Our Boston Letter.

BOSTON, Mass., October 12. The bears have been somewhat in evidence in the stock market during the past week and prices declined steadily every day, being at the lowest point of the week at the close on Saturday The bears not only have been more numerous than the bulls, but they have succeeded in making their presence feit among investors as well as speculators. There has been no radical change in the situation from two weeks ago, when the bulls bad full sway and were making things hum as they bid up the market on the gold movement. The foreign exchange market was weak again last were swelled by the engagement abroad of several more millions of gold for shipment to this country, making the total now somewhat in excess of $51,000,000 or twice as much as was expected at the beginning of the influx of the precious metal. In view of the strong McKinley sentiment in Wall street, it would not seem as though the Georgia and Florida elections could have been the cause of the altered feeling among the traders, for the result in those two States, practically was known before or as well known as what the result will be of the election in New York or Massachusetts. Whether or not it was the election in those two southern States, unfavorable McKinley reports from the doubtful States, or just a subterfuge of the professional traders to create a bearish sentiment and to depress prices, is not certain, but that the sentiment has changed is a fact and instead of talking confidently of the success of the republican candidate at the polls next month, the brokers are gossiping about "in the event of the election of Mr. Bryan" and that is no idle rumor, as any number of the brokers' customer could testify having received requests for additional margins on account of the uncertainty of the immediate future in the money market pending the result of the battle of the ballots. Such a course, not only will create a bearish sentiment, but will tend to depress prices when the liquidation of weakly margined accounts becomes necessary if the additional margins are not forthcoming. These same brokers publicly depricate the circulation of rumors calculated to unsettle confidence, while privately they do not besit ite to create any amount of disturbance

Boston & Montana has been a weak leature of the mining list on local board losing about six points for the week. No news cropped out, however, until after the close Saturday when it was reported that a portion of the Montana's smelt ing plant at the Great Falls had been closed down throwing 200 employees out of work and from all that could be gathered the men expected a suspension of the entire operations in the mine and smelting and electrolytic plants. The Butte paper containing the d spatch announcing the shut down, said that there were no differences between the men and the management, and that everybody was at a loss to understand the reason for the curtailment. Possibly it was done for effect on the stock market or maybe the "Iron Horse" of the Butte & Boston mine has been stabled in the Montana mine for a while. President Bige low is out of town and none of the other officials had anything to say in relation to the story. Under the circumstances Montana is likely to sell considerably lower this week unless official denials and a full explanation are forthcoming. The other copper shares passed a quier week and fluctuations were insignificant. although generally at a lower range on lack of new buy orders. The copper market last week held steady at 10% cents for Lake and ingot. Exports continue heavy, but home consumption is still light.

Beware of Bryanites

The opponents of Bryan claim that one of their greatest objections to him and his party is on account of his evident desire, in order to draw votes for himself, to raise up a spirit of discord between the so-called classes and masses. The friends of Bryan, of course, deny this and say there is no truth in such a cry. We all know, if we know anything, that any one or body of persons who do this should be relegated to the back ground for the true test of patriotism, is to labor to bring the so-called classes and masses, employer and employed and labor and capital together and, if possible, unite them in one solid mass instead of building up a wall, as it is claimed Bryan, for his own purposes, is trying to do, to senarate the divisions of our people.

The question to be decided is whether

Bryan is doing this; there is an old say ing, "show me the company you keep and I will tell you what you are;" if those who took part in the free silver parade in Chicago last Friday evening can truly be called the exponents of the free silver party, they clearly show that Bryan and his parcy are not to be trusted, judging from thesentiments displayed on some of the banners carried in the parade. How would any sane man interpret the meaning of such mottoes as the following, which, it is reported, were on the banners carried in the parade:

"Our murderers are now shouting for Mark Hanna."

"As an assassin of labor Mark Hanna takes the cake.

"We want silver or They say actions speak louder than words. If the above words can be taken as the precursor of the actions of the Bryanites, should they get control of the government, which beaven forefend, we think that the element behind such expressions would be likely to get with their free silver. If the Bryanites would be the only sufferers they would have perhaps the right to do as they pleased, but, seeing the whole country would suffer with them, it behoves the people to look upon those who would use such mottoes as persons laboring from temporary insanity, and relegate them to the back ground, and we believe that all persons loving their country should do all that hee in their power to keep the Bryanites from obtaining the power to carry out what would, judging from the above mottoes, surely prove their dangerous schemes. To do this it is necessary to vote for McKinley, sound money, honesty and reciprocity.

A Bryan flag is now floating at South Lake Linden and a new McKinley and Hobart streamer floats in the breezes over Sutton's store.

A certain justice, who has an office not many miles from a saloon, should keep his door locked of a night, unless be wishes it to be overrun by young Moores.

Miss Susan Chapman and Isane Ball, of South Lake Linden, were united in marriage at the Congregational church, at that place yesterday forenoon. Both of the contracting parties are well known here and have the best wishes of numerous friends.

A musical entertainment will be given at the South Lake Linden Congregational church Friday evening, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. The proceeds will go towards purchasing a new organ for the church and as the program includes many excellent numbers, it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

The authorities of the county apparently close their eyes when they drive from Hancock to Lake Linden. We are informed that a successor to the Green House, but in a much larger scale, is allowed to flourish right on the road there. If the county officials are deter mined to allow such places to exist, they might at least insist upon them hiding themselves in the bush and not allow them to flaunt their wickedness on the road side and perhaps by that means entice some unwary person into the den.

This burg will be the seat of a hot poli tical fight from now until the end of the week if not until election day. Commencing with this evening there will be political speaking at the Opera House every night until Sunday. The republicans will open with this evening's blow out, when ex-Congressman Frank Plumley. of Vermont, will speak. Tomorrow the silverites will have an inning and Hon. James A. Prout, the "Cornish Cyclone," of Chicago, will talk on the political is sues of the day. Attorney General Maynard will speak at the same place on Friday night under the auspices of the republicans, and the silverites will wind up the week with a monster rally on Saturday evening, on which occasion Hon H. W. Seymour, candidate for congress from the twelfth district, and D. S. Glidden, a well known orator from Detroit, will deliver addresses.

"Dr. E. L. Robertson, of Lansing, was in town several days during the week, registering at the Boyinton House. Dr. Robertson is a specialist on all chronic diseases, and on several occasions has treated a number of our citizens, among those so treated being Mrs. B. Mestelle, who informs us that eight or nine years are also was hadly run down with a very ago she was badly run down with a very complicated case; which with a severe cough, led many of her friends to believe that she was going into consumption.

She grew very weak, and at times was unable to attend to her household duties.

She was induced to call on Dr. Robertson, who was then on his first visit from Iron River, who prescribed for her. After carefully using his medicine for several months she was completely cured, and is today a stronger and healthier woman than for many years previous to taking Dr. Robertson's remedies. Mrs. Mestelle feels perfectly free in recommending the use of Dr. Rober son's medicines to any of her friends who are suffering from any
