RELIGIOUS

Christianity's Eastern Spread.
Professor Bloomfield of the Johns Hopkins university, who has just returned from the oriental congress at Algiers, announces the discovery of sacred manuscripts on kid leather which had been used to repair old shoes shortly after the birth of Christ. These were found by German scientists while delving in the ruins of a Turkestan city. The writing is in Syrian characters and throws the first light on how Christianity spread through Persia and the far east and how the legends and the facts of the Bible entered into the oriental religions.

Potter Calls Sunday Pagan.

In his triennial charge to the convention of the New York Episcopal diocese Bishop Potter spoke of the growing lack of observance of the Lord's day in America. He found only decadence in the Sunday sports and cheap amusements which make little demand on serious attention. These, he said, were pagan in origin and tendency.

On Laughing in Church.

Dr. J. M. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate (Methodist), has aroused considerable discussion in the daily as well as the religious press by his recent declaration that "a clergyman has no right to make his congregation laugh, and to do so is irreverence."

Episcopal Letter Criticized.

The Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, writing in the Outlook, takes issue with the recent pastoral letter of the Protestant Episcopal bishops in which all members of the church who have lost "their hold upon her fundamental verities" are urged in the name of common honesty to "be silent or withdraw." Dr. Crapsey says that a clergyman who finds himself differing from the church should preach the truth as he sees it and leave to those who differ the question of associating with him. The Outlook editorially indorses the Crapsey view.

Starr to Study Monkey Talk.

The question as to how far monkeys have progressed toward forms of oral communication is now to be studied by an American scientist in the heart of Africa. Frederick Starr, professor of anthropology in the University of Chicago, has been given a year's leave of absence and will be the guest of King Ndombe, who lives 1,100 miles from the mouth of the Congo. Professor Starr will also study the native African races of that region. The people, however, are far from the savage state.

Moon Left Bed of Pacific.

Professor W. H. Pickering, the Harvard astronomer, who has just returned from a visit to the Hawaiian Islands, says that the Hawaiian volcanoes are similar to those of the moon; that is, of the engulfment variety.
