PREPARING TO MOVE.

Roberts Will Push on to the Transvaal Capital.

MAFEKING'S RELIEF.

A Force Has Left Kimberley to Free the beleaguered Town—Intervention Dropped by All Countries but Russia.

London, March 17.—With the railway communication to the Cape intact. Lord Roberts will, in a very few days, begin the advance on Pretoria. His deep political intuition, combined with his bold strategy, is having the result desired in the southern sections of the Orange Free State, which are rapidly falling down.

Mafeking is now the only point for anxiety and as it is known that a force has left Kimberley, its relief may be announced before many days pass. The efficiency of the relieving column is heightened by the fact that it is partly composed of regulars.

It is understood that all the continental powers, with one exception, uncomplacingly refused to intervene. The exception was Russia, whose reply was couched in less firm language, although like the others, she declined to interfere. It is said that the pope was also appealed to, but that he declined to do anything beyond writing a letter to the queen, appealing to her to stop the further effusion of blood. Dr. Leyds' efforts with King Leopold were quite futile.

The possibility of the destruction of Johannesburg is still discussed here, but it is believed that the French and German shareholders would offer a strong protest.

The latest advices respecting the surrender of Bloemfontein show that the approach of the British caused a stampede. Thirteen trains, each composed of 40 cars and all crammed with Boers, hurried northward just before the line was cut. Mr. Steyn would have been compelled to surrender, but he pretended that he was going to visit one of the outposts and at midnight took a carriage which was waiting for him outside the town and thus escaped. The Boers got the bulk of their wagons and military stores away.

PEACEFUL CONTEST.

Roberts Will Have but Little Fighting in the Free State.

London, March 17.—A peaceful conquest of Orange Free State progresses so evenly now that it is believed there will be little or no fighting until Roberts reaches the Vaal river. How soon he intends to start out with this objective, is not yet hinted at, but a pacification of Free States seems now engaging all his attention. When the move comes, it will doubtless be accomplished with secrecy and swiftness which have characterized all British advances since Roberts assumed command. In the meanwhile the fate of Mafeking remains unknown. The revolt of the Cape Dutch in the northeast seems to have had its back broken and likely General Kitchenier will soon resume his place beside his chief.

The hull that lots British troops in Natal and the Free State recuperate brings no rest to the engineers and transportation service. Girouard, the young Canadian officer, who rules supreme over railroads is now putting his system to the most severe test in the endeavor to transport supplies from Cape Town to Bloemfontein.

Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, has disappeared from Brussels. According to a Globe special he is believed to have come to London, but nothing is known here about his arrival. It seems scarcely likely he would jump into the lion's mouth, and an energetic Boer representative says he is more likely to soon be heard of at one of the other European capitals.

Most of the government officials hoisted the Irish flag and clubs were similarly decorated, the officials all wearing green. In churches the preachers referred to the occasion, thanking providence that the English had learned to love and respect their Irish fellows subjects as they never knew them or respected them before. Lord Chief Justice, Lord Russell, set an example in law courts and all judges followed his example of wearing a shamrock between the rims of their coat collars.

Webster Davis Returning.

Naples, March 17.—Webster Davis, United States assistant secretary of the interior, has arrived here from Pretoria on his way to America.

Must Be Ready For War.

New York, March 17.—The Herald's Indianapolis special says that the French residents of the gas belt have been ordered by the war office at Paris to hold themselves in readiness for service.

Another Killing at Frankfurt.

Frankfurt, Ky., March 17.—James Horton, aged 23, shot and killed Garland Broeding, aged 13, in this city. It is claimed Broeding was attempting to horsewhip Horton over a small account. This makes seven killings since Dec. 24.

Georgia Peach Crop.

Atlanta, March 17.—Dispatches from all parts of Georgia do not indicate any serious damage to the peach crop by reason of the cold weather.
