

CAPITOL HILL

COMMISSION HEARS NEW CASES LATE YESTERDAY

Borough of Gettysburg Applied For Certificate of Public Convenience Authorizing It to Construct Electric Light Plant For Street Lighting

The proposition as to whether a municipality can install an electric light plant and light its streets to the detriment of a corporation that is now performing the service was presented to the Public Service Commission late yesterday. It came up on the application of the borough of Gettysburg for a certificate of public convenience authorizing it to construct a plant for furnishing electric light for street lighting, and Attorney Swope, who represented the borough, paradoxically stated that the certificate was not desired, but what he really wanted was to get an opinion of the commission that it was without jurisdiction, or, in other words, that the borough could erect the plant without coming to the commission.

It was contended by former Judge Beidler, of Philadelphia, who represents some of the bondholders of the Gettysburg Light Company, which is now lighting the streets of that town, that it would be unfair to capital—having induced people to invest and establish a plant—for the borough to take the business away from it when there is no allegation that the rates are not reasonable nor that the service is not adequate; and he further contended that the municipality could not engage in this business without first obtaining the consent of the Public Service Commission.

The question raised a new point and briefs will be filed before the matter is determined.

The commission also heard the complaint of the Manufacturers' Association of Lancaster and York, against the rates of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the transportation of bituminous coal from the Clearfield district to these cities. The complainants allege that the rates are discriminatory as compared with the charges to Harrisburg and to Philadelphia. The company claimed that the rates are reasonable and this contention was upheld by representatives of the Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and Philadelphia and Reading, who, by reason of the group arrangement of rates, will be forced to lower their charges if the case is decided against the Pennsylvania.

A delegation, representing the borough of Halifax, appeared before the commission in opposition to the service of the Halifax Water Company, and produced considerable testimony to show that it is inadequate to the extent that there has practically been no water for consumption for a long time and that in event of fire no protection would be afforded.

Warning to Hunters

The State Game Commission calls the attention of deer hunters to the fact that at present there are nine counties in which deer may not be hunted on November 10, when the season opens—Warren, Clarion, Forest, Jefferson, Cameron, Somerset, Westmoreland, Fayette and Chester, all being closed until 1917. A close watch will be kept by the game wardens in those counties and anybody caught killing a deer this year will be fined $100.

The officers of the Game Commission have been instructed to arrest any man found hunting without wearing his license tag in full view.

Secretary Baker Will Rest

Secretary W. Harry Baker, of the Senate, will arrive home from Philadelphia tomorrow to take a rest. Since June 1 he has been the hardest worked man at Republican State headquarters as secretary of the State committee, and now has a bit of relaxation from his duties.

Election Returns

The State Department is preparing to receive election returns from the various counties and will have tables made up and filled out as soon as the figures come in for the offices. This year there will be one table for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, one for United States Senator, one for Secretary of Internal Affairs, one for Congressmen-at-large and one for Judge of Supreme and Superior Courts. It is not expected that the entire list will be completed for several weeks.

Expense Accounts

All State candidates, State committees and other committees or clubs and associations that collected or expended money in behalf of any State candidates must file expense accounts on or before December 2. The making out of these accounts will involve an immense amount of work, but the law says they must be filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES

George V. Corl, Ex-Fire Chief and Former City Councilman, Held Wonderful Sunday School Record

George V. Corl, 76 years old, 11 Evergreen street, died suddenly last evening in the Harrisburg hospital where, several weeks ago, he underwent an operation. The doctors had expected to discharge him from the hospital within a week, as apparently he was convalescing rapidly. Late yesterday afternoon he suffered a heart attack and died last night at 7:45 o'clock.

Mr. Corl was a Civil War veteran, ex-fire chief, and a former member of the City Council. He also held a record for attendance at Sunday school. He was a member of the Henry B. McCormick Bible class of the Pine Street Presbyterian church for 39 years, during which time he missed but six Sundays.

For years Mr. Corl conducted a blacksmith shop at Eleventh and Market streets. He served as head of the City Fire Department during 1876-77, and was a member of the Friendship Fire Company.

At the outbreak of the Civil war he enlisted as a private with Company F, Twenty-fifth Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He remained with this company for three months, when he was mustered out and then enlisted in Company F, One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers, in which he remained until the war was over. He was a member of Post 58, G. A. R. He was also a member of a number of secret organizations and was president of the 127th Regiment of the Pennsylvania Association.

He leaves two children, Minnie V. and Charles R.; one brother, John H. Corl. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, 11 Evergreen street. Burial will be made in Shoop's church cemetery.

At the Photoplay

A vital drama of Russian life above and below the surface entitled, "My Official Wife," is the Vitagraph theatre's latest success, presented by Clara Kimball Young and a star cast of players, including Earle Williams, Harry Morey and L. Rogers Lytton. The gist of the plot in "My Official Wife" lies in the ingenious scheme employed by Helena Marie, the idol of the Nihilists, to make her way back into Russia to help her people. A network system of spies furnishes Helena Marie with certain knowledge which starts her toward Russia determined to win her way over the frontier as the wife of Arthur Lennox, an American. Her successful escape into St. Petersburg, her uncanny escape from the espionage of the entire secret service police force of Russia and her final end in the blowing up of a palatial yacht are vividly and realistically told in dramatic climax and thrilling episodes. "My Official Wife," the most powerful of film stories, originally released for presentation at the Vitagraph theatre, New York City, will be the feature attraction at the Photoplay to-day and to-morrow. TENER RETURNS, HAPPY

Governor Points to Fact That His Election Forecasts Came True

The State administration heads are returning to their desks after having participated in the election on Tuesday and are feeling very happy over the result.

Department attaches were in their places to-day congratulating one another that their tenure of office is more likely to be prolonged through the election of a Republican Governor.

Governor Tener early this morning arrived from his Charleston home where he was voted on Tuesday. He was accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Gaither, and Secretary of the Commonwealth Robert McAfee, one of the Allegheny county Republican leaders who is said to be booked for retention in the next cabinet or to have "something equally good."

The Governor was at his department early and took up the work that had accumulated since last Friday. He was about as much pleased over the result as anybody at the Capitol.

"I'm feeling very happy over the result," said Governor Tener, "and my predictions as to the majority in Pennsylvania for Penrose and Brumbaugh came true."

State Health Commissioner Dixon was at his department to-day transacting business, and Secretary of Agriculture Critchfield, who voted in Somerset county, came back to report on work done in the last few days.

Neither State Treasurer Young nor Auditor General Powell, the two Washington part leaders, were in evidence to-day. They will not return until next week.

CHECKING MOUTH DISEASE

Sanitary Board Members Say There Is No Longer Danger of Epidemic

The State Live Stock Sanitary Board met with Governor Tener this morning in conference over the quarantine of certain parts of the State to prevent the spreading of the foot and mouth disease which is said to have been brought into the State by western cattle.

State Veterinarian Marshall told the Governor of his investigations in Pittsburgh with Secretary of Agriculture Critchfield. He said all of the infected spots have been carefully quarantined, but he is not certain whether there will not be more cases arising from contact. He is not afraid of a general epidemic so closely has the quarantine been established. One new case was discovered in Lancaster yesterday, that of a steer from the west, but no local cattle have as yet been infected.

Governor Tener heard the reports and approved the action of the board, at the same time advising the utmost precaution and urging that no effort be spared to prevent a spread of the disease.

LUNATIC AT LARGE IN WOODS

Desperate Character Tried to Approach President Wilson When Latter Addressed Political Meeting in 1911

By Associated Press.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 5.—Richard Von Krebs, the escaped lunatic who was hunted by posses in the woods near here last night as the assailant of Mrs. Mary Rhell, who was shot and killed, and her husband, Henry, who was mortally wounded, was still at large to-day. The hunt was called off, as it is believed he fled from the State.

The police, going back over Von Krebs' record, said that one of their first experiences with him was in 1911, when he tried to approach Woodrow Wilson, who was addressing a political meeting here. This was when Mr. Wilson was Governor of New Jersey.

Von Krebs nearly broke up the meeting, the police said, and was ejected. He said afterward, according to the police, that he wanted to get to the platform to ask Governor Wilson a few questions. Von Krebs and his wife had taken to court their dispute over the ownership of the farm which was rented to Rhell. Yesterday afternoon Von Krebs visited the farm. Not long afterwards Mrs. Rhell was found, shot to death, and her husband badly wounded.

EXPLOIT OF JOHN BURNS

Police Stop Him in Act of Elopement With Woman and Four Children

The police are about willing to apply to the Carnegie Hero Medal Commission for proper recognition for John Burns, colored, who, it is alleged, was in the act of eloping to Chicago with Mrs. Robert Geary and her four children, of Steelton, when stopped at 11 o'clock last evening. The children are all small, the youngest being unable to walk.

Geary, the husband, appeared at police headquarters last evening and said that his wife and children had departed and he feared they had gone away with Burns. Police found them at the station, Mrs. Geary and her children, returning to Steelton pending a charge being made against him before Justice of the Peace Gardner. Burns at one time was a boarder at the Geary home.

Working Butterm

Butter is worked enough when the salt is evenly distributed. Just when this point has been reached cannot always be told from the appearance of the butter immediately after working. But butter that has not been sufficiently worked will show white streaks or mottles after five or six hours. Whenever such streaks occur the butter must be reworked until all the streaks have been removed. To avoid mottled or straky butter the only safe rule to follow is to work the butter twice. The first time it is worked lightly, just enough to fairly distribute the salt. It is then allowed to stand for six hours or longer, when white streaks will be noticeable. The butter is then worked again until the color is uniform.—Chicago News.

The Australian Blacks

It is believed by many persons that the blacks in Australia are dying out. As a matter of fact, says a correspondent of the London "Standard," no such thing is happening. The belief, however, is easily explained. As civilization advances, and it is yearly advancing, the blacks recede farther and farther into the back blocks and unknown country, save a few who have acquired the craving for opium or drink. These latter succumb amid the advancing wave of civilization and seldom leave any children. Those who have passed inland, if they do not increase, have certainly not decreased. In some few cases whole tribes have died out when civilization has reached them, but these have usually been small tribes.

MANY STOUGH SERVICES

Preaching at the Tabernacle Is Not the Extent of Campaign Activities

Those who have seen Evangelist Stough in action at the tabernacle, and think that they have seen the entire Stough evangelistic campaign in operation, are mistaken, because he is only one of a force of workers who are now engaged in activities in the interests of the campaign in all parts of the city. Dr. Stough does the preaching, a large part of the campaign, but his assistants and supporters do a great deal, too.

The activities to-day were numerous. Hundreds of neighborhood prayer meetings were held at 9 o'clock this morning, as usual. Services were held at noon at the Enola roundhouse, speaker, W. W. Shannon; at the Enola car shop, speaker, the Rev. E. E. Curtis, and at the Steelton bridge shop, speaker, H. K. W. Patterson, head of men's work and shops department. There was music at all meetings by members of the tabernacle choir and orchestra.

At the meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Harrisburg this afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. O. Goho, Miss Sara Palmer, head of the women's work department, represented the Stough party.

Miss Eggleston, of the children's department, spoke at the Children's Industrial Home at 3 o'clock this afternoon. At the Home for the Friendless at 4 o'clock Miss Josephine Colt spoke. A chorus of children sang at the service. They went to the home in the Boyer Jay-Giving car.

The first meeting for night workers in the shops was held between 11 and 12 o'clock last night at the Enola roundhouse. H. K. W. Patterson spoke and Mr. and Mrs. Watson sang. More than a hundred men joined enthusiastically in the singing. The Enola meetings will be continued every Wednesday night.

The banquet in Evangelist Stough's honor will be held at the Board of Trade this evening, starting with a reception at 5:30 o'clock. Dr. Stough will speak to the business and professional men present on the actual commercial value to them of the revival he is conducting.

The subject of the sermon at the tabernacle to-night may be "What is a Christian?" It is subject to change, however, according to the nature of the audience which the evangelist finds at the tabernacle when he gets there. The usual daytime meeting was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Many women and some men were present.

TALKS ON "TELEPHONE GIRL"

Local Manager of Bell Company Addresses Camp Hill Civic Club

Shirley B. Watts, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, delivered an illustrated lecture on "The Telephone Girl" before the Camp Hill Civic Club this afternoon. The Camp Hill Civic Club, of which Mrs. James Milhouse is president, meets once each month for the discussion of educational subjects and the increased membership this season indicates a deep interest. Telephony, a science which is of common interest to all, reveals wonders when intricate details are explained. When one has greater knowledge of this comparatively modern invention one is led to exercise more care and patience when making calls. Mr. Watts' lecture was of special interest to all who attended and when the meeting adjourned the members left with a broader knowledge of a system that covers the greater portion of this continent.
