

Was Seriously Injured

A Carpenter Falls Off a Scaffold at Calumet.

An Arm Broken in Two Places

And He Was Severely Bruised About the Body and May Be Injured Internally—Terse Tales.

An accident happened to one of the carpenters employed on the old school building at Calumet last Saturday afternoon which came very near ending fatally. A force of Calumet and Hecla carpenters had been employed for several days repairing the roof and doing other odd jobs about the building, which needed repairing since it had been moved. Most of the work had been completed and Saturday afternoon the men were repairing the shingles.

It had rained more or less during the day and the roof was very slippery. Shortly before four o'clock the carpenters started to go down from the roof preparatory to stopping work for the day. August Kaskella was the last man and as he stepped on the scaffold to follow suit, his foot slipped and, losing his balance, fell from the top of the building to the ground a distance of 35 feet.

He landed on his right shoulder and arm and lay senseless on the ground. Some of his comrades saw the accident and hastened to his aid. The injured man was carried into the hospital ward in the central school building, a hundred feet away, and his hurts were speedily attended to. It was found that his injuries were very serious and extremely painful. His arm was broken in several places. He was also badly bruised about the body and may be injured internally, but the physicians think he will come out all right in time.

Kaskella who is unmarried was removed to his boarding place over Ojala's shoe store on Pine street after his wounds had been cared for at the hospital.

Charlie Ross Once More.

Not the lost Charlie Ross, but the Charlie Ross of unsavory memory, has once more come to the surface. It appears that the so-called Charlie Ross, who once lived here, was the owner of some property at Jesseville near Ironwood, but which had long been vacant, Ross himself having removed to Hurley.

Lately a man named Henry Lenoel appeared at Jesseville and opened out what he called a candy shop in one of Ross' buildings, the upper rooms being occupied by John Romola and somehow the people were suspicious of the man and therefore were not at all surprised when early on the morning of Thursday, the 12 inst., a fire broke out in the building and it was with the greatest difficulty the Romola family were saved. The people were so incensed that the marshal had great difficulty in saving the fellow from being killed. After he had, as he thought, quieted the people Marshal Jeffery started for home, but had not proceeded far when the firemen shouted for him to return; upon doing so he found the people were attempting to throw Lenoel into the burning building. The marshal eventually got him away and lodged him in jail for safe keeping, when the fellow acknowledged Charlie Ross had employed him to fire the buildings, which with the saloon fixtures were insured for $1,400, promising to pay him $200 for the job, as Ross was desirous of procuring the money to go west with. Charlie Ross was therefore arrested and is now lodged in Bessemer jail.

Death of Mrs. Leblin.

The many friends of Mrs. Charles Leblin (nee Swykert) were more than shocked to hear of her death at an early hour this morning at her home at Hancock and expressions of genuine regret and sympathy for the bereaved husband were heard on every hand. Mrs. Leblin had not been well for several weeks and it was found necessary to perform an operation last Saturday which her constitution was unable to stand.

The deceased had resided in Calumet most of her life and was married about a year ago, since when she has resided at Hancock. She was 27 years of age. The funeral procession will leave the deceased's late residence in Hancock Wednesday morning about 11 o'clock in order to arrive at the Calumet Congregational church at 2 o'clock where services will be held. The interment will be at Lake View.

Miss Mamie Driscoll died yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Driscoll, of Raymbaultown. The deceased was 21 years of age and had been employed at Mrs. Fisher's millinery establishment up to the time of her illness. She made many friends and her death is greatly regretted by all who knew her. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning. Services will be held at Sacred Heart church and the remains will be interred at the Hecla cemetery.

He Follows Greeley's Advice.

Another of the bone and sinew is about to leave this hyperborean region to join the Norwegian colony in Sacramento

Valley, California. This time it is Mr. Eli Opland, who has been working in the mines here for the last nine years, eight of which were at the Quincy, three at the Tamarack and eight at the Calumet. He will be accompanied by his family and also by Mrs. Mat Petersen, whose husband is already there. Mrs. Hald Erickson, who is going to join her husband at Tacoma, Wash., will also start with the party which will leave on Thursday next.

Some years ago a party of Norwegians fifteen in number living in this neighborhood purchased 680 acres of fruit land in Sacramento Valley, which they divided into forty-acre tracts. Mr. Opland is the owner of one of them. Five families have been on the ground for the past year preparing it for those who are to follow, so that by the time the remainder of the party get ready to leave here they will have a grove of orange trees already for bearing.

Salvation Army Notes.

Tonight the Queen Anne soap company will give a grand stereopticon entertainment in the barracks to help the Army.

The Army excursion will take place next Saturday, and on Sunday Adjutant and Mrs. Sheppard will hold their farewell meetings, they having been appointed to take charge of Lead City, South Dakota.

Monday a great musical meeting will be held, when the Congregational church string band will make its first public appearance.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant of Chilhowis, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says, Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, colds and consumption. It doesn't fail. Trial bottles free at D. T. Macdonald's drug store.

Wedded Saturday Evening.

The marriage of Miss Mabel James to Mr. Joseph Champion took place last Saturday at the home of the bride's mother, on Rockland street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Kerridge, pastor of the Calumet M. E. church, in the presence of a large circle of friends of the contracting parties. An elaborate wedding supper was served after the ceremony, to which sixty or more guests sat down.

The young couple received a large number of pretty, as well as useful, wedding gifts, and start out in their new life with the best wishes of a large circle of acquaintances. They have taken up their residence in Red Jacket.

"Sack" Is Prospering.

"F. M. Sackler writes Soo friends that trade has been very satisfactory with him in his new business, that of a commission merchant at Houghton. Mr. Sackler is located in the Strobel block, and will greet Soo friends with open arms, when they call upon him. Soothers have nothing but best wishes for 'Sack'."

The above is taken from the Soo News. If "Sack" is prospering it is most likely at the expense of some of our Houghton country boys who play at that game of commission business with him.

ONE VAST GOLD FIELD.

So Says the Alaska Mining Record of Juneau.

EVERY ONE CAN GET RICH THERE.

But Whoever Goes Must Be Prepared to Support Himself for Two Years at Least and Be Ready to Take All Kinds of Hardships—Claim Located First Season, Develops Second, and Returns Come the Third.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Postmaster General Gary has received a copy of The Alaska Mining Record of Juneau of Aug. 4, in which is an interesting sketch of the gold-mining regions and advice to the incoming miners. The article says that the gold-bearing regions have never been fully prospected, but enough is known to demonstrate that it is the richest gold-bearing belt on the globe. The valley of the Yukon and its tributaries, it says, is one vast gold field, where scarcely a shovelful of earth can be found that will not show the color of the precious metal. But it also calls attention to the difficulties which lie in the path of those who come to seek for gold.

Must Be Prepared.

"In the first place," it says, "whoever comes to Alaska must be prepared to support himself for at least two years. The development of the country is such that its present population is fully up to every industrial requirement. In the field of industrial labor, every position is filled."

"The professions are fully represented; the labor market is glutted. Artisan and mechanic find no opening here. Mining and prospecting alone remain open to the newcomer, and he must find his own field, and must be prepared for self-support until he has found it. He cannot depend upon his own labor for support in any direction, for the field is fully occupied. Little can be accomplished in less than a three years' stay in the Yukon country, unless, indeed, marvelous gold luck attends one's footsteps. A good part of the first season will be consumed in reaching the mines."

Returns Come Third Year.

"Then, even if a claim be at once discovered and located, only preliminary work can be done. The second year the claim can be well opened up and probably some money made. The third year generally renders the promised returns."

The paper then describes in brief the best way to reach the gold fields, together with the cost, and concludes: "To sum up, no man should attempt the journey to the interior unless he enjoys perfect health and is prepared to meet hardship and privation and endure climatic severities. He must have vigor, pluck and endurance, and expect reverses and disappointments. He should have $500 in cash after his outfit is purchased, to meet the contingencies liable to arise at any moment. These conditions may seem hard, but they are inexorable."

SUES FOR MILLIONS.

Alexis M. Lay Plaintiff in a Contest for Fabulous Wealth.

Detroit, Aug. 19.—Alexis M. Lay is a plaintiff in the biggest suit of the century, involving some $20,000,000. The defendants are the Ibez Mining company and a number of mine owners. In 1878 the Uncle Sam mine was located near Leadville. It was sold to Lay and Ballou, who formed a combine. The Uncle Sam looked poor and in 1890 was leased for three years to the Ibez company.

It is claimed that there is a pocket, fabulously rich, $10,000,000 now being in sight, although several times that many millions have, it is alleged, been taken out. William E. Curtis, a mine agent, visited the mine two years ago, and said that over $5,000,000 had been taken out up to that time. Lay charges the Ibez company with fraud and is seeking to regain possession.

Reverses of a Prior Ruling.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The attorney general has rendered an opinion in which he holds that under section 3 of the administrative act of 1889 the personal attendance of exporters or their agents is not required at the consulate in order to validate the consul's certification. This opinion, which has been acquiesced in, reverses the former ruling of the department.
