MRS. R. T. BROWN SPEAKS AT F. S. N.

Wife of M. E. South Pass- for Addresses Y. W. C. A. Today

"What shall the year 1922 bring?" was the subject of Mrs. R. T. Brown's address to the members of the Y. W. C. A. of the Fairmont State Normal school, when she spoke to them this morning.

Mrs. Brown urged the young ladies to early consecrate their lives to Christ, emphasizing that he appreciated a fresh young life more than one which had become old and withered.

Mrs. Brown is a woman of charming personality and her every word was followed closely by her audience. The meeting was held in the social room, of the school, which is very attractive. Cretonne curtains, a few portraits some wicker furniture upholstered in cretonne, give the room a cozy appearance.

Mrs. Brown suggested that each one present takes as a motto this year, "Watch Thy Life". She asked the audience to look at the face of a clock, and to let the hour stand for W. 2 for A. 3 for T. 4 for C. 5 for H. 6 for I. 7 for H. 8 for Y. 9 for L. 10 for I. 11 for P. and 12 for E. When the letters are put together they spell the motto "Watch Thy Life," and bring out the point that the motto may be followed every hour of the day.

Then Mrs. Brown said that each letter of the first word of the motto stands for something, as W for words, A for action, T for thoughts, C for companions, H for hearts.

In closing, Mrs. Brown said: "Strength is needed in this 20th century. We'll reap in life just what we sow in our hearts. Watch thy life and this organization. You will receive in proportion to what you give."

FAIRVIEW

Medical Inspector Busy

One of the most progressive measures passed by our local board of education was the introduction of medical inspection in Paw Paw schools. Dr. G. R. Miller began work in this capacity yesterday by examining several of the boys and girls in the Fairview public schools. He was much pleased by conditions as he found them. Aside from a few cases of minor skin eruptions and bad colds, Dr. Miller will make a general examination of all children enrolled in the district schools.

Building Well Equipped

At last the finishing touch has been put on the local high school building and it takes on the appearance of a modern high school. For several years, teachers and students have been laboring under the handicap of too little equipment, but since the beginning of the school year, the principal's office has been fully equipped with modern furniture and filing cabinets; a new domestic science department has been added; a chemistry laboratory has been installed; a moving picture machine and victrola have been purchased; and electric wiring and fixtures have wait until the Marion Construction company has completed the new school building at Dakota Mines, which is now having the finishing touches put upon it. The weather and the lack of suitable building material for several months delayed work on the school which should have been completed by Jan. 1. All available carpenters are now at work and promise to have it completed in a few weeks.

Championship in Doubt

The Farmington lassies' claim for county basketball championship will be stubbornly contested in the next clash which will take place on Farmington's floor in early February. It is the consensus of opinion that her claim is rather a premature one. She has neither met nor defeated Rivesville, and we are betting dollars to doughnuts that a Farmington victory on Rivesville's floor is an almost impossibility. Miss Parrish has been practicing the local hard since their defeat Tuesday night and it is not only probable, but

Apartments Waiting

The new apartment building which is under construction by J. Y. Hamilton has been forced to very likely that the local high school will win from Rivesville here and from Farmington at Farmington. If you don't believe me, ask any of the Fairview girls.
