No issue of The Echo next week, according to the annual custom.

The holiday season is on and every body is happy, at least, they should be.

Miss Georgette Brandao is home for the holidays from her studies at South Mississippi College, Hattiesburg.

Miss Adele Rexach went down to New Orleans Tuesday morning to visit relatives and friends and will remain until after the holidays.

Miss Pauline McDonald, the accomplished daughter of Judge and Mrs. W. T. McDonald, is home from Ovidburg, Miss., for the holidays.

Mrs. B. B. Rosser and son, of Montgomery, Ala., are permanently located here, and are domiciled in a State street cottage near the beach front.

Mr. Lloyd Guerra is home from Atlanta, Ga., to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother, Mrs. Carrie Mattox and the friends of his boyhood days.

Judge J. A. Breath, Mrs. L. Eagan and daughters and Miss Edwige Saucier spent Christmas in New Orleans with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Calogne.

Mrs. Beyer, and son, Mr. Nolan Peyroux, came out from New Orleans during the week to spend the holiday season with the former's mother, Mrs. C. C. Fayard, and family in State street.

Dr. J. A. Evans spent yesterday in New Orleans, where he took dinner under the parental roof. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Johnnie, who will remain until the end of next week.

Mr. Robert Briggs blew in a few days since from college for the holidays on a visit to his mother, Mrs. C. C. Briggs and family in Union street. He is a student at the Texas A. & M. College.

Mr. C. C. McDonald is home from L. S. U. at Baton Rouge for the holidays; his sister, Miss Mary M., attending Whitworth College, at Brookhaven, is also welcomed home for the Christmas season.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Rea and daughter Ethel are spending the Christmas holidays with Mr. Rea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rea, at Wesson, Miss., as is their annual custom.

Misses Rosetta and Lucy McGinn have gone down to New Orleans, where they will spend the holiday week visiting relatives and friends and generally enjoying the sights and pleasures of the holiday season in the big city.

Mrs. O. Fayard has been spending quite a while in New Orleans at the bedside of Mrs. George Walker, who died on the eve of Christmas, mother of her friend, Mrs. A. P. Vautrain, well-known here by reason of frequent visits to the Bay.

Master Granville Williams is home from college at Asheville, N. C., for the holidays, also: Miss Nellie Williams from Newcomb College, New Orleans. They are warmly welcomed home by a host of their younger and older friends as well.

A delightful feature of the local Christmas celebrations will be the tree entertainment Tuesday night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Firsching for the children of the Episcopal church Sunday School and their friends. The tree will be large and heavily laden and many are the little hearts to be made happy on so memorable an occasion. This entertainment is planned to take the place of the one to have occurred at the Wisner home.

Dr. C. L. Horton is spending the week in New Orleans, mingling with the medical fraternity and visiting the different hospitals, sanitariums in the interest of his practice and profession generally. Dr. Horton for a number of years practiced medicine and surgery in New Orleans, was associated with leading physicians and is well and popularly known.

CHRISTMAS TREE ENTERTAINMENT BY WEBB SCHOOL PUPILS

To make others happy is praiseworthy at all times, to make the children happy is blessed, to warm their little hearts with the joys of Christmas tide is thrice praiseworthy and blessed.

At Woodmen Hall Wednesday night some seventy-five children of the R.W. School were made immeasurably happy on the occasion of a Christmas tree entertainment, evolved and planned by the principal of the school, Miss M. H. Edwards, and assisted by Miss Gussie Ansley, school assistant, with the material and substantial co-operation of friends of these teachers, the school and children generally, not forgetting the House Committee of the Woodmen, who gave the use of the hall and illumination gratis. Mr. R. W. Webb, after whom the school was named, contributed liberally; Mr. John Osinach, friend of the school all the time, gave the tree and labor of getting and setting it in position. These and others, who assisted in making the programme and contributing their talent participated in this beautiful charity-making the children happy at Christmas time.

In summing up the "credit to whom credit is due," for the final success of the entertainment the children who participated must not be forgotten. Their work, their efforts, formed an integral part of the evening's entertainment, and their names must not be forgotten.

The programme, assisted by outside talent, was as follows:

Opening Song, "Praise the King," by the school.

"The First Christmas, (original) Miss Beatrice Hymel.

"Christmas," pupils of Miss Ansley's room.

Song—"Jesus, Dear Jesus," Miss Cleo Osinach.

Recitation—"Little Town of Bethlehem," Marguerite Egloff.

Song—"The Palms," Miss J. Evans.

Santa Claus, pupils of Miss Ansley's room.

Song—"Christmas Bells," by the school.

Recitation—"The Bethlehem Star," Lucille Hymel.

Song—"The Angel's Song, Misses McCung.

Recitation—"The Night Before Christmas," Robert Ehren.

Song—"Holy Night," Mrs. Crump.

Santa Visits the School—by Santa and the school.

Song—"Circle Round the Christmas Tree," by twenty boys and girls.

Lighting the Tree—Vivian Manieri, Lucille Hymel, Olga Laurent, Olga Wal-kart, Anna Ramond.

A Christmas wish, the school's wish to the Audience, Robert Crump.

Song—"Peace Anthem, by the audience.

Distribution of gifts—By Santa.

This programme, as indicated above, was followed by the distribution of gifts from the tree by Santa himself, the dear little man, always so jolly, as Clement C. Moore describes him in his immortal poem, "The Night Before Christmas,—

He had a broad face and a little round belly, That shook when he laughed, like a bowl of jelly.

He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.

An interesting event at Kiln on Sunday, December 20th, was the marriage of Mr. J. E. Gartrell, of the Jordan River Lumber Company, to Miss Leonora Vance, of Poplarville, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Pettibone Rev. G. A. Guice, of the Main Street Methodist Church, this city. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gartrell left for a short visit to New Orleans. They will reside at the Kiln. The Echo extends heartfelt best wishes and congratulations.

Miss Rosetta McGinn, teacher of the fifth grade and short hand classes at the Central School, after school hours Wednesday entertained the members of both classes privately on the occasion of Christmas. While no outsider was admitted to this entire celebration judging from comments (overheard) by the favored members of both classes we understand the affair was ever so enjoyable and ample justice was done to the good things to eat and drink. Miss Rosetta is one of the successful and popular teachers of the central school faculty.

CANDY MAKING FOR THE MARKET IS A BAY ENTERPRISE.

From the manufacture of one product, the Bay Candy Company, of Bay St. Louis, has succeeded so that it is now manufacturing and has placed on the market seven varieties of candy, all good sellers, and which have come to stay.

The Bay Candy Company is destined to great things. About a year ago it had its origin in a humble manner. A product, now well-known as "Aint It Good" peanut bar was manufactured and placed on the local market. Soon the fame, backed by its 100 per cent. good qualities, spread and other towns are now being supplied with this delicious confection. Other brands followed and one and all have met with about an equal success as the first. The seven products are: Aint It Good Peanut Bars, Sure It's Good Peanut Bars, Trimore Koko Taffy Candy, Pecanola Pecan Bars, Chocolate Co-nut Cream Bars, Cosmopolitan Cream Bars, Cocoonut Brittle Bars.

A representative of The Echo spent quite a while at the plant of the Bay Candy Company, located in Main street, in a new building of its own, and where cleanliness is the paramount thought, and was impressed with the activity in and about the place and to learn of the amount of orders that are being supplied for home and outside.

A. A. Beals is the head of the "candy kitchen." What he doesn't know about candy making is not worth knowing. His knowledge of candy making put in books would perhaps fill a Carnegie library. He is a walking encyclopedia on the subject. He has been at the trade from time to time all his life, working at different times in the largest candy factories of Kansas City, Chicago and elsewhere.

Heinz began with one variety of pickles; he now has 57. Beals began with one kind for the Bay Candy Co. and the different varieties that his recipes can produce would make the famous "57" pale into insignificance. It is said Heinz plodded along for nearly a dozen years before he put a second variety on the market.

The proprietor is W. A. Bishop, wide-awake business man, who saw the possibilities for a business manufacturing only pure and wholesome products.

Only the purest and best of materials are employed in the manufacture.

Mr. Bishop, a townsman patriotic to the core, is an ardent advocate of the buy-at-home idea. That is his propaganda and he practices what he preaches. All syrups used are not only pure, but home-made. Breath's Farm supplying the Bay Candy Company, — one home enterprise patronizing the other, and both deserving and worthy of success.

The Bay Candy Company's products are always fresh. Not "made last night" for the next day, but "made today" for today.

Mr. Bishop's enterprise is worthy of success and The Echo feels gratified to note that the local business houses are patronizing him in his efforts, which, if successful to the greatest extent, will mean so much for Bay St. Louis.

CHRISTMAS DINNER AT BEAUVOIR HOME

Biloxi, December 24.

Christmas will be observed at the Jefferson Davis Confederate home at Beauvoir by the enjoyment of one of the most elaborate spreads in the history of the institution. The dinner will be served tomorrow afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock and will consist of the very choicest viands of the season, with a background of a score or more of turkeys that have been slaughtered for the occasion.

Oysters, fruits, nuts and various other things will be served, in effort being made to have every soldier and lady inmate enjoy himself and herself to the very fullest extent. The coaching for the dinner has been under way for several days.

He had a broad face and a little round belly, That shook when he laughed, like a bowl of jelly. He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.
