MORRISVILLE

Mrs. Martha Safford celebrated her 90th birthday February 26 by giving a reception to her many friends from two until five o'clock in the afternoon. A register was provided in which over 125 registered, many with some pleasant sentiment. The guests were served with ice cream and cake, and, at their departure, were given an orange and a piece of large birthday cake in which were placed 90 candles. The dining room was decorated with evergreens, the color scheme being green and gold. In the evening many of "Aunt Martha's" little friends were in to see her, and to those who were unable to go, cake and fruit were sent. During the afternoon original poems were read by the writers, Miss Celia Thompson and Mrs. J. Frank Thomas. Mrs. Ila Niles Jackson rendered a song which by request of Aunt Martha was "I Love to Tell the Story," which has been a favorite of hers for 40 years. Mrs. Safford was the recipient of a large quantity of cut flowers and potted plants, an electric library lamp, books, fruit, candy and a large number of letters and cards from friends who lived at a distance and were unable to be present. Aunt Martha insisted that her flowers should be distributed Thursday among the "shut-ins" in the village. Aunt Martha has been a member of the First Congregational Church for 57 years, or during her whole life in Morrisville, and while she may not be the oldest person in town, thinks she has lived continuously in town longer than any other person. In receiving her friends, she was as chipper as ever, and has retained her faculties to a wonderful degree. She derived a great amount of pleasure in acting as hostess and enjoyed the occasion to the fullest. Photographs were made by Bentely during the forenoon.
