

HEINTZELMAN POST ELECTION TONIGHT

One of the Most Important
Meetings in History of Post.

One of the most important meetings of Heintzelman Post of the American Legion that has so far occurred in its history will occur this evening when at a regular meeting in the Court house a new post commander will be elected to succeed Earl H. Smith, resigned.

The selection of a post commander is one of the most important things that the post can consider, and will have more to do with the future success of the organization than possibly anything else. Every member is urged to be present at the meeting this evening and assist in picking the right man.

By-Laws for the post will also be presented at this evening, and this is a thing of great importance. The committee appointed at the last meeting to cooperate with the Red Cross in their membership drive report tonight and steps will be taken for a more complete cooperation between the two organizations.

Reports have been received from other posts of the state, notably Wheeling, Clarksburg, Parkersburg and Huntington, telling of the remarkable growth being experienced by the posts there, and from now on Fairmont will have a hard fight to keep in front on membership.

Sunday is to be American Legion day in all the churches of the nation. Pastors have been asked by Legion headquarters in New York to set this day aside to explain the ideal of the Legion and what they will mean to the nation in the years to come and in the turbulent days of the present.

HOULT

The Coal Strike.
"All is quiet on the Potomac" so far as the strikers are concerned. They are having little to say. It is peculiar that those who know the most and have most to say, especially of a radical nature, are not mine workers at all and have no direct interest in the strike. Some of the men have procured employment elsewhere, and the others are attending strictly to their own business.

Red Cross Campaign.
Indications are that there will be considerable interest in the Red Cross campaign in spite of the strike. Tonight at the church there will be a rally meeting. Rev. C. H. Meredith and Major E. B. Carskadon are the speakers.

Something in the Coal.
Oliver Cummings was painfully hurt a day or two ago when something exploded in the grate cutting him on the arm and body from which he bled profusely. It is supposed that it was a detonating cap lost in the coal by a miner.

New Family Moves In.
A family named Radcliffe has moved into the house purchased of W. F. Houlb by the M. V. T. company for right of way for high tension line.

The French Legion of Honor has a much larger membership than any other prominent order.
