JACK DAW IN MIDGETVILLE

Drawings by Leslie Eitar. Story by Hal Cochran.

Chapter 9

Jack had hardly started with his little load of midgets, when one of them shouted, "You'd better slow down or we will be arrested for speeding."

The peculiar sights were very interesting to Jack. In fact, Midgetville looked like a lovely village, with its little streets and tiny houses and stores.

Flip barked loudly when Jack handed a loaf of bread. He, too, was hungry, and when a midget tossed him a bone he swallowed it whole.

Movie Colony Has Heart Failure as Mountaineers Yell

By O. DOTELL.

West Virginia's football men, while in Los Angeles en route home, visited Hollywood, the home of the movie birds. They escaped alive without damage after giving the college yell.

PENN STATE ELEVEN WORKS ON DEFENSE

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 28.—Coach Hugo Bezdek of Penn State is concentrating on defensive football in practice at the Rose Bowl here in preparation for the game against the University of Southern California at the annual Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day.

In workouts Bezdek has his second string men play on the offensive throughout, and they are making no gain against the heavy Nitany Lions.

The Trojans also are holding daily workouts.

MOUNTAINEERS IN EAST FORM CLUB

The West Virginia Association of New England (successor to the West Virginia Club of Boston) was formed this year through the desire of West Virginians in New England to get together for the education of their youth.

The association is trying in a modest way to minimize the feeling, present all over the country, and particularly in New England, that West Virginia is absolutely the worst place harboring the worst kind of people to be found anywhere.

Then, too, the social part of the association is a very big part of it. The meetings are held once a month, and a dinner is usually served, after which, some prominent son or daughter of the state speaks for a few minutes and then comes the social hour when everyone gets to know everyone else and West Virginia is the topic of conversation.

The association has an enrollment of over 125, but owing to the great distances of some of the members from the city of Boston, the average attendance is about forty persons.

Lieut. Col. Walter C. Sweeney of Wheeling, who was the head of the censorship department in the A. E. F., spoke to the association at its last meeting and told of many of his experiences in the Spanish-American, Philippine and World wars.

Those enrolled from Fairmont are Joseph Hardley and H. Earl Fear.

COLLEGIATE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION CONVENES

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Important matters concerning with college athletics were slated for discussion today at the fifteenth annual convention of the Collegiate Athletic Association. Among questions expected to be called were changes in the organization's constitution, formation generally among colleges of sectional "conferences" similar to those now in existence in the West, and proposed membership in the American Olympic Association and the National Amateur Athletic Federation.

EVOLUTION OF FOOTBALL INTO PARCHESI FORESEEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Football will degenerate into parchesi if reformers succeed in having adopted rules tending to minimize the physical aggressiveness of the game, in the opinion of Frank Cavanaugh, coach of the Boston College eleven, who was a star on rugged Dartmouth teams a few years ago.

At the meeting of the American Football Coaches' Association yesterday he objected to a proposal to eliminate side clipping because it would take much away from the fundamentals of the sport.

"We will soon come to a period," he said, "when rules will be introduced to the effect that players will not be allowed to band their necks and then we will all adjourn to the parchesi board and have a good time."
