

CEMENT 'TRUST' IS CITED INTO COURT BY U. S.

Conspiracy to Violate Federal Law Charged in Suit Filed Against Many Manufacturers.

DENVER, Jan. 12.—Charging that Charles Boettcher, Claude K. Boettcher of Denver and M. D. Thatcher, Pueblo and 15 others manufacturers are in a conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law, the United States government has filed a dissolution and injunction suit in the federal district court of Denver, citing the Cement Securities company and six other cement manufacturing companies as being in the alleged combination to restrain of competition and trade.

The complaint was filed by United States District Attorney J. Foster Syme at the direction of Attorney General Daugherty. The complaint is signed by the United States attorney general and several of his assistants.

The cement corporations alleged to be in the combination with the Cement Securities company are: The Colorado Portland Cement company; the Three Forks Portland Cement company; the United States Portland Cement company; the Oklahoma Portland Cement company; the Nebraska Portland Cement company and the Union Portland Cement company.

The first four companies are said to have their executive offices in Denver while the Union has headquarters at Ogden, Utah.

Five million barrels of cement are manufactured annually by the companies named in the suit, according to the allegation in the complaint.

Charles Boettcher, it is cited, is president and director of all of the companies named with Claude K. Boettcher is vice president or director, or both of all the companies. The other defendants named in the complaint are alleged to be directors or officers.

The Cement Securities company, the complaint alleges was forged in Denver in 1908. Shortly after, it is charged, it began to acquire and absorb the other corporations and to direct their manufacturing, sales and distribution policy. Absolute control of the cement industry in Idaho, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, Oregon, Washington, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas Oklahoma and Texas is charged in the complaint.

Manhattan Dance Orchestra to Open At Terrace Gardens

An announcement of interest to dancing circles of the city is to the effect that the popular Schomburg orchestra, now known as the Manhattan dance orchestra, has again returned of the city and will hold a grand opening in the Terrace Gardens dance hall tomorrow evening.

The orchestra has just returned from an engagement in the Marchetti Roma cafe, Los Angeles, where they scored a great success. The personnel of the orchestra includes five of the members who are well known here. Dewey Powell is with the orchestra playing the banjo, Rollins, the drummer has returned, and Brodus, clarinet, is still in his old position. The orchestra is of six pieces and the new additions promises to become as popular as the members who are already familiar here.

Rex Mayne will be the entertainer in connection with the orchestra and the musicians will open the hall with the latest songs and dance pieces. The Terrace Gardens have been put in perfect condition by the Lloyd Realty company, who have taken over the amusement hall. The walls have been redecorated and the floor has been refinished in the best style for dancing. The ventilation system has proved satisfactory and every possible detail has been arranged for the grand opening dance tomorrow night.

BROKE UP HOUSEKEEPING

"We had to break up housekeeping because of my wife's stomach trouble. No medicine did her any good for more than a few hours. On a visit to Oshkosh a friend praised May's Wonderful Remedy so highly my wife tried it and she has enjoyed the best of health since taking it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

DESERTER HELD FOR STEALING IS IDENTIFIED

Cheyenne Chief Comes Across Important Discovery in Investigating Case of Prisoner.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 12.—From a tangled skein of evidence, claims counter claims—arising out of a complaint that a coat had been stolen, Chief of Police George Treastle has definitely established one fact—that Joseph Sanchez was a deserter from the United States army, and Sanchez is held for the military authorities at Fort Russell.

First appeared a man who claimed his coat had been stolen by a man much larger than he, who literally had taken it off his back on the street. Police sallied forth and captured the accused, who strenuously protested that he had not stolen the coat, but merely had recovered his own property. Appeared then a colored person who asserted that he had purchased the coat and had presented it to the man from whom it was taken by the larger man. Asked to produce the man from whom he had bought the coat, the negro brought in Sanchez, who substantiated the colored person's story to the extent of the sale of the coat. Incidentally Sanchez related that the man accused of stealing his coat had been his "buddie" and was merely running a bluff in an attempt to get something for nothing, knowing that Sanchez had sold the coat and believing, when he observed the garment on a person other than the negro to whom it had been sold, that he could bluff the warden into giving it up. The use of the word "buddie" by Sanchez started the chief of police on a line of questioning which ended only when Sanchez admitted that he had been a soldier, had served overseas and in America after the war, and had deserted thirteen days ago.

The coat eventually was restored to the man to whom the negro had given it, and the big man, who had attempted to get away with it was permitted to go without prosecution.

FACTS ABOUT "THEODORA"

More than two years were required in the making of "Theodora."

Actual production cost exceeded $3,000,000, even at the present rate of exchange.

A cast of 25,000 was employed; the entire number appear in some of the scenes.

It was produced by the Unione Cinematografica Italiana.

It was directed by Commendatore Ambrosio, who gave the world "Cabiria" and many of the other big Italian spectacles.

Principals include the greatest actors of all Europe with Rita Jolivet as the empress.

Forty half-starved lions were loosed on thousands of actors to afford the realism for the great hippodrome scene.

An entire hillside just outside Rome and including 100,000 square meters was purchased for the production at a cost of more than 3,000,000 lire.

Twenty gigantic sets, reproducing forums, amphitheatres, palaces, pavilions and gardens, built of stone and marble, were constructed for the sets.

Armando Brasini, famous architect of the vatican, designed all of these magnificent sets.

Over 30,000 different costumes, all of which were made especially for this production, were required.

Cloaks worn by Theodora and Justinian were made of the cloth of gold and were so valuable that they have been reserved in the Imperial Library at Rome.

Manufacture of the arms and accoutrements, chariots, trappings and furnishings occupied the entire time of one of the largest factories in Italy more than six months.

So vast was the assemblage of actors for the production that the Italian government assigned a regiment of cavalry to keep order.

More than 500,000 feet of film were exposed in making the negative; at times batteries of thirty motion picture cameras were employed.

The story follows faithfully the drama written by Victorien Sardou, one of the greatest names in all literature.

It was originally the vehicle of Sarah Bernhardt and has been played by many world-famed actresses.

"Theodora" was brought to America by Samuel Goldwyn, who witnessed the making of many of the scenes in Italy.

Since October 10 "Theodora" has been running sensationally at the Astor Theater, New York, with admission as high as $2. Similar high prices have been charged in Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh and all the great eastern cities.

The Iris Theater will show this international triumph in Casper.

The enormous cost of bringing this great production to Casper necessitates an increase in admission. The matinee will be 50c, plus tax, while the evening performances will be 75c, plus tax.

"Theodora" is the greatest of world photoplays. To miss seeing "Theodora" would be to lose track of civilization's progress. It is more than a photoplay. It is an immortal achievement.
