

GOOD NEWS

TRAVELS FAR AND FAST

The news that our Spring and Summer selections of fine apparel were ready has traveled "far and fast." Many men have already been here to see the new season's best styles. Experience has taught them that nothing but the correct styles can be found at the Emporium of Fashion and every style is shown in a great variety of prices, and at each price, the greatest possible values.

As a striking example of this, we present a superb collection of Spring Suits, that we are selling at the popular price of FIFTEEN DOLLARS. Our clothing is made by B. Kuppenheimer & Co., and Kahn, Dreyfus & Co.—the best clothes makers in the land. No matter whether you are hard to fit, or hard to please, we know that in this lot you will find exactly what you want. Every demand of fashion is incorporated in each garment; the variety of shapes and sizes insures the perfect fitting qualities, and the fabrics are from the leading mills.

We also have suits as low as 5.00 and up to 25.00, and at each price, we will show you special values.

Not Influenced by Passes.

Representative James called on the Light yesterday while in the city and in discussing the free pass question stated that while he had accepted passes from the railroads that his vote on questions affecting the roads had not been influenced thereby. He says that he voted against the T. & N. O. segregation bill whereby the owners of that road saved their charter and large penalties, and against the Southern Pacific merger, the passage of which saddles several million of dollars of watered bonds on the people to be cared for by increased freight rates. Mr. James says that he earnestly supported the intangible tax bill and also the bill taxing the railroads one per cent on their gross earnings. The Light is glad to note Mr. James' record on these questions. While it cannot give endorsement to all provisions of the intangible assets bill, it does believe that the two railroad bills above mentioned should not have passed, and is glad to know that Mr. James recorded his vote against them. The passage of these bills were for the interest of the railroad companies and against the people. If this were not so the roads would not have maintained an expensive lobby at the capitol to secure their passage. And if free passes were not intended to influence the judgment of the legislator they would not be handed out by the lobbyist.

Representative B. F. James.

A recent issue of the Houston Chronicle contained a picture of Hon. B. F. James of this city together with the following sketch:
Representative James looks after the interest of old Ellis county, which is said to contain more black land farms than any other county in Texas. He is new in the workings of the legislative machinery, and has been on the floor only a few times. His picture indicates that he is good looking, though his vest is a trifle short. He is one of the conservative members, and usually votes correctly on matters affecting the entire state. He has a seat in the rear of the hall where he sees everything that takes place.

TEACHERS MEET.

Ellis County Educators in Session at the Courthouse.

The educators of Ellis county held their regular monthly meeting at the courthouse today, a large number of teachers being in attendance.

At the forenoon session the question of literature in the public schools was discussed by R. H. Scooby and Dudley Stovall. A general discussion of twenty minutes followed.

The art of questioning was discussed by W. A. Carothers and Miss Cora Harris.

This afternoon two hours were devoted to a consideration of physical conditions in the schools. The questions discussed embraced ventilation, indoor exercise, the children's eyesight, the children's voice, the teacher's voice, the desks, school room decorations, cleanliness in the school room, absolute silence in the school room, and chalk and blackboard.

Real Self Control.
To most people self control means the control of appearances and not the control of realities. This is a radical mistake and must be corrected if we are to get a clear idea of self control and if we are to make a fair start in acquiring it as a permanent habit.

If a man is ugly to me and I want to knock him down and refrain from doing so simply because it wouldn't appear well and is not the habit of the habit of the people about me, my desire to knock him down is still a part of myself, and I have not controlled myself until I am absolutely free from that inferior desire. So long as I am in hatred to another I am in bondage to my hatred; and if, for the sake of appearances, I do not act or speak from it I am none the less at its mercy, and it will find an outlet wherever it can do so without debasing me in the eyes of other men more willing than I am to be debased. My selfish desire to injure the man I hate is counterbalanced by my selfish desire to stand well in the eyes of other men. There can be no true self control so long as either form of selfishness dominates my actions. The control of appearances is merely outward repression, and a very common instance of this may be observed in the effort to control a laugh.—Annie Payson Call in Leslie's Monthly.

Halcyon Days.

The seven days preceding and the seven days following the winter solstice were called by the ancients "halcyon days." This phrase is derived from a fable which sets forth that Halcyone, a princess who grieved so deeply for the loss at sea of her spouse, was sent thither in pity in the form of a halcyon bird or kingfisher.

According to the legend, the halcyon bird had during the time of breeding the power of lulling the waves, and it was believed at this time the sea was always calm and might be navigated in perfect security. Experience, of course, dispelled this fable; but, like many another old world story, it has left behind it a distorted meaning.

In this case the connection between the old and the new significance is clear, for the term, once expressive of peace and calm upon the waters, is equally expressive of tranquillity upon the sea of life.

Danger of Hypnotism.

Even with the best understanding of the subject now possible, there is danger in originating anything that puts a hypnotized person under his own control—in other words, that originates automatism, writes Dr. M. A. Veeder in the Medical Record. So long as the subject is under the control of the hypnotizer absolutely there is not so much danger, but let him go out under his own control—and he runs without a balance wheel. In this way auto suggestion, which fortunately is more difficult and exceptional, may originate exceedingly unpleasant experiences. The writer has even come to the conclusion that there may be causes of insanity confined to institutions that, if the truth were known, are really of this type.

English Gardens and Ours.

There is a fundamental difference between the English and the American garden. The Englishman's garden is well nigh as essential as his house. It is like an extra room to the residence. It is for the family rather than for the public. It therefore works itself into the developing consciousness of children, and garden love becomes as much a part of the person as books and furniture and music do. The American garden is likely to be all in the front yard. It is usually of the look-at-me kind. It is made for the public to see. This may contribute to public spirit and civic betterment, but it loses in originality and vitality.—L. H. Bailey in Garden Magazine.

Curious Chinese Prejudices.

In the course of business certain London banks have occasion to send out large sums in gold coin to China. No sovereigns, however, will be accepted which have St. George and the dragon on the reverse side. The dragon plays a leading part in religious matters in China, and its figure on the coin is abhorrent to the Celestial mind. The London consignees have therefore to pick out the older coins, having a shield on the reverse side, for transmission to the east.

Brilliant Suggestion.

Magazine Editor—Well, we've had articles by bridge jumpers, actors, yeggmen, senators, pugilists, doctors, detectives, porch climbers, lawyers, explorers and a lot more. I'm at the end of my string for something new. What would you suggest? Assistant Editor—How would it do to have an article by a professional author?—Pittsburg Post.

His Paying Powers.

Old Gotrox—I don't think much of that young Dadeleigh who poses as a parlor ornament around here occasionally. Pretty Daughter—Why, pa, he pays me the loveliest compliments. Old Gotrox—Yes, and that's all he was ever known to pay, so far as I can learn.

Easily Remedied.

Auntie (to small niece who is not by any means the pink of perfection)—Oh, Milly, how naughty you are! Your nice, good little sister and brother can never be so bad. Milly (naughty)—But I can soon teach them.—London Tatler.

Frost.

White frost is the ordinary frozen dew or hoarfrost. Black frost occurs when the cold is so intense as to freeze vegetation and cause it to turn black without the formation of hoarfrost.

Quite Natural.

Rhe—Which is the most popular letter in the alphabet? He—You; there could be no other.—Exchange.

What does the Breakfast-Bell mean in your household—

Light, wholesome Biscuit made with

or unwholesome food made with an alum baking powder?

It is worth your while to inquire.

STUDYING HOG FEED.

Committee of Swine Men Investigating Cotton Seed Meal.

Prof. J. H. Connell, editor of the Farm and Ranch at Dallas, and Mr. H. E. Singleton of McKinney, one of the foremost hog raisers in the South, are here today making a personal, scientific, and practical investigation of the feeding of hogs on cotton seed meal. They have been sent here as a committee from the Swine Breeders' Association for that purpose and their investigation will be thorough and their conclusion will be reported to the Association.

Col. Allison has shown them the actual results and has given them access to his diary, his tables and statistics and has rendered them all possible assistance leaving them to reach their own conclusion in the matter.

Mr. Allison is a close observer and has prosecuted his experiments carefully though a preponderance of sentiment has been against the theories that he has been reducing to actual practice. He has made a success of it and whether or not the feeding world thinks so, he is entitled to credit for what he has accomplished.

If his system of feeding proves good to others and the cotton seed meal diet shall be adopted it will prove the cheapest feed ever found for pork production, and the result, logically, will be a transfer of the hog center to Texas, where all other conditions will conspire to revolutionize the hog industry of the South. We shall watch with interest the committee's official report.—Ennis News.

Delivering Bible Lectures.

Rev. B. A. Copass, pastor of the First Baptist church, returned this morning from Stephenville where he spent a week delivering a series of lectures in the Bible College. Mr. Copass stated that President Brooks of Baylor University, Dr. Gambrell of Dallas and the pastor of the First Baptist church at Waco were also there and delivered lectures.

A Heavy Fine.

Dick Wilson, a farmer living near Britton, appeared in the court this morning and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of adultery. A fine of $500 was imposed against the defendant by Judge Hawkins. Including the cost the total amount was $525.00. The full amount was paid in cash. Heavier fines have been assessed by juries, but this is the greatest amount ever imposed by the present court on a plea of guilty.

Jesse Alsop entered a plea of guilty to a charge of drunkenness and disturbing the peace. He was let off with a fine of $5.00.
