BY "NEMO."

(These "Thoughts," by a hymnu, are read in severy State in the Union. In this country they will be found week by week in the columns of this paner only, as we have made arrangements with the author for their exclusive publication.)

SOME CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS. To those whose hearts are crushed with dumb sorrows that you cannot tell; to you whose burdens are heavy and chaiing; to you whose way is narrow and

Be patient at this season of rest and diversion to ponder the words of a humble sout gazing upward to interpret to himself the lightning flash of unanimous thought that leaps from country to country at Christmas-tide.

The great and the head-wise are often wrong; while the humble and obscure serve to make and transmit the public opinion that gradually overthrows error. Note that the wise men are turned aside to Jerusulem while the simple shepards, patiently doing their wearisome duties by night, untroubled by the puzzling questions of the Magi, learned more than these about "peace and good-will."

Since their day each age has through its wisest tried to recreate and interpret anew the fragmentary career of the lowly man. They have darkened his counsel with words, they have smothered the breadth of his purpose, they have tried to wall around the sea of his goodness, they have attempted to seal up and confine the sunshine of truth. But over against the limiters of light, the monopolists of heaven, the headwise interpreters, must be set the heart of the common people, who, like the man born blind, cannot argue down sophistries and puzzle out intricate faiths, but can simply fall back upon the unanswerable demonstration of peace and good-will, "whereas I was blind now I can see." Because he was so real a man, tempted like themselves, the great common heart was held fast to him through centuries of rapine and licentiousness among his professed interpret ers, through ages of creed-making and creed-breaking, through cycles of bloodshed and persecution by the professed exponents of "peace and goodwill." Have miracles ceased? It is a miracle that any of his plain teachings should still tive; yet steadily the light has climbed the mountain sides of perversion and now shines full strongly down into the valley of the shadow of death that we traverse.

Because then his friends were the lowly. his mourners the tainted and the bereft, his most faithful servants through all ages the outcasts and the obscure; because also this is the People's Age, the what they need. Price, 50 cents per bot age of democracy when the right to think tle, at D. T. Macdonald's drug store.

and to learn is no longer denied to us by the lofty ones, may it not have come to pass that this time of all times most remote from the customs, the ideas that surrounded Jesus, is the best fitted after all to measure the length and breadth of the announcement of "peace and goodwill" that has so long remained echoless.

Huron County

is situated 130 miles from Detroit, 70 miles from Port Huron, and 68 miles from Saginaw, on what is known as the Thumb of Michigan.

This County is bounded on three sides by the waters of the Great lakes, which maintain an even temperature unaffected by the sudden changes which occur hundreds of miles further south. This creates a fruit growing country that is unexcelled, in any northern state. Apples, pears, plums, and cherries find here their native home, and the trops are prolific beyond the belief of residents of other parts.

The soil is a rich ciny loam which seems especially adapted to the growing of grasses. Uloyer will stay in the ground for years and frequently yields seven or eight bushels of seed to the acre.

The great bodies of water around us render fatal droughts impossible. Wheat, onts, cora, potatoes and peas are safe and profitable crops in this section.

The last report of the State Agricultural Department gives Huron County % per cent as the condition of her agricultural products. No County excells her.

No man with ordinary industry and economy.

Bepartment gives Huron County 18 per cent as the condition of her agricultural products. No County excells her.

No man with ordinary industry and economy can fail to acquire a competence. This is the place where if you "Tickle nature with a harrow, she will laugh GOLDEN HARVESTS."

With sixty miles of seaboard and a hundred miles of railroads within the county, the markets are convenient to every man's door and freight rates are cheap.

I am agent for various lands, a few descriptions of which are hereunto annexed and are:
