FOR CONGRESS, SAMUEL P. ALLISON, of Davidson,

[EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK EXPRESS.] FROM HAVANA.

Slace Trade-British Squadron for the Fishing Grounds, HAVANA, April 19.—The American Consul Judge Sharkey, who resigned his place last month, has been informed by the President, through a friend at Washington, that he would be relieved from further duty on the 1st of June, agreeably to his request There is much anxiety to know the suc-

The British steamer Devastation left here a few evenings since for the Fishing Grounds, and is one of a large number of vessels which the British Government has ordered to the coast. This was the vessel (not the Buzzard) which fired at the American ship Harriet, and boarded her the other day. The British Consul, Mr. Crawford, who is very popular among his countrymen here, and a very efficient officer, has been a good deal disturbed by the complaints of the Americans here against the British steamers for overhauling our vessels. Last week he visited the American Consul (who has not only taken very high American grounds against both the right of search and the right of visit, but who has written and made known his opinions at the request of American Captains) for the purpose of ascertaining the extent and character of the complaints. He was accompanied by Captain Campbell, who commands the Devastation, and who fired into the Harriet. He denied the spirit and intent of some of the testimony of Captain Otis, without, however, refuting the main facts of firing several times at the vessel. But he did not fire, he says after the American flag was visible. He boarded the ship in person, however, accompanied by one of his midshipmen. Captain Otis, he says, treated him with all proper politeness, invited him below, when he, Captain Campbell, asked to see the ship and the ship's papers, which Captain Otis permitted This he denies to be an act of search, and claims that it was merely the right of visit, which he, and the British Government he represents, regarded as distinct and refused to surrender.

Captain Campbel, from all accounts, is a spirited and imprudent officer, and he goes from this point of contest to the Fishing Grounds, where he is likely to add to the difficulties he may have created here. As Congress refused to advise the President to do aught to remove the causes of difficulty found in existing treaties, there is danger of a repetition of the scenes and seizures of last summer.

The Buzzard came into Port on Sunday morning with a small rackish looking schooner in tow which she found in one of the Bays on the coast. She was a slaver, but the birds had flown and been long released from their horrible confinement when the vessel was discovered.

P. S. It is said that the cholera has again broken out in this city and just as the small pox is leaving the Island. But I have seen no signs of unusual sickness, and the deaths are not more than usual. Havana, however, has suffered sadly with both cholera and small pox within the year past.

LOUISIANA. - The Opelousas Courier says: "On Saturday last, 16th inst., the town of Washington was thrown into commotion by the result of a frightful accident. "M'me Desseauze, the wife of a French engineer of this parish, had suddenly disappeared and no reason could be assigned for her absence, and researches for her were vain and fruitless. On Saturday last, some one was drawing water from a well was startled at the sight of human hair in the bucket. A second trial was attended with the discovery of a greater quantity of hair. He called for assistance, and by the aid of a hook, the body of the last M'me Desseauze was drawn out in a state of STRANGE HOMICIDE BY A WOMAN .-- William Taylor, who for some time past has been a clerk in Mr. Hobb's boot and shoe store, on Canal street, was last night killed by a woman named Agnes Anderson, whom he kept as a mistress. It appears, from all we can gather of the case, that the woman, of late, became jealous of Taylor, suspecting that he had transferred his affections to another female. Be this as it may, certain it is that the man was killed after he went to bed, and that no less than eleven knife wounds were inflicted with fatal force on various portions of his person. The woman, after committing the homicide, went and delivered herself up to the police authorities of this District, Her statement is, that when Taylor got into bed he had in his hand a knife, and he said, addressing her, "d-n you, you shall never get out of this bed again -I intend to kill you!" With this, she goes on to tell how he drew the knife and undertook to stab her, and that she wrested the knife from his hand and succeeded in quieting him by stabbing him a number times.—New Orleans True Delta, 28th.

To BRING THE DROWNED TO LIFE.-Immediately as the body is removed from the water, press the chest, suddenly and forcibly, downward and backward, and instantly discontinue the pressure. Repeat this without interruption, until a pair of common bellows can be procured. When obtained, introduce the nozzle well upon the base of the tongue. Surround the mouth with a towel or handkerchief and close it. Direct a bystander to press firmly upon the projecting part of the neck-called Adam's apple-and use the bellows actively. Then press upon the chest to expel the air from the lungs; to imitate natural breathing. Continue this, at least an hour, until signs of natural breathing come on Wrap the body in blankets, place it near a fire, and do everything to preserve the natural warmth, as well as to impart an artificial heat, if possible. Everything, however, is secondary to inflating the lungs. Send for a medical man immediately.

Our young friend, Sam. Perkins Allison. Esq., of Nashville, has been nominated by a democratic convention as the candidate of that party for Congress, in the Nashville district. Mr. Allison is a native of Williamson county, a young man of high withal, a democrat of the best school; and if our friend, Gen. Zollicoffer, must have an opponent, we are glad that a gentleman of Mr. Allicon's tried and true character has been selected as his competitor .-We shall look for a canvass of high courtesy and gentlemanly bearing between two such gentlemen; and the canvass, however it may terminate, will leave no bitter reflections to the defeated candidate on account of any unpleasant circumstances during its continuance. - Franklin Review.

It has already been stated in our columns that a committee was appointed by a meeting of the citizens of Cincinnati, to wait on the mayor of that city and request him to resign; that the committee called on him, but he had gone out of the city; and that the committee was to wait on Monday last .-The committee, at the time specified, assembled in the council chamber, and sent one of their number to the mayor who was in his office, requesting his presence at the chamber. He replied that he was in his office and ready for any business, intimating that if the committee had business with him they should come to him. The reply of the mayor produced great dissatisfaction and a warm discussion in the committee, and it was finally agreed on that another mass meeting should take place this evening .- Louisville Journal.

NASHVILLE, TENN.

JOHN L. MARLING, EDITOR.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 7, 1853. WORDS vs. ACTIONS.

The whig editors are trying to "whistle up" their courage. A few of them make light of Johnson's nomination, and declare that it is the weakest that could have been made. Like the poor fellow in the deluge, they don't think it "much of a shower, no how." The Banner thinks it admirably adapted to draw out whig votes, while other whig prints whistle very loud and look very superstitious as they pass it by. Now, gentlemen, we know you are putting on airs. We know you are forcing a laugh, when you would much rather cry. Your words and your acts don't correspond. One or the other must be insincere, and as it is generally conceded that "actions speak louder than words," we believe your professions in this instance to be all hollow and heartless. If you really believe Johnson to be so weak-if you really think he has "an extraordinary capacity for drawing out whig votes," why did you, in your famous Henry-mander, endeavor to bury him under such a tremendous whig majority? If he possesses this wonderful faculty of drawing out whig votes against him, why waste so much whig strength on his district? In Jonsson's district, the Henry-mander secures for the whigs a majority of fourteen hundred and fifty, while in the other two districts in East Tennessee the whig ma iorities are, each, less than half as large! If Johnson has such a "capacity" for calling out whig votes, why this glaring distinction? Why give his district six thousand more than the ratio in order to foist upon him a tremendous whig majority? Why give to his district the largest whig majority of any district in the State? Can our whig cotemporaries reconcile these acts with their present flippant lan-The fact is, Andrew Johnson has "an extraordinary capacity for drawing out whig votes," but then he always draws them out in his favor. He is a man admired by the masses of both parties .-The people claim him for their own. They have conferred upon him all his political honors, and to them and their interests he has ever been as true as the magnet to the pole. No man can accuse Andrew Johnson of forgetting his allegiance to them. He has labored faithfully and efficiently for those masses, with whom he had sympathy, and whose toils and privations he had shared. The people do not forget such men. They step over party trammels to do them honor. They bury party prejudices to do them justice. They turn their backs upon the flippant demagogues who would urge them to the rank in gratitude of deserting such friends of the laboring man. Such has been their course towards Andrew Johnson in his past life. Such will be their course towards him in the present contest. He is their candidate, and they will elect him! Yes, verily, he has "an extraordinary capacity for drawing out whig votes," and democratic ones, too. Whig leaders will find this verified to their sorrow when the time comes.

GEN, HARRIS.

We publish to day the proceedings of a democratic meeting in Henry county, on the 2d, at which Gen. I, G. HARRIS was brought forward fo. the democratic nomination for Congress in the 9th district. It affords us great pleasure to notice this movement. Gen. HARRIS, like Mr. Johnson, has been legislated out of Congress by the odious Henrymander of the whig candidate, and while the one beats that candidate before the people, we desire to see the other returned to Congress in despite of his machinations. Gen. HARRIS has a large majority to overcome, but against this majority he will bring to bear indomitable energy, superior talents, and great personal popularity. No man, in fact, is better calculated to overcome a large whig majority .-When he takes the field against the iniquitous measure which reversed the decision of the people, and cut down the democratic representation in Congress from seven to two-when HARRIS opens his batteries against this iniquitous and dishonest piece of trickery, the people of his district will be wrought to indignation at the glaring injustice of the act. They will refuse to countenance such a wholesale fraud upon the popular franchise, and repudiate the man whose highest ambition it was to perpetrate it.

We believe Gen. HARRIS will second the wishes of his friends in this matter. He is not the man to shrink from the contest, when the odds are against him. We expect to see him buckle on his armor, and make a gallant fight and achieve a proud victo-

We also publish the proceedings of a ratification meeting at Paris, on the same day. At this meeting Gen. HARRIS was present, and spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Johnson's nomination. Like the democracy of the State generally, Gen. H. believes Andrew Johnson the very man for the crisis, and is prepared to support his nomination with all his eloquence and ability.

FATAL OCCURRENCE,-Mr. JOHN J. WHITAKER, of Lincoln county, was killed on Sunday last, as is supposed, by being thrown from his horse. He was found on the road near the first Baptist Church, ten miles from Fayetteville, lying in or near a branch, with his neck dislocated, and bruises on his right cheek and left shoulder. Tracks were found, supposed to have been made by a horse running, and there was a sudden turn in the road where the body was lying. No signs were observable of any struggle on the ground.

The Wheeling Gazette contends that the receipts of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, if it were prepared to do the business, could be made to reach one million of dollars per month. That paper also promise, and of unblemished moral character; and states that there is now one house in Alabama desirous of shipping 8000 tons of quercitron bark over the road, to the Baltimore market, instead of sending it to New Orleans.

The Boston Traveler states that a Life Insurance Company is to be sued for a policy which they refuse to pay because the person whose life was insured committed suicide, and the policies of all life companies contain a clause that they will not pay in case a man dies by his own hand, or while fighting a duel. In the present case the claimants allege that the suicide was committed while in a state of mental derangement, and it will be for the Court to decide whether, in case there is no bar to payment, suicide under such circumstance comes within the exclusion of the compa-

Long TRAINS -The Detroit Advertiser says a train of eighty-five freight cars, drawn by two of the most powerful locomotives in the country, started from that city a few days ago for Chicago, and on the next day a passenger train, composed of 29 splendid new passenger and baggage cars, containing nearly 900 persons, and almost a quarter of a mile long, left that city for the West. That will do very well for a new country.

We are indebted to the clerk of the H. R. W. Hill for New Orleans papers of the 27th ult.

THE WASHING AND BATHING ESTABLISHMENT .- A year ago a washing and bathing establishment for the poor was opened in Mott street, New York .-It involved an investment of $42,000 and had accommodations for 63 washers and 53 bathers at a time. After a year's experience, we are furnished with some of the results. The plan is to put the price of the accommodations at the lowest possible figure that will render the establishment a self-sustaining one well patronized. During June, July, and August the total number was 30,600; the largest number on any one week was that ending June 19th, when 4.670 bathers were admitted; and the average weekly number was over three thousand. The whole income from bathers and washers for three months was $2,136; being an average of $178 a week for three months. The present season opens, it is said, very favorably, the number of bathers during a single day having already reached 763, against 1,147, the highest number last season.

Well Said .- A modern philosopher says that ready-made fortunes are a good deal like readymade clothing-they seldom fit those who get them. Fast young men generally inherit mill sites, while the most likely person to fall heir to a gallery of statuary, would be some old fogy who would much prefer the more producible contents of a stone-cutter's yard. Riches are distributed with very little discrimination. To spend money properly, requires as much brains as to acquire it, and yet who ever knew a man of brains to have "a rich uncle," or a young man of genius to become the residuary legatee to a silver mine?

A girl seventeen years old, was bitten by a rattle snake on the left instep. Two hours and a half afterwards Dr. T. A. Atchinson, who describes the case in the Southern Medical Journal visited her, and found her sightless, with her face swollen and mind wandering. He placed her in a hot salt bath, and administered whisky and carbonate of ammonia until she had taken three pints of the first and eighty grains of the latter; no intoxication followed and she was cured. In New York within a year or two, a physician was suffered to die of the bite of a rattle snake; also a physician in Phila-

FOR THE NASHVILLE UNION. FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

McMinnville, May 1, 1853. Mr. Entron-As yet, we have no democratic candidate for Congress in this district, should J. H. SAVAGE decline another race. It would meet the wishes, and full approbation of the Mountain Democracy to see L. Pope, Esq., a candidate. He would be heartily supported by all the southern portion of the district. I do not know how it would meet the wishes of the northern portion of it, but doubt not that they would be highly pleased.

We take great pleasure in recommending her to our friends who are going to Nashville .- Louisville Democrat.

A simple fire annihilator, for domestic use, is described in the Troy Budget by an insurance agent of that city. Hear, and save your houses:

Why will not people avail themselves of modern discoveries, to save their property from fire .-A package of two or three pounds of sulphur, dis-posed of it in such a manner as to be amongst the first things to burn, or at hand, to be thrown into the fire soon after its commencement, before air rushes into the building, will arrest the fire as surey as water, and is better than water, when varnishes or resinous gums are burning.

Oxygen and sulphur have so strong an affinity, that in the combustion of sulphur, the oxygen of the atmosphere is converted into sulphurous acid gas, at which point fire is arrested.

I tested this principle and thereby saved my property some years since, an account of which I gave through your columns at the time. It is impossible to conceive how much human suffering might have been averted had that suggestion been attended to by boat and ship owners. I never In Glasgow a public soiree is to be given to the read the account of the terrible loss of human life on board our ships and steamers without thinking that they might have been saved by a package of brimstone in the fire-room.

We notice in several whig prints remarks in relation to the Democratic State Convention, about the want of unity among its members and the different aspirants to the nomination, &c. We expected nothing less than a diversity of opinion in the convention; the proceedings of which will be found on the first page of this issue. Had there been none, we should have been much disappoint and Provost Martin has kindly consented to preside ed. Nothing will be made for Henry by harping on this subject. We met to talk and discuss the matters which belonged to the convention. Had there been no talk, no discussion, no animation, no desire, we should certainly expect to be defeated -We should begin to think that no one felt interested in our party-that the principles of Democracy had become extinct-that no one dare to say or do what in his judgment he thought right—that it was a great sin to have a distinct and individual opinion-that a dozen other things, all of which are contrary to our principles and party. We enter the race with the full expectation of winning, and nothing less. Our impressions at the convention were strengthened in that belief, because of the interest and discussions which prevailed there. Had it been otherwise, it would be so contrary to the usages of the democratic party that we might reasonably expect an overthrow .- Chattanooga Adver-

The chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to appoint delegates to represent the county of Henry in the Convention which will assemble at Trenton on the 7th May, for the purpose of nominating a suitable candidate to represent the 9th Congressional District in the next Congress.

On motion, it was Resolved, That the chairman with the assistance of the meeting appoint delegates from each civil district to said Convention Colonel C D Venable, then submitted the following reso-

Resolved, That although we are certain that our late distinguished representative the Hon I G Harris, will be the mous choice of the democrats of every county composing the Ninth Congressional District, as the nominee for Congress; yet we cannot permit this opportuni y to pass without expressing the earnest hope, that he will yield to the wishes of his friends throughout the District and accept the nomination which will doubtless be tendered him. Resolved, That the confidence which we have in the magnanimity and moral courage of Gen Harris, induce us to believe that after so often leading our forces to victory, when we outnumbered our opponents, he will not shrink from the conflict now that the odds are against us.

Resolved, That every eye turns to him, and the hopes of the democracy of the 9th centre upon him as the man to overcome the majority in this district-a majority fraudulently obtained, by an act of dishouest, unjust, unconstitutional and tyrannical legislation-commonly known as the whig Henry-

Resolved, That we heartily approve and endorse the platform of principles adopted by the late Nashville Convention. Resolved, That we recognize in Andrew Jourson, the nomince of the democratic convention for the Gubernatorial chair, a type of our democratic republican institutions, having by application, industry and preseverance, raised himself from the tailor's bench to the balls of Congress, where true to his ancient vocation he has given many a good cut and made many breeches in the ranks of federalism.

Resolved, That the democracy of Henry county, will, by handsome increase over the majority they gave Franklin Pierce, show the enthusiasm with which they rally to the support of Andrew Johnson. The resolutions having been seconded, the Hon Isham G HARRIS rose, and advocated their adoption in an animated and eloquent speech. He said that ANDREW JOHNSON had now served the country for fourteen years in a public capacity with distinguished ability. During part of that time, he had served with him in Congress, had been a close observer of Mr. J.'s course as a Legislator, and was free to say that Tennessee never had a more faithful and efficient representative. Gen H. said that Mr. Johnson's course as a Legislator, had reflected honor upon himself, the State of Tennessee and the Union. He was emphatically the guardian of the treasury; had often heard him in tones of indignant eloquence, expose and denounce every effort to attain money from the treasury not sanctioned by the constitution. He had seen Andrew Jourson measure arms with the ablest men in the nation. and come out of the combat victorious. He pointed to Ax-DREW JOHNSON, the poor and friendless tailor, crossing the mountains, with staff in hand, without even an English education, (for at the age of 21, he could not write his name,) and Andrew Johnson, the able statesman, the eloquent orator, the accomplished gentleman. the poor and friendless youths of our country would do well to study and profit by. Gen. H. said, that he considered Andrew Johnson the very best man for the crisis, and made a most fervid and soulstirring appeal to the democrats of Henry to rally as one man to his support. Thunders of applause answered the appeal; and resolutions were adopted amidst the most enthusiastic demonstrations of approbation.

VALUABLE HISTORICAL WORKS.

W. T. BERRY & CO. HAVE RECENTLY RECEIVED-

Grote's History of Greece. Ten Vols. 8vo. with Maps. - "If, however, we undertake to point out all the excel-lencies of Mr. Grote's work, we shall have to analyze each lencies of air. Groce's work, chapter. It is enough to say that it is the History of reece, chapter. It is enough to say that it is the History of reece, chapter. It is enough to say that it is the History exceed, which, above all others, should command the attention of the American reader. It is full of light for the good lance of republicanism; it is equally full of beacons rocks and shoals, on which some of the rocks and shoals, on which some of the rocks and shoals, on which some of the rock those good free dom have been wrecked. He who wing the doctrines of free government, and to be sources of strength and danger of free instructions, should be stored to the more regular, but to the study of devote himself, not to the mere perusal, but to the study of the entire work of Mr. Grote. Its lessons are full of light, of vitality, of hopefullness, and of admonition."-Louisvil

THE LIBERTY OF ROME: A History. With an Account of the Liberty of Ancient Nations. By Samuel Eliot, Etq.

Niebuhr's Lectures on Ancient History.

The History of the Asiatic Nations, the Egyptians, the Greeks, Carthageniuns, and Macedonians. Translated from the German by Dr. L. Schmitz. With additions from MSS in the exclusive possession of the Editor. In 3 elegant vols. * These Lectures embrace the whole of Ancient Histo ry, with the exception of that of Rome, and carry down the history of all the nations of antiquity, until they are swallowed up by the all-absorbing power of Rome.

Niebuhr's Lectures on the History of Rome. Edited by Dr. Schmitz. 3 vols. 8vo. Pertraits.

* * These Lectures form a history of Rome from the earliest ages to the overthrow of the Western Empire. * * * Among the subjects most elaborately treated, are the geo-graphical positions of the ancient races of Italy, which are traced through all their migrations; the political, military, and legal constitution, and the domestic manners of the Komans; the State of hterature at different epochs; and the portraits of the nations that gradually came within the widening sphere of t e Roman Empire.

Merivale's History of the Romans Under the Empire 3 vols. 8vo.

Guizot's History of Civilization, 3 vols, 19mo. * As a historian and philosopher, we place Mr. Guizot very highest rank among the writers of modern Europe. In the loftiest of the regions of history he is unrival-led. We do not hesitate to say that his lectures appear to us to throw more light on the history of society in modern Europe, and the general progress of mankind, then say other works in existence.—Blackwood.
