What I know About Hardware and Advertising.

It is surprising how little the average newspaper advertisement has varied in style and general makeup in the last 25 years. "At cost" sacrifice sale "bankrupt sale" "grand opening" "we defy competition" "unheard of bargains" are some of the most noted "Chestnuts" that are dished out, to newspaper readers, with monotonous repetition. You might as well expect your customers to buy hats and bonnets that were in fashion 20 years ago, as to read such advertisements. If you want your "ads" read you must make them attractive to intelligent readers. You must show some originality and keep up with the times. Be sure and fulfill all your promises. Never try to deceive the people, for if you do, you simply advertise your own incapacity to conduct your business. My style of advertising is not patented. All have my permission to use it and improve it. While I furnish the best reading matter that I am able to write, I pay for every line. I do so with pleasure as long as my efforts are appreciated by the readers of the "News" I have on track a carload of hard lumber oak ash and hickory. I have in transit a car of hay baling ties, 2 cars of cut nails, 1 car of wire nails and 2 cars of barbed wire, all bought at the recent decline and shipped at cut rates of freight. Yours for hardware

The Gabert Bros.

It is worth while for any one who wears clothes to refrain from purchasing until he has taken a good look at the fine stock of the Gabert Bros., 116 South Fourth street. They are the leading tailors with the largest and finest stock of goods ever brought to Waco. They carry all the new and nobby styles of the spring of '92 with such diversity that no one can fail in finding goods to suit his own particular fancy. When it comes to cutting and fitting the Gabert Brothers are artists in every sense of the word with the most skillful workmen that can be procured. They give perfect fits and somehow their clothes have a look about them that only the work of artists can produce. Give them a call and look over their big fine stock before ordering a suit and you will have no reason to regret any order you may favor them with.
