osity, having learned that hitching posts are an extinct species in all the large cities. They were common in these parts up to a few years ago, but the number of automobiles has so increased that now in order to duplicate Simpson's specimen it would be necessary to go far into the backwoods.

MONONGAH TO BE A SPOTLESS TOWN

Sanitary Conditions Will Be Discussed At Meeting Tonight.

A meeting which is expected to be a big factor in promoting sanitary conditions in Monongah will be held at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the Lyric Theater in that town. The meeting has been called by Mayor Thomas G. Price and will be attended by all the business men of Monongah and other residents who are interested in better sanitary conditions.

A special invitation for the meeting this evening has been extended to every business man in the town. The principal subject that will be taken up is the disposal of garbage. Heretofore much of the garbage has been dumped along the banks of the Booth's Creek, which has resulted in a most unhealthy condition. At present there is no crematory in Monongah although there is almost 2,500 people residing in the town.

It is the belief of Mayor Price that his town is large enough to have a crematory and that proper sanitary conditions necessitates one. For this reason he has called the meeting that is scheduled for this evening. Immediately after the mass meeting the town council will convene to pass on any decisions reached at the general meeting.

Kelly, secretary and treasurer, and R. F. Carson, general manager. It is understood that the sum changing hands was over $1,000,000.

Gov. Cornwell Helps Spoil New Booze Plot

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 3.—While destruction of a year's accumulation of liquor confiscated by the State Prohibition department was being poured into the water pipes at the state house, the discovery was made that one of the chief janitor's porters had tapped a pipe in the capitol basement and was diverting some of the liquor into a tub. The matter was reported to Governor Cornwell, who made a personal investigation.

The Prohibition department officers searched the new prohibitory act for a section covering the porter's offense, but could find none and he was not arrested, although his tub containing a choice brand of whiskey was confiscated.

INDIAN PRIESTS BRING THE FLAVOR OF PIONEER DAYS TO CATHOLIC SESSION

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 3.—In full Indian regalia of waving feathers, Chief Shooting Hawk and Chief Roaring Flood were a splash of vivid color against the black and purple background of the vestments of 5,000 church dignitaries at the national convention of the Federated Catholic societies at Kansas City.

Their "cathedral" is of logs in a South Dakota reservation parish, every member of which is of Indian blood. They brought the greetings of this,
