HORSEFLESH FOOD.

A NEW BUT GROWING INDUSTRY IN THE UNITED STATES. Its Preparation For the Market In a Brooklyn Butchery—Some Facts Disccovered by an Artist Which Will Startle the Average Reader.

The use of horseflesh for food is a comparatively new thing in the east, but it is growing. I met some time ago the artist who lately received a commission to prepare pictures for a magazine article on this subject.

There are laws, moreover, against the slaughter and sale for food of diseased animals, equine or bovine, and that may explain why the artist experienced so much difficulty in passing the barriers of the trade.

It appears that the "red hots" (frankfurter sausages) sold at Coney Island and on the streets of New York are horse meat or mule meat, to say nothing of their being of the very lowest quality.

It is the hind quarters that go to the chipped beef factory. And it will be a useful bit of information for housewives to know that they can invariably distinguish this bogus product from the real article by the color.

From a letter written by Rev. J. G. Gardner, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to take this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife."

USE THE RIGHT HAND

A PREFERENCE THAT IS SHOWN IN NEARLY EVERYTHING WE DO. In Mechanics, at Table and in Games It is the Rule—The Buttons on Our Clothing—Customs That Recognize the Superiority of the Right.

The other day, on offering to shake hands with a self-proclaimed "young gentleman," I received from him the left hand for salutation, and his reverend parent instantly remarked, "That is the wrong hand."

These things, and many others of like kind, are considered abnormalities, for men and women are supposed to be normally right handed and not left handed.

The results of the prevalent right handedness of man are shown in many curious ways. If we look at dress, we find that a man's buttons are on the left, while the buttons are on the right.
