forty-five feet on Second street, near the corner of Taylor avenue, to Mr. Lee Buckley for six hundred dollars.

Going to their New Home.

Rev. Dr. James M. Lewis, formerly of this city, having accepted the call to take charge of the Baptist Church at Greenville, Mississippi, he and his family will remove from Georgetown to that place next week.

Still Another Lot Sold.

Mr. Pat. H. Newman, late City Clerk, has purchased from Col. L. P. Tarlton a lot on Conway street, between the residence of Mr. W. C. Herndon and the old Hanna residence, and will erect a neat residence upon it in the near future.

Prohibition Speaking.

The prohibitionists of Franklin county are called to meet at the Court-house in this city, on Wednesday, April 8th, 1891, at 1 and 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of organizing the county for the Prohibition party. Hon. Jas. T. Barbee, State Organizer, will address the citizens at the times and place named.

For a number of years I have been subject to violent attacks of inflammatory rheumatism, which generally lasted about two months. On the first of this month I was attacked in the knee and suffered severely for two days, when I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it relieved me almost instantly. I therefore most cheerfully recommend it to those who are similarly afflicted everywhere—R. D. WHITLEY, Martindale, N. C., Feb. 1888. Mr. Whitley is a very prominent man in this place and his disease was very widely known as he suffered such severe pain. W. M. HOUSTON & Co., Merchants, Martindale, N. C. 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. GAYLE. 30-1m.

Predictions for April.

Prof. I. R. Hicks, whose weather predictions have been remarkably accurate during the past winter, makes the following forecast for this month:

Clear, frosty weather will follow the storms of the 1st and 2d, until about the 5th it will turn warmer, with cloudiness and rains. The 9th to 12th is shown in calendar as next storm period. April rains, hail storms, with snow in the north, may be expected. Frost and cold will follow. April showers will gather into heavier storms about the 16th and 17th. The 22d, 23d and 24th are regular storm days, in which rain and hail storms will occur. A very warm atmosphere, with electric clouds, may admonish of danger. In the north, snow need not surprise, followed by the regular fall of temperature, perhaps to freezing. There are reasons to expect storms about the 28th and 29th. Space forbids explanation. April ends cool to cold.

PROGRESS.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known. 30-1m.

Jas. McFarland Drowned.

Mr. James McFarland, who resided upon the farm of the late R. H. Nicol, near the residence of W. L. Collins, and has been running a dairy, came to town Tuesday morning to deliver his milk, coming in through Bellepoint. On his return home he went out the Benson valley pike and attempted to cross Benson creek at the ford near Mr. W. L. Collins' house, and when in the middle of the creek the wagon was upset by the swift current, Mr. McFarland thrown out and drowned. His wife saw the accident and screamed for help but none of the neighbors were near enough to hear her cries. The horse broke loose from the wagon and succeeded in getting to the shore, but Mr. McFarland was swept down stream and his body not recovered until about two o'clock in the afternoon, when it was found lodged in a drift pile. Corner Dehoney was notified, went out and held an inquest, when the jury returned a verdict of death by accidental drowning.

Mr. McFarland was an honest, hard-working Scotchman, who came to this city from Lynn, Massachusetts, some eight or ten years ago to work in the Kentucky River Mills, but for the past four or five years has given his attention to garden farming and running a dairy. He left a wife and several children to mourn his death.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon from his late residence and the remains were interred in the cemetery.

Wun Lung.

This is the queer name of a Chinese laundryman in Hartford, but he has probably two lungs; like most of us. Some crying babies seem to have a dozen. Lungs should be sound, or the voice will have a weakly sound. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes strong lungs, drives the cough away, generates good blood, tones the nerves, builds up the human wreck and make "another man" of him. Night-sweats blood-spitting, short breath, bronchitis, asthma, all alarming forerunners of Consumption, are positively cured by this unapproachable remedy. If taken in time, Consumption itself can be baffled.

Comes up Tuesday.

The question of the Capital location has been made the special order for Tuesday next, April 7th, by the Constitutional Convention. It is probable that several speeches will be made upon the question and a final vote may not be reached on that day, but when it does come to a vote Louisville and Lexington will be knocked out and Frankfort come off victorious.

The 25th Anniversary.

Albert G. Bacon Post, No. 16, Grand Army of the Republic, will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the organization of the order at their hall in the Sower building, on Main street, next Tuesday evening, April 7th. The ceremonies will be public and everybody is invited to attend.

A Cottage on the Hill.

Miss Willie Morris has purchased a lot, twenty-five by one hundred feet, from Mr. John B. Lindsey, on Arlington Heights, and has broke ground for a new cottage residence.

Bought a Home.

Mr. Pat. Coleman has purchased from Mr. Jerry Corbett one-half of a double brick cottage on South Steele street for six hundred dollars, and has moved in.

Nearing Completion.

The new residence being erected on Arlington Heights by Mr. John Connor is nearly completed and will soon be occupied.

Little Things That Tell.

It is the little things that tell—little brothers for instance, who hide away in the parlor while sister entertains her beau, ect. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are little things that tell. They tell on the liver and tone up the system. So small and yet so effectual, they are rapidly supplanting the old-style pill. An infallible remedy for Sick and Billious Headaches, Billiousness and Constipation. Put up in vials, convenient to carry. Their use attended with no discomfort.

FOR RENT—The two-story brick residence on Washington street, known as the First Presbyterian Parsonage. Possession given April 1st. Apply to H. H. Watson or J. W. Pruett. 27-tf.

Among the Colored Citizens.

By request we publish in this issue the original poem that was delivered by Prof. Monroe at the First Independent Baptist Church on Friday night, the 27th ult., at the reception of Dr. Underwood. The speeches of the other gentlemen were good and very touching at times. Those who spoke before Prof. Monroe were Prof. Jackson, Rev. Turner and Rev. Evans, after which the Doctor replied in a neat manner.

All hail to thee, thou of the Esculapian art! Thou who hast come to heal our aches and woes, ah hail!

Of him who with us his lot has cast, sing thou my muse— Sing thou to him, in strains both rich and rare, our most glad welcome, From out thy gilded court, midst fields of azure, high impainted, Send forth a courier bright, full-armed and joyous, To sing people welcome to this our honored guest.

For we of the Cadmean guild, followers of him of Phœnician blood, Within the confines of our hill-enclosed city hemmed in, Doth unto thee the cordial hand extend, with this assurance true:

That the kindly welcome, most deeply now we feel, Is but feebly here recorded.

Into our city, nestling close beside Kentucky's gently flowing, limpid stream, Begirt by hills, green-covered, and majestic in their pristine beauty, We bid you welcome.

Here, into this pleasant valley, more beautiful than the mythic garden of Jove, Perfumed by flowers wild and gorgeous in their bright tints, We bid you welcome.

Here, into the forest primeval, where feathered songsters carol their matin hymn of joy— Here where purring brooks, o'er leaping shaggy rock and giddy precipices, Doth lend their liquid music to swell the glad anthem of praise, We bid you welcome.

And here, into our small world of letters, Where each doth count himself a patron of learning, I, hidden of my fellows and compeers, doth bid thee, knight of the saw and lance, Thrice welcome.

For, when the organs of our corporal selves doth go awry, It is to thee, compounder of mysterious pellets and cordials, That we shall turn for a balm to heal our wound. And, too, it is to thee that we shall come When, to heal our intellectual hurt, we seek its antidote.

Mr. R. H. Taylor, the City Hall Janitor, was married last Tuesday night in Louisville. He and his bride arrived in this city Wednesday.

Rev. Wilmore will preach at the St. John A. M. E. Church Sunday.

The missionary day at the St. John A. M. E. Church last Sunday was a successful meeting and some good addresses were made. The singing was excellent.

The Teachers' Institute met at the Baptist Church last night and heard some very fine addresses. Among the speakers was Mr. Hunter, of Lexington. Quite a large crowd was present.

Our people should not forget the concert to be given under the direction of Prof. Monroe. He is sparing neither time nor money to make it a success.

Our people are clamoring for a Literary Club. A meeting will be held shortly for the purpose of organizing one.

Every colored voter must prepare himself for the meeting to establish a club that will be called by the president of our last club. The time and place will be named in our next issue.

Mrs. Fountain Booker, of High View, who has been confined to bed with consumption for the past winter, is improving slowly.

Rev. W. H. Venable was in the city this week in the interest of the Industrial School of Centerville, which is just thirteen miles from the city of Louisville. This thriving little place is owned by a company of colored men, and Mr. Venable met with much success here in his enterprise. The Governor gave him a good indorsement, before he left the city, with the many other indorsements which he had.

Mrs. Emma Allen gave an entertainment to Misses Lightfoot and Ramsey, who were visiting her this week.

The St. John A. M. E. Church should not be ashamed of its choir, for it is second to none in the city. Much credit is due Miss Sophia Rickman for the wonderful improvement.

Capt. John H. Thompson was elected Wednesday night by the Capital City Lodge as their delegate to the District Convention of Odd Fellows at Danville, Ky., in June next.

Every member of the Industrial Legion Lodge is expected to be at the Hall next Wednesday night, as business of importance will come before the meeting.
