Charlie Bender has the nicest lot of bright dried peaches you ever saw, and only 10 cents a pound. See them in his window. They cannot be bought at wholesale for that now; also prunes, 3 pounds for a quarter, and a full line of canned goods.
The Saxton Herald understands that orders have been received by the manager of the furnace property at that place that preparations are to be made at once to get the furnace in readiness for operation. The Saxton Iron Company will be the operators.
While Miss Frank, a spinster of sixty-seven, was climbing over a stock train at Benson, Minn., on her way to church, the train started and she was carried thirty miles on the bumpers between the cars before it stopped again. She rode safely with her Bible in her hand and the railroad company gave her free passage back to her home.
Clarence Houser, a three year old son of William C. Houser, of Chambersburg, went up stairs into a room, a few days ago, in which was an open hole for a register. The little fellow got too close to the hole and fell through upon a hot stove. His screams soon brought help when it was found that his left side and the lower part of his left leg were badly burned. Large blisters formed and he suffered greatly, but he is now recovering.
Ex-Governor Hogg, of Texas, recently went to see the San Antonio International Fair, and incidentally, he said, to have some fun at the expense of the pickpockets, who, as he had heard, were infesting the fair. To fool them he had a mild infernal machine arranged inside of a large cheap watch case. While looking at the menagerie an ostrich spied the bulging pocket and deftly lifted the timepiece out. A ten-foot string attached to the watch on pulling taut, was to set off the machine.
"By gattling, light out, boys," roared the big ex-Governor as the ostrich gulped down the machine.
There was an explosion and a stampede on the midway. The manager of the show hunted the fair grounds many times over for the man whom he thought had fed a dynamite cap on his star bird. But the ex-Governor had left the grounds.

THE ELECTION.

Less interest was manifested in this county in last Tuesday's election than any election election for many years, there seemed to be general apathy among the voters of both parties, only about two-thirds of the votes of the county were polled. As we go to press the returns are not all in, but the whole Democratic ticket is elected by majorities ranging from two to four hundred. The vote is so close between the Republican candidates for Commissioner and Auditor that it will require the official returns to tell which are the successful candidates. We will publish the official returns next week.

Within the past two weeks three car loads of buckwheat flour have been shipped from the Everett freight station. The Everett Steam Flouring Mills are running day and night, and during the past ten days 4,500 bushels of buckwheat have been purchased by the proprietors from farmers at an average price of fifty-eight cents per bushel.
