The Penobscots offer a fair example of what education and school training can do for the Indian. This tribe is on an island in the Penobscot river, near Old Town, Me., and still maintains its tribal organization, elects its chief and council, and makes its own laws. Although the village is no longer made up of birch-bark wigwams, it is composed of attractively built houses, varying from a one-room shanty to the two-story dwelling of the modern American type, with parlor, dining-room, and kitchen on the first floor. There are also a church and two halls, in the latter of which public meetings and festal gatherings are held. They have a substantial and well-planned schoolhouse, lacking nothing but books, of a proper and sufficient kind. Not only does the schoolhouse and its pupils feel this lack, but the older Indians are eager for good reading matter. History is their favorite subject, and next to this they prefer stories of travels and accounts of birds and animals. Anyone having books which he would like to donate to some charitable purpose may rest assured that they will be appreciated to their full worth by those Penobscot Indians. They may be sent direct to the Indian village, addressed Penobscot Indian Library, Old Town, Me., or they may be sent to Mr. Montague Chamberlain, Quincy hall, Cambridge, who is keenly interested in the welfare of these Indians—the original American stock.

A Beautiful Present

In order to further introduce ELASTIC STARCH (Flat Iron Brand), the manufacturers, I. C. Hubinger Bros. Co., of Keokuk, Iowa, have decided to GIVE AWAY a beautiful present with each package of starch sold. These presents are in the form of Beautiful Pastel Pictures

They are 13x16 inches in size, and are entitled as follows:

Lilacs and Pansies.
Wild American Poppies.
Pansies and Marguerites.
Lilacs and Iris.

These rare pictures, four in number, by the renowned pastel artist, R. LeRoy, of New York, have been chosen from the very choicest subjects in his studio and are now offered for the first time to the public. The pictures are accurately reproduced in all the colors used in the originals, and are pronounced by competent critics, works of art. Pastel pictures are the correct thing for the home, nothing surpassing them in beauty, richness of color and artistic merit. One of these pictures will be given away with each package of purchased of your grocer. It is the best laundry starch on the market, and is sold for 10 cents a package. Ask your grocer for this starch and get a beautiful picture.
