It Has Certain Advantages Over The Milder Moral

Method.

Moral sussion, the appeal to the ra-tional nature of man, is doubtless a very good thing. But it will not compare with immoral sussion for inducing swiftpess of thought or promptness of action. The burglar surprised in his raid and requested to "please go away" will argue the case in the forceful burglar way. But when a pistol is pushed in his face with the laconic order, "Get!" he goes and stands not on the order of is going. The pistol, with its six solid arguments, is a wonderful persuader, and in the line of immoral suasion cannot be surpassed.

It is a reflection on man's reason that he often refuses to do what common sense dictates, until he is forced to do it. Common sense tells a man that he cannot live irregularly and keep his health. He is warned and admonished time and again that hasty eating and irregular meals result in diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and putrition. But because Nature does not directly threaten his life as the pistol does he goes right along until he is obliged to reform because disease forces him to do so.

UNHEEDED WARNINGS.

It is only when all her warnings have been unheeded that Nature no longer says "You should not" but "You shall not." This is practically what happens when the lover of high living has to give up dainty dishes, sweets and condiments and come down to a diet of oatmeal or tea and toast.

There are thousands of dyspeptics whose condition shuts them out from all the pleasures of the table. There are thousands of others who are on the high road to a like condition, unheeding the warnings of the protesting stomach.

The great fact is that every man and woman who suffers from dyspepsia can be almost certainly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It always helps. It almost always cures. only two people in every hundred who give "Golden Medical Discovery" a fair and faithful trial fall of a perfect and permanent cure.

He had these spells every two or three weeks. He could not eat anything only a little milk and cracker, and sometimes even this would make him sick. He even this would make him sick. He could not eat any meat or vegetables and he got very weak; could not sit up all day, and I gave up all hope of his ever getting any better. Three years ago I found one of your books, and on looking it over one day I noticed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery recomended for indigestion. We bought some and gave it to our boy. He had been treated at Hood's Creek by a good doctor, and at Bennettsville, S. C., and at Currie, and Lumberton and Maxton,

WHERE WILL IT END? No one can say where the results of disease of the stomach and its allied organs will end. The stomach is the source of supply for each organ of the body. Whatever affects the stomach to re-duce its strength and its ability to provide nutri-tion for the dependent organs will also affect the organs themselves. Heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, all must share the "weakness" of the stomach. When diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, diseases of other organs originating in stomach "weakness" and imputrition are cured at the same time. "I sent you a letter about a year ago," writes Mrs. J. Ellis Hamilton, of Farmwrites Mrs. J. properly. I would have sick headache three and four times a week, and jaun-dice every four or five weeks. Could not do the work myself. I commenced using your medicines as recommended for liver complaint, and I am cured. I doctored three years without relief, only for a short time, and then I was as bad as ever. Haven't had sick headache since I took the first bottle of medicine."

This kept on until I made up my mind to do something and I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Laster H. Greene's drug store, as I had heard them highly recommended. I began using them as directed and when I had used about twothirds of the box the pain left me. THE DAY'S CHIEF TOPIC.

Where and how to spend the summer is a question to be considered by nearly every body. If you are not interested, you should be, and if you are, consider New England, with its great wealth of mountains, rivers, lakes, seashore and historic spots.

In the heart of the Appalachian Range, the secondary range of America, which includes the famous White Mountains, are hundreds of places where one may go and enjoy the cool, quiet grandeur of the magnificent panoramic scenery, its grand, precipitous rocks, its green fields and the beautiful silvery lakes sprinkled here and there like bits of broken mirror.

Think of the places where sports of all kinds may be enjoyed, including the popular games of golf, polo and tennis.

Leave the mountains and turn to the beautiful lakes and streams, or to the vast,

RUTLAND LIQUOR DEALERS

States' Attorney George E. Lawrence of Rutland has instituted proceedings for vio-lating the nuisance act in the matter of sell-isting the nuisance act in the matter of selling intoxicating liquor to sundry dealers in Rutland.

Proceedings were also instituted against Sarney Rosin and H. G. Odell of West Rutland and Edward Shay of Benson. The subpoenas were served on Thursday, citing the respondents to appear before the September term of chancery court. An order has also been issued by Chief Judge Taft iciting the men upon whom papers had been served, as mentioned above, to appear before him today at the county court house to show cause why temporary injunctions should not be issued against them. Several against whom injunction proceedings have already been brought and who are under bonde varying from $1000 to $1500 were cited to supear before Judge Taft today being charged with a breach of the peace.

SWEET PICKLES.

By Mrs. Barbara Sadler.

It is at this senson of the year that he good hoosewife begins to fill her pantry with the favorite condiment known as sweet pickles. Sweet pickles may be made from many different things, and all are palatable, generally appetizing, and an addition to the hirder. As generally speaking, these pickles are nighty spiced, they will with a little care keep a long time and often "fill a long-feit want."

Watermeion rinds, cantaloupes, pears, the company of the pears, the pears of the pea ripe cucumbers, plums and quinces, are among the things utilized in making sweet pickles, and, speaking generally, all may be put up after the following recipe: To every seven pounds of the fruit allow four of sugar and a pint of For sale by all dealers, price 50: a space and content of the gar, two tenspoonfuls each of all spice and cinnamon, one of cloves, a few blades of mace and half an ounce of ginger roof. Fut the sugar and vinegar over the fire to beil and throw in the spice bags; when boiling throw in the fruit, bring again to a boiling point and pour into stone jars. boiling point and pour into stone jars. Never use tin or metal for this work.

A great many people associate all German cooking with the heavy viands for which the German people have an enviable reputation. As a matter of fact, while the German loves his saur kraut and Frankforts, his cheese and black bread, the German cook prides himself or herself the most on the sweet-meats. These latter are especially prized during the summer months when the heavier foods seem out of place. Among the ladies at afternoon parties, coffee, various colored junkets, coffee whip and a variety of the many little "Kuchen," for which Germany Is famous, are the favorites, but at the little affairs in which the gentlemen participate a more substantial menu is prepared.

Let me give you some recipes for some of those delicacles.

BROILED SALMON.

Take two or three slices of salmon about an inch thick, rub these over with fine salad oil or clarified butter and sea-son them well with salt, cayenne and son them well with salt, cayenne and lemon-juice, then broil, on a clean, hot gridiron, which has been thoroughly greased, over a clear, hot fire. Turn the fish frequently so that it may be cooked equally all through, and in about a quarter of an hour it will be done enough, and ought, if the fire has been at the proper heat, to be a rich golden brown. Place the sileos of fish very neatly on a fiat bed of well mashed potatoes and sprinkle them lightly with very finely minced parsley and sifted egg yolk. Serve with some favorite fish sance poured around the base, and more sant to the table in a tureen. sent to the table in a tureen.

GERMAN LOVE KNOTS One cupful each of lightly beaten egg and rich, sweet cream. Beat together and add flour to make a dough as stiff as you can work it, then roll out very thin. Invert our the dough a large coffee cup and cut around it with a jag-ging iron, then cut into strands the size of a large straw, cutting nearly across, but leaving an edge. Pass two knitting needles under every other strip. Spread the needles as far apart as possible, then with them on the needles hold in the fat until fried a light brown. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

CORNUCOPIAS

KAFFEE-KUCHEN. One pint of sponge bread, one tablespoonful of molasses, one teftcupful of sugar, one toacupful of seeled raisins, one-half teaspoonful soda, one egg, butter the size of an egg. Add spice to suit your taste and four to make a dough as spoon, let rise till very light and bake as for would bread.

SPINACH ON TOAST.

Boil three heads of spinach until quite tender, in two quarts of well-salted water. Drain off the water, and put the spinach in a large bowl with one black pepper. Chop all together, add a tablespoonful of butter, and lay on small rounds of hat buttered teast.

STUFFED BEEF.

Have ready a handsome roasting piece of beet that has hong for several days. Mix a savory stuffing as follows: Mince fine an onion about the size of a hear's egg, and one pound of fat park, add one enspoenful of finely powdered thyme, she of savory and one of celery seed, caspoonful of finely powdered thyme, of savory and one of celery seed, half a tenspoonful of salt, one blade of mace, six cloves, and twelve grains of alligice, all linely pounded. Mix thoroughly, Lay the beer in the pan in which it is to be rousted and with a sharp pointed knife make incisions all over it. Stick the knife deep into each and twist it around so as to make the place large chough to hold the stuffing. Into place sprinkle a little salt and black pepper and a very tiny pinch of cayenne pepper. Stuff the places us full as possible. Rub the meat over with melted buter, dredge thickly with flour, put two quarts of water in the pan and set it in the oven. Allow a quarter of an hour to each pound. Ladle up the gravy over the meat constantly, and dredge on flour a second time. It should be a rich brown when done, but should be a rich brown when done, but should be a rich brown when done, but should be slightly rare, on no account overdone. If not quite thick enough, the gravy should have a little thickening added. This beef is delicious when cold.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS.

Butter a baking dish well and cover the bottom of it with fine bread crumbs, the bottom of it with fine bread crumbs, sprinkle over these many bits of butter and lay on them a layer of oysters. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and many more bits of butter, and another sprinkling of crumbs. Repeat this process of oysters, crumbs and butter until the pan is as full as you want it. Let the last layer be crumbs and butter. Pour over it one teacural of rich sweet cream it one tencupful of rich, sweet cream, and teacupful of oyster liquor. Set the pan in the oven for about fifteen minutes, or until the top is nicely browned. The oven should be hot. There are two essentials in cooking oysters; you should use a plenty of nice butter (it seems to develop their flavor) and they should not be left in the oven a minute after they Lentils, half a pint or one cupful; water, two quarts; seasoning, salt, pep-per and hay leaf. Pick over and wash the lentils, and put them to soak in plenty of cold water over night. In the morning drain off the water, add two quarts of fresh cold water, half a small onion chopped fine, and one bay leaf. Press the whole through a slev or fine colander, return it to the soup kettle, season to taste with salt and per-per, let it boll up once and serve with small squares of toasted bread.

EGG SOUP WITH HAM. For this soup, a ham bone from which all outside smoky surface has been cut away is excellent, or that if not con-venient, a slice of bolled ham (or raw ham scalded in two waters after every bit of outer discolored surface is re-moved) must be used. Pour over it two quarts of cold water. Let it simmer gently an hour, then beat eight eggs and add them to the liquor, using great precantion to prevent curdling. Chop a tablespoonful of parsley very fine, and stir into the soup with two scant tea-spoonfuls of salt and half a level tablespoonful of pepper.

SCRAP SOUP. Put on early the bone and such scraps of roust as are loft over, in three quarts of cold water, adding any gravy that remains. Let it come to a boil slowly, and then boil moderately fast. Mix two tablespoonfuls of butter and two medium tablespoonfuls butter and two medium tablespoonfuls of flour into a paste, which stir into the soup until it dissolves smoothly and the soup boils; season with two tenspoonfuls of salt, and half a saltspoonful of pepper. Poach as many eggs as there after it is in the tureen.
