

REINMUTH QUOTES HEALTH REPORTS

Official of Robinson Ice Cream Co. Discusses Pasteurization.

Alleged loss of vitamins in pasteurized milk was discussed by William G. Reinmuth, superintendent of plants for the Robinson Ice Cream Co., in a statement issued this afternoon.

"That none of the essential vitamins are lost is indicated by a report from John R. Murlin, department of physiology, University of Rochester, N. Y.," said Mr. Reinmuth's statement. "Mr. Murlin's report is as follows:

"During the past year the department of vital economics has been conducting a milk station in an Italian district in this city (Rochester), and has been dispensing at cost, in co-operation with the Rotary Club of this city, pasteurized milk for the use of children under 7 years of age. Altogether some 300 children have been benefited by the station, and many of them have shown remarkable gain in body weight and stature. We also have many instances of children who were not making the normal growth until milk was started, after which growth was obviously stimulated. If the pasteurization of milk destroyed any of the essential vitamins, these results could not have been obtained."

Mr. Reinmuth also called attention to a report by Dr. Fritz B. Talbot, chief of children's medical department, Massachusetts General Hospital, Mr. Talbot is the author of several books, including "Diseases of Nutrition and Infant Feeding." The part of his report quoted by Mr. Reinmuth is as follows:

"I believe that the danger from possibility of such epidemics as scarlet fever, streptococci, sore throat, and so forth, can only be guarded against by the pasteurization of the milk supply. The case recently reported in the Newport Daily News is quite an interesting one. It was, of course, a typical case of scurvy. Scurvy can be prevented by the use of orange juice and this same child would have been cured as quickly as quickly on the pasteurized as on the unpasteurized milk."

A report by Dr. William H. Park, director of laboratories, New York City Department of Health, was also mentioned by Mr. Reinmuth. It follows:

"In New York City the infants in the milk feeding station receive pasteurized milk and with advice as to the orange juice, none appear to develop an unsatisfactory condition. I think that all health authorities believe that the ordinary milk should be pasteurized, as it is otherwise impossible to prevent the spread of tuberculosis, typhoid fever and diphtheria in the young who consume it."

LAST CHAUTAUQUA NUMBER SUCCESS

Dancer, Vocalist and Violinist
Please at Old Normal School Grounds.

Miss Holland Fitch of Indianapolis, dancer, Mrs. Jeannette Falconer of Fairmont, vocalist, and Frank Delligatti of Philadelphia, violinist, presented a pleasing program yesterday evening as the last number of the Railroad Chautauqua and Jubilee held on the old Normal School grounds.

Miss Fitch, a beautiful 14-year-old dancer, delighted the audience with several dances, including "The Last Rose of Summer," an interpretation of "The Vandy Dance," and a Spanish dance.

Miss Fitch came here from Chicago where she has been doing big-time dancing. She is a graduate of Hester Bally of Indianapolis, world-famous dancing instructor. Miss Fitch is now booked with leading theaters all over the country and will dance at the summer home of Governor Ralston of Indiana.

No less pleasing were the vocal numbers of Mrs. Jeannette Falconer who sang numbers by Mozart-Porgi Amore and Won So Piu cosa Son. "Last Night" by Haskin Kjerulf, "Juenesse" by Rose Hea-

GEN. TERRAZAS HONORED TODAY

Mexican Statesman-Millionaire Spends 94th Birthday in Native City.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, June 21.—Cards, letters and telegrams from many places in the United States and Mexico were received here today by Gen. Luis Terrazas, tokens of esteem, and greetings on this day, his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary.

Congratulations did not come by mail and wire alone, as hundreds of persons greeted him face to face today. Many among them were Mexicans who had known the aged general all their lives.

A penniless orphan when 10 years old, General Terrazas first learned the value of hard work. Then he became a soldier, an officer in the army, a general, governor of Mexico's largest state, a Mexican patriot and statesman, a multi-millionaire.

He is spending his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary in the city of his birth, having been an exile for seven years, but who since has been welcomed back to his native land.

Since 1920 he has been living here in his old palatial mansion. He still daily conducts a little business at least. He still maintains an office, and goes to and from home daily. During the seven years of his exile he lived in El Paso, Texas, and Los Angeles. He was driven out by Villa's army, after the death of one of his sons, who was captured by Villa, and held in prison until he died from exposure. His exile began in 1913, and in 1920, President Obregon welcomed him back to Mexico.

French Defeated
The general's first notable exploit was in 1866 when he led a force of Mexicans against Chihuahua City, which was then held by the French under Maximilian. Although greatly outnumbered Terrazas's men took the city, and turned the tide in the revolution against the French invaders which was under way in Chihuahua by Benito Juarez.

Before this time, however, he had made a success as a soldier, and as chief of police of Chihuahua City. His first business success was managing butcher shops here. After service as police chief, he became mayor, and then was elected governor. For years his candidacy, if such it could be called, was never opposed.

Vast Acreage Owned
Section after section of land became his after he and his followers had settled on it undisputed. Many grants were given to him by the government. At times he owned more than half the state of Chihuahua, and on a railroad train a person could travel day and night and never get entirely across his lands. His estate was estimated at various times between 1,000,000 and 70,000,000 acres, but it is a fact that he owned and controlled for years 7,000,000 on which there were thousands of horses, cows and sheep. At that time he was the largest land owner in the world, his friends declared, and his wealth was estimated at $200,000,000.

Villa's men did inestimable damage to the general's estate. Terrazas lost houses, land and thousands of head of stock. His followers were killed, and all he

MOST ACCIDENTS OCCUR ON SIDE OF FIREMAN

Most accidents in which automobiles and vehicles figure at grade crossings occur on the fireman's side of the engine, declares Ernest Bartlett, Fairmont, B. & O. trainmaster, in a statement to the railroaders of that system in connection with the drive now being waged to eliminate grade crossing accidents. He declares that 54 per cent of the accidents occur that way and cautions firemen to be on the lookout when locomotives are approaching crossings.

possessed and controlled was thrown into confusion by the Villaistas and the bandits which followed Villa from 1910 to 1920.

May Lose All
When he returned in 1920, he found that his estate, long left idle, has been confiscated, or appropriated under the expropriation laws. The expropriation of his estate is still pending, and if the government carries out its decree he will lose practically all he has, except his palatial homestead.

As far as can be learned, General Terrazas is the sole survivor of the battle of Chihuahua City, famous in the annals of Mexican history.

General Terrazas had twelve children and most of them are living. His wife died in Los Angeles in 1919 at the age of 86.

The general declares he will live to be 100. He prays, he said, to outlive his enemy, Francisco Villa, so in the next world he can "rebuque his for his sins." Villa is not 50 yet, and is much stronger than Terrazas.

TAX REVALUATION PROGRAM PRAISED

By CLYDE H. EAST
CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 21.—Mr. J. Cullinan of Wheeling, who was a visitor here expressing great interest in the state's administration of the assessment laws and the progress of revaluation being carried out by the assessors under the supervision of Tax Commissioner W. S. Hixson.

Mr. Cullinan is chairman of the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce committee appointed to make an investigation of the revaluation proposition and of the increase in assessments in all counties of the state. While here he said he has found the tax commissioner's program is progressing in an "equitable, impartial and satisfactory manner," adding that his committee is well pleased at the results.

The Wheeling visitor voiced confidence and that of the paper's chamber of commerce in the state tax department, particularly in the way the law is being enforced in the coal producing counties of Southern West Virginia. He said his committee has made a quiet investigation of the situation and has found that the law is being carried out to the letter as it affects coal production and all other industries.

"I feel the revaluation program will result in a great reduction of tax rates throughout the state through the assessment of property at its true and actual value," Mr. Cullinan said. He added that in Wheeling the valuation will be increased about 35 per cent and that the rate of levy will be reduced proportionally. In addition to the reduction, the citizens will "have the satisfaction of knowing, that property is uniformly assessed throughout the state," he said.

The good-will and reputation for making dependable products which this company has among the great motoring public has taken years to build up and is today its greatest asset.

There's No Mystery About Gasoline

If two refiners had the same equipment and access to the same supply of crude oil they could both make good gasoline IF they both had the same amount of skill. But the fact remains that there are wide variations in the gasoline sold today, just as there are good, bad and indifferent clothes, bakers' pies and automobile tires.

Your motor will run on most any gasoline. It has been demonstrated that a balanced fuel will run it better and more economically than gasoline that is haphazard.

"Standard" is carefully refined to give a balanced, well-rounded performance in your motor. It has light, intermediate and heavy constituents that always insure quick starting, full power and maximum mileage.

To get the best results from "Standard" Gasoline use Polarine Oil—a right grade for every car.

WHEN you look at a 30 x 3 1/2 USCO at $10.90 think back for a minute as far as you can remember USCO.

The truth is that men have always found USCO an outstanding money's worth no matter what its price.

Today at $10.90 USCO maintains its established standard of quality.

And because of the new price, it sets a new index of tire value.

Men who have used USCO have never been inclined to measure its.

value by the general run of tires.

Since last fall when USCO established the $10.90 price range they have recognized it as a value beyond any possible comparison.

A still greater money's worth than even USCO itself had reached before.
