NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Mr. James E. Miller, of West Virginia, has been elected Secretary of State. Agreement has been reached between Mr. J. H. G. Miller and Mr. J. H. T. Miller on the railroad. The French government is expediting the removal of the boundary between French and Spanish territory. The Chisholm Trail is said to be in deadly condition. The Chisholm Trail is said to be in deadly condition. The Chisholm Trail is said to be in deadly condition.

LIVINGSTON NEWS.

The legislature opened its session at Helena on Saturday, May 15th. The Hon. J. H. G. Miller, the Hon. J. H. T. Miller, and the Hon. J. H. W. Miller are all members of the legislature. The Hon. J. H. T. Miller is chairman of the committee on public buildings and improvements. The Hon. J. H. W. Miller is chairman of the committee on education. The Hon. J. H. G. Miller is chairman of the committee on appropriations.

The legislature passed the following bill: An act to provide for the support of the public schools. The act provides that the public schools shall be supported by a tax on real and personal property. The tax shall be levied at the rate of one hundred dollars per thousand dollars of assessed value. The tax shall be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the number of children in the respective counties. The tax shall be payable in June of each year.

The legislature passed the following bill: An act to provide for the support of the public schools. The act provides that the public schools shall be supported by a tax on real and personal property. The tax shall be levied at the rate of one hundred dollars per thousand dollars of assessed value. The tax shall be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the number of children in the respective counties. The tax shall be payable in June of each year. The act further provides that the school boards shall have power to levy additional taxes for the support of the public schools.

The legislature passed the following bill: An act to provide for the support of the public schools. The act provides that the public schools shall be supported by a tax on real and personal property. The tax shall be levied at the rate of one hundred dollars per thousand dollars of assessed value. The tax shall be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the number of children in the respective counties. The tax shall be payable in June of each year. The act further provides that the school boards shall have power to levy additional taxes for the support of the public schools.

The legislature passed the following bill: An act to provide for the support of the public schools. The act provides that the public schools shall be supported by a tax on real and personal property. The tax shall be levied at the rate of one hundred dollars per thousand dollars of assessed value. The tax shall be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the number of children in the respective counties. The tax shall be payable in June of each year. The act further provides that the school boards shall have power to levy additional taxes for the support of the public schools.

The legislature passed the following bill: An act to provide for the support of the public schools. The act provides that the public schools shall be supported by a tax on real and personal property. The tax shall be levied at the rate of one hundred dollars per thousand dollars of assessed value. The tax shall be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the number of children in the respective counties. The tax shall be payable in June of each year. The act further provides that the school boards shall have power to levy additional taxes for the support of the public schools.

The legislature passed the following bill: An act to provide for the support of the public schools. The act provides that the public schools shall be supported by a tax on real and personal property. The tax shall be levied at the rate of one hundred dollars per thousand dollars of assessed value. The tax shall be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the number of children in the respective counties. The tax shall be payable in June of each year. The act further provides that the school boards shall have power to levy additional taxes for the support of the public schools.