

BERKLEY NEWS—PORTSMOUTH ADVERTISEMENTS AND TELEGRAPH CONTINUED.

A. J. PHILLIPS. INVENTORY SALE STILL IN PROGRESS!

On Monday Morning, August 21, 9:30 to 10:00 Fruit of Loom and Androscoggin Bleached Cottons, Ten Yards to a Customer, 6c. Yard.

WE HAVE FILLED UP THE WINDOW WITH LADIES' 50c. AND 75c. WAISTS, THEY START TO-DAY FOR 25c. each. SIZES FROM 34 TO 42.

Ladies' Crash and Linen Skirts—the prices on these have been cut to cost. A good chance to get a $1.25 Corset for 50c. in the special lot. 36-inch 5c. Percale for 5c.—at cost price.

NO SAMPLES CUT OFF "SPECIAL SALE GOODS."

A. J. PHILLIPS, 302 and 304 High St. One More Chance

BEFORE WE TAKE INVENTORY FOR THE NEXT THREE DAYS WE OFFER THE FOLLOWING GOODS AT A VERY LOW PRICE: 8x10 12 1/2c. Lawn, 5c. 10c. Cheviot, 5c. 12 1/2c. Percale, 5c. 12 1/2c. Solid Color Lawns, 5c. 12 1/2c. Gingham, 5c.

W. C. NASH, 229 High Street.

1/2 PRICE 1/2 FOR TEN DAYS ONLY

Baseball, Bicycle and Walking SHOES! CALL AND GET A BARGAIN.

W. N. White, 108 High St. Portsmouth, Va.

Green Ginger, 10c. lb. Mixed Spices, 20c. lb.

FOR PICKLING AND PRESERVING. —AT— JEROME P. CARR'S.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DRUGGIST, Corner Court and County Sts. and Green Street, near Bart.

CARR'S ALL-HEALING OINTMENT CURES PILES AND OLD SORES.

WANT TO GO FARMING? I have for sale a farm, 50 acres, nice house, 5 rooms, barn and all necessary out buildings; will sell VERY CHEAP. Call and investigate.

R. S. BROOKS, Real Estate, Rents and Insurance, 229 High St., Portsmouth, Va. Bell phone 222.

BERKLEY LOCAL NEWS AND ADVERTISEMENTS

Mr. Harry Goodman returned Friday afternoon from Baltimore, where he purchased a full stock of furniture.

Mr. W. L. Baillie, who was elected from the Second Ward to fill the vacancy in the Council, caused by the resignation of Mr. T. C. Humphries, qualified before Mayor McCoy Friday.

Rev. T. Claggett Skinner, who has been spending his vacation in the mountains, will occupy his pulpit at the Berkley Avenue Baptist Church this morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Morgan and children left Friday for Elizabeth City, N. C., to spend several weeks.

Miss Caddie Ruggles, accompanied by Miss Rose Mae Porter, her guest, left yesterday for Richmond.

The services of two of the Sanitary Inspectors have been dispensed with, and Messrs. John Berkley and E. L. Deans have been given charge of the Third Ward, which is in need of the services of just such men.

The storm Thursday played havoc with the shade trees on Liberty street. Five were uprooted and the branches of many others were badly broken.

Prof. S. M. Smith, principal of Kenly Institute, Kenly, N. C., is the guest of Rev. M. W. Butler, on Second street. He will be present at the Christian Endeavor Society of Main Street Christian Church and probably address the meeting.

Ladies, your chance this week is at Mr. W. B. Daugherty's department store, Chestnut street. He has just received a new and handsome line of lace and patterns, which he is going to run off in a special sale this week. Call and examine goods.

To you who wear shoes—Mr. H. L. West has them in all styles, sizes and shapes, either for ladies or gents. He is expecting his fall stock in soon and is making room by putting his shoes down at the remarkably low prices which you will see by referring to his add.

Remember Mr. T. C. Humphries is selling out at cost to go out of the shoe business and will quit the business by the 15th of September, and that is the place to get some ripe bargains in shoes. See ad.

St. Thomas' Church, Rev. H. S. Lancaster, rector—Holy Communion, 8 a. m.; morning prayer and sermon, 11 o'clock; evening prayer and sermon, 6 o'clock.

W. H. Butler, in order to advertise his teas and coffees, will to-day only sell these goods at 20 per cent. discount, at No. 5 Berkley avenue. See ad.

AN UMBRELLA THIEF. The propensity of an unknown negro to steal an umbrella that belonged to Mr. P. H. Deans, of the firm of Deans & Gordan, yesterday morning while it was raining caused him a lively chase cannot do otherwise than deny; but he must know that this document is not the only one of his which we have in our hands. I cannot enumerate them, but we have particularly a letter from his government, written on official paper, asking him to obtain official information regarding a vessel of the French navy, and another letter in which he is asked to request the French government officially for three cavalry sabres of a certain pattern. These sabres were asked for and granted through the intermediary of the Third Bureau.

HAS NO CHANCE FOR ACQUITTAL (Concluded From First Page.)

A DENIAL. General Gonse denied that Esterhazy had received money from the Intelligence Department, and, describing the "strange behavior" of Dreyfus and his "frequent acts of indiscretion" the witness begged the court to summon the secretary of the Ministry of War, who surprised the prisoner prying in the offices at a time when there was no business going on there.

THE INTERVIEW WITH PICQUART. General de Boisdeffre, whose evidence was attentively followed especially by the members of the court-martial, related the incidents of his interviews with Picquart, how he sent Picquart to see General Gonse, and General Gonse's subsequent letter to the witness, advising a continuance of the investigations regarding Esterhazy, but adding that the affair must not be mixed up with the Dreyfus affair.

DEFENDS DU PATY DE CLAM. The General then proceeded to defend Du Paty de Clam from the insinuations of Colonel Picquart and corroborated General Mercier's evidence in regard to the alleged confessions made to Captain Lebrun-Renaud.

THE HENRY FORGERY. Dealing with the Henry forgery, General Gonse said: "I can say it was already known. General Roget spoke to me about it at length eight days before Henry confessed."

STATEMENT BY DREYFUS. When Dreyfus was asked the regular question, he said: "I will reply directly to the Secretary of the Ministry of War, who said he saw me in the offices after service hours."

ANOTHER LIE GIVEN. The Prisoner—"I will reply to Secretary Ferret, who has told a lie. What I have to say to General Gonse is that every time a friend came to see me at the Ministry, even when a French officer, I was obliged to descend to the floor below, and even members of the Chamber of Deputies who called on me could not enter the Ministry. It was consequently absolutely impossible under ordinary circumstances for a substitute to bring any one into the Ministry."

COLONEL PICQUART AGAIN. Col. Picquart re-entered the witness box in order to reply to allegations as to the way he performed his duties. He denied a number of General Gonse's assertions regarding the arrests, which the witness ordered.

GENERAL GONSE CALLED. After a brief suspension of the sitting of the court General Gonse, who was under chief of the General Staff, explained the matter which influenced his actions during the past few years and said he believed he was "animated by the loftiest aims, namely, the protection of the army against the criminal attacks made on it from all sides."

A TOAST. "Finally we have a memorandum of the toast proposed by him at the farewell dinner to his comrade and friend Agent 'A' (Schwarzkoppen). The author of the report now alleged to be false referred to it several times in the midst of his toast. In order to recall to him the terms of his toast and to show that our documents are authentic I will recall only the last phrase. After expressing regrets at the departure of 'A' and telling him we should have the best recollections of him, he added, and I quote exactly: 'For a long time I have seen in all the armies of the world, in America and Asia, a will long to be talked about and it will be said A was quite unique.' Major Caignet's statement was apparently designed to prove the authenticity of the Intelligence Department to elicit a vigorous denial.

A SENSATION. Major Carriere, the government's commissary, said he thought it desirable to remark, as the representative of the government, that he must not be understood to endorse all Major Caignet had said with "reference to a foreign military officer who at the present moment held a diplomatic appointment in France." (Sensation.)

THE WITNESS CONFUSED. Witness claimed he thought he was doing his duty "in saying all that is in my mind."

EMILY CRAWFORD'S SUMMARY (Copyright, 1899, by Associated Press.) Rennes, Aug. 19.—Opinions differ as to what the judgment of the Dreyfus tribunal will be. Townspeople who know well General Gorman and General Lucas, of this army corps, think the decision will be against the accused. On the other hand at the Hotel Moderne, which is now the great conversational news center, the idea prevails of a reluctant judgment in his favor.

MORE HOPEFUL. Maitre Demange is more hopeful, although acknowledging the perverse use of the nationalist made of the Scheider and Panizzardi telegrams to inflame patriotic sentiment. That party now demands the full publication of the secret dossier, so as to heap disgrace on the military attaches and the illustrious German Prince involved—a prince who lived long in Paris.

THE MAJORITY. The majority seem to adopt Captain Caignet's opinion. It is thought, though not expressed, that the military attaches have behaved abominably in the Dreyfus affair; that the French government is in possession of numerous specimens of Schneider's handwriting; that the document on which General Mercier relied will bear every test and that it has been accepted by every Minister of War since 1891 and been compared with letters written to six of the French attaches.

MERCIER'S DEMOLISHED THEORY. To-day his task was to destroy the effect of the questions of Maitre Demange and to set up again the demolished theory of General Mercier.

DID NOT RETURN NOTES. Dreyfus, according to the witness, never returned the notes.

MAJORITY'S OPINION. When search was made at his home they were not found. What had become of them? Dreyfus was not the man to cast them away. Caignet's insinuation was that they were sent to Berlin. The conclusion was far-fetched, but the members of the court-martial made a note of it.

GENERAL GONSE CALLED. Caignet then defended Esterhazy against Picquart, and next against Du Paty de Clam. He gave fresh peeps at the secret military dossier, in which are so many ordinary letters from women, opinions on public men, and tittle-tattle of a spicy sort.

GENERAL GONSE CALLED. Caignet said he was sorry the court had not examined this voluminous dossier, which proved a deal of light, sometimes crude light "on spies of different categories, including military attaches." The latter, he remarked, were far from being the only spies regularly kept up by foreign governments. It was only natural, he argued, that the military attaches should accuse Esterhazy, but they knew the traitor had been in the very heart of the citadel, in the general staff.

"The traitor," he exclaimed, "is not Esterhazy, but Dreyfus." Here Captain Dreyfus lost his self control. Starting to his feet, he violently apostrophized Caignet.

COLD AS A TAD. But Caignet did not seem stung to anger. Cold as a tad, he went on with his invective, the diction clear, measured and slow. He constantly drank sweetened water to moisten his palate. New facts were brought forward by Captain Caignet, and every one tired of him.

GENERAL DEBOISDEFRE was also a witness. He denied that Colonel Picquart, on the occasion of the first Dreyfus trial, was sent with secret papers to the president of the court-martial. Here was a cautious witness, but he had to support the other generals. He eulogized the suicide Henry as "worthy of the fullest confidence," and spoke of Picquart as the organizer of the Dreyfus agitation. Boisdeffre declared himself convinced of the guilt of the accused. Really that guilt might be the subject of a chorus of generals in an opera bouffon.

PICQUART ACCUSED. Picquart, he accused of wishing to substitute a man of straw for the real traitor. He argued on this wise: The three years Dreyfus spoke of on the day of his degradation had passed. Prosecution for the crime of treason could, therefore, protect a man of straw from legal consequences. As he was, Picquart, thought, a scamp, a great injury would be done him by throwing on him the odium that Dreyfus deserved. Nevertheless he, (the witness) had learned of Picquart's scheme, black and abominable.

WHY follow General de Boisdeffre? Why follow General Gonse? Why follow General Billot or the others in their long-winded disquisitions? Colonel Picquart at the end was allowed to defend himself against the malignant insinuations and assertions of all.

Until Maitre Demange and Labori speak one should risk no opinion as to the outcome. General Billot thinks there will be many fluctuations before the trial is over, but he confidently expects a verdict of guilty.

The government seems more neutral since the Foreign Minister, M. Delcasse, returned from his visit to Count Muraviev. EMILY CRAWFORD.

MORE PROOF OF INNOCENCE. Vienna, Aug. 19.—The Allgemeine Zeitung says: "Colonel Panizzardi, former military attaché of the Italian embassy in Paris, has in his possession the identical notes on Madagascar, which is specified in the dossier in the Dreyfus affair. It is in Esterhazy's handwriting and the paper is similar to that of the dossier."

"It was sent to Colonel Schwarzkoppen, attaché of the German embassy, who had it copied. The copy was sent to Berlin and the original to Colonel Panizzardi that he might have a copy. This he did but he forgot to return the original to his brother attaché."

WHY ARREST MERCIER. London, Aug. 19.—The Paris correspondent of the Sunday Special says: "The government, I understand, has decided to arrest General Mercier. It is rumored that orders will be given to withdraw the case against Dreyfus, if he has been discovered that the documents relied upon to establish his guilt are forgeries."

TO STRIVE THEM OUT. Paris, Aug. 19.—A strike blockade has been established in the Rue de Chateaufort, and the authorities have this morning begun a regular siege of the building in which M. Guerin and his anti-Semite colleagues have entrenched themselves.

understood to endorse all Major Caignet had said with "reference to a foreign military officer who at the present moment held a diplomatic appointment in France." (Sensation.)

THE WITNESS CONFUSED. Witness claimed he thought he was doing his duty "in saying all that is in my mind."

EMILY CRAWFORD'S SUMMARY (Copyright, 1899, by Associated Press.) Rennes, Aug. 19.—Opinions differ as to what the judgment of the Dreyfus tribunal will be. Townspeople who know well General Gorman and General Lucas, of this army corps, think the decision will be against the accused. On the other hand at the Hotel Moderne, which is now the great conversational news center, the idea prevails of a reluctant judgment in his favor.

MORE HOPEFUL. Maitre Demange is more hopeful, although acknowledging the perverse use of the nationalist made of the Scheider and Panizzardi telegrams to inflame patriotic sentiment. That party now demands the full publication of the secret dossier, so as to heap disgrace on the military attaches and the illustrious German Prince involved—a prince who lived long in Paris.

THE MAJORITY. The majority seem to adopt Captain Caignet's opinion. It is thought, though not expressed, that the military attaches have behaved abominably in the Dreyfus affair; that the French government is in possession of numerous specimens of Schneider's handwriting; that the document on which General Mercier relied will bear every test and that it has been accepted by every Minister of War since 1891 and been compared with letters written to six of the French attaches.

MERCIER'S DEMOLISHED THEORY. To-day his task was to destroy the effect of the questions of Maitre Demange and to set up again the demolished theory of General Mercier.

DID NOT RETURN NOTES. Dreyfus, according to the witness, never returned the notes.

MAJORITY'S OPINION. When search was made at his home they were not found. What had become of them? Dreyfus was not the man to cast them away. Caignet's insinuation was that they were sent to Berlin. The conclusion was far-fetched, but the members of the court-martial made a note of it.

GENERAL GONSE CALLED. After a brief suspension of the sitting of the court General Gonse, who was under chief of the General Staff, explained the matter which influenced his actions during the past few years and said he believed he was "animated by the loftiest aims, namely, the protection of the army against the criminal attacks made on it from all sides."

A TOAST. "Finally we have a memorandum of the toast proposed by him at the farewell dinner to his comrade and friend Agent 'A' (Schwarzkoppen). The author of the report now alleged to be false referred to it several times in the midst of his toast. In order to recall to him the terms of his toast and to show that our documents are authentic I will recall only the last phrase. After expressing regrets at the departure of 'A' and telling him we should have the best recollections of him, he added, and I quote exactly: 'For a long time I have seen in all the armies of the world, in America and Asia, a will long to be talked about and it will be said A was quite unique.' Major Caignet's statement was apparently designed to prove the authenticity of the Intelligence Department to elicit a vigorous denial.

A SENSATION. Major Carriere, the government's commissary, said he thought it desirable to remark, as the representative of the government, that he must not be kept up by foreign governments. It was only natural, he argued, that the military attaches should accuse Esterhazy, but they knew the traitor had been in the very heart of the citadel, in the general staff.

"The traitor," he exclaimed, "is not Esterhazy, but Dreyfus." Here Captain Dreyfus lost his self control. Starting to his feet, he violently apostrophized Caignet.

COLD AS A TAD. But Caignet did not seem stung to anger. Cold as a tad, he went on with his invective, the diction clear, measured and slow. He constantly drank sweetened water to moisten his palate. New facts were brought forward by Captain Caignet, and every one tired of him.

GENERAL DEBOISDEFRE was also a witness. He denied that Colonel Picquart, on the occasion of the first Dreyfus trial, was sent with secret papers to the president of the court-martial. Here was a cautious witness, but he had to support the other generals. He eulogized the suicide Henry as "worthy of the fullest confidence," and spoke of Picquart as the organizer of the Dreyfus agitation. Boisdeffre declared himself convinced of the guilt of the accused. Really that guilt might be the subject of a chorus of generals in an opera bouffon.

PICQUART ACCUSED. Picquart, he accused of wishing to substitute a man of straw for the real traitor. He argued on this wise: The three years Dreyfus spoke of on the day of his degradation had passed. Prosecution for the crime of treason could, therefore, protect a man of straw from legal consequences. As he was, Picquart, thought, a scamp, a great injury would be done him by throwing on him the odium that Dreyfus deserved. Nevertheless he, (the witness) had learned of Picquart's scheme, black and abominable.

WHY follow General de Boisdeffre? Why follow General Gonse? Why follow General Billot or the others in their long-winded disquisitions? Colonel Picquart at the end was allowed to defend himself against the malignant insinuations and assertions of all.

Until Maitre Demange and Labori speak one should risk no opinion as to the outcome. General Billot thinks there will be many fluctuations before the trial is over, but he confidently expects a verdict of guilty.

The government seems more neutral since the Foreign Minister, M. Delcasse, returned from his visit to Count Muraviev. EMILY CRAWFORD.

MORE PROOF OF INNOCENCE. Vienna, Aug. 19.—The Allgemeine Zeitung says: "Colonel Panizzardi, former military attaché of the Italian embassy in Paris, has in his possession the identical notes on Madagascar, which is specified in the dossier in the Dreyfus affair. It is in Esterhazy's handwriting and the paper is similar to that of the dossier."

"It was sent to Colonel Schwarzkoppen, attaché of the German embassy, who had it copied. The copy was sent to Berlin and the original to Colonel Panizzardi that he might have a copy. This he did but he forgot to return the original to his brother attaché."

WHY ARREST MERCIER. London, Aug. 19.—The Paris correspondent of the Sunday Special says: "The government, I understand, has decided to arrest General Mercier. It is rumored that orders will be given to withdraw the case against Dreyfus, if he has been discovered that the documents relied upon to establish his guilt are forgeries."

TO STRIVE THEM OUT. Paris, Aug. 19.—A strike blockade has been established in the Rue de Chateaufort, and the authorities have this morning begun a regular siege of the building in which M. Guerin and his anti-Semite colleagues have entrenched themselves.

BERKLEY ADVTS.

WE MUST HAVE ROOM FOR OUR GET IT ALL OF SHOES. In order to get it all we will cut on the season's goods. Men's $4.99 Tan Shoes, $2.29 Ladies' Oxfords, $1.75 for $1.00; Boys' Black Vici, $2.00, for $1.49; Ladies' $1.50 Oxfords for $1.00. Men's $2.50 Black Vici for $1.75, Men's $2.50 Tans for $1.50. All Summer goods cut.

H. L. WEST, 76 Chestnut Street

AT DAUGHERTY'S

72-74 CHESTNUT STREET. Just received from the importers, a beautiful line of Hamburg Edging, Valenciennes Laces and Insertings. GREAT VALUES, NEW PATTERNS.

NOTICE

In order to close out my stock by September 15th I have made another cut on the prices of my goods. I am selling at cost and some at 50 per cent. below cost.

We have a lot of Ladies' Oxfords for sale at any price, and Ladies' Shoes, which were $1.25, now 95c. A Fine Shoe for $1.50, now $1.10. My Ladies' $3.00 Cinderella Shoe, now $2.10. Gent's $4.00 Vici Kid, Tan or Black, now $2.75. Gent's $3.50 Shoes, $2.40. Men's cheap Shoes from 90c. up. Store for rent after September 15th.

T. C. Humphries, 100 Chestnut St., Berkley, Va

POCAHONTAS COAL

We beg to call the attention of the public that we are Miners' Agents for the Celebrated Pocahontas Steam Coal.

Geo. W. Taylor & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in ANTHRACITE and BITUMINOUS COAL!

61 GRANBY STREET. YARDS—Central Wharf.

SHIPPING PIERS—N. & W. R'y Co, Norfolk and Lambert's Point. 'Phones, 34 and 117.

MADE ME A MAN

AJAX TABLETS POSITIVELY CURE Nervousness, Fainting, Memory, Insanity, Sleeplessness, etc. Used by Abuse and other Persons and Indicated by the name of the Tablets. They restore Lost Vitality in old or young, and is a man for study, business or marriage. It is the only medicine that can be taken in time. They show immediate improvement. It is the only medicine that can be taken in time. They show immediate improvement. It is the only medicine that can be taken in time. They show immediate improvement.

AJAX REMEDY CO., 10 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. For sale in Norfolk, Va., by Burrow, Martin & Co. and R. F. Holmes & Co., druggists.

ALL IN SIGHT, NORTHEAST OF MONUMENT

Corner Jordan's Gate, 334, over Main and Talbot streets.

In Filling Teeth

—much depends upon the honesty of the operator. Only time—but very little time can tell the difference between careful, double work and a careless operator. All of our work is guaranteed, it must be perfect and satisfactory—and remain so.

"Newest Discovery" Painless Extraction. New York Dental Rooms Only J. D. ENNES, Dentist. Office hours, 8 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 5

