Utah Sorosis.

The Sorosis met Wednesday at the club room, with President Mrs. Ida Allen in the chair.

In the absence of Mrs. Hannah Tucker, the regular parliamentary drill was conducted by Mrs. Mariette Beesley.

Some very interesting news was given by the members, after which Mrs. Hannah Pike read a very good paper on magazine review.

After the usual recess Mrs. Cordelia Beck gave an interesting sketch of the proposed Paris Exposition of 1900.

The regular work in the mothers' section was omitted owing to the absence of Mrs. D. D. Houtz.

A Hold-Up.

Thursday evening at about 11 o'clock W. M. Hughes, assistant county attorney, and Louie Meyer, an academy student, were held up by two thugs at the corner of Fourth and I streets.

One of the highwaymen presented a gun with the command "hands-up."

Hughes struck the other one and did a "hot foot" down the street getting safely away. Meyer was seized by the two hold-ups and thrown down and gagged. In going through his pockets the thieves secured one silver dollar, and evidently not being satisfied relieved Meyer of his best Sunday necktie, after which they beat a hasty retreat. The young men informed Sheriff Storrs of the occurrence the next day, but as they were unable to give any definite description of the thugs, who were masked, their apprehension is extremely doubtful.

"Beautiful Snow."

The extremely heavy weight of snow on the roof of the Deseret Bank building, occupied by the Eureka saloon, caused a total collapse of the roof last Wednesday evening at 11 o'clock. It seems that the building, which was built in boom times, was insecure in many places, and the weakest spot, the roof, gave way. A force was at once put to work clearing away the snow and flooding of the place prevented.

Work in removing the old roof and putting on a new one was commenced Thursday and will soon be completed. The loss sustained by the proprietors of the Eureka saloon amounts to several hundred dollars. If you, however, want to preserve the friendship of Messrs. Bailey & Vincent, don't sing "beautiful snow" in their presence.

His Denomination.

The Philadelphia Record tells of an old Pennsylvania farmer who recently came into possession of a check for $200. It caused him a great deal of anxiety, and for a long time he could not muster up the courage to have it cashed. Finally, while on a trip to town, he summoned up nerve enough, and, striding into the bank, presented the check. The teller glanced at it hastily, and then, after the fashion of his kind, brusquely asked: "What denomination?" "Lutheran, gold-durn it!" But what's that got to do with it?" as brusquely replied the old farmer, to the great astonishment of the bank official. It required several minutes' explanation before the teller could get the old man to understand his question, and then the latter took his money and departed, with sundry growls derogatory to banks in general. —New York Tribune.

School Notes.

The school trustees of the county are in session today. Among the matters under consideration are several amendments to the school law. One of these proposed amendments is to the effect that all school taxes for current expenses shall be raised by State levy, thus doing away with county and district levies for this purpose. The plan is also proposed to make provision for a central county school board with powers of employing teachers, etc., but not so sweeping as a former proposed amendment, which would put all school matters in the control of the central board. A committee will be sent to the Legislature to advocate these measures.

The length of the school year was also discussed, and reports made by the several districts as to the length of the present school year. The larger districts aim to run at least three and a half terms, and the smaller three terms, where finances will permit.

The schools of the city have in course of preparation an excellent patriotic cantata which will be presented on Washington's birthday at the opera house. The proceeds will go to the piano fund.

The B. Y. Academy, notwithstanding the new building, needs more room. Tomorrow, fast-day, services will be held for the purpose of offering up prayers that the way may be opened for the securing of a new building.

Last year the "comic valentine" was banished from the city schools. The sentiment of the teachers is decidedly in opposition to these caricatures, and they will be kept out of the schools again this year.

PROVO CANYON SLIDE.

B. F. Milner Talks to The Democrat Man.

B. F. Milner called at THE DEMOCRAT office today. He states that himself, Albert Whipple and others, the party consisting of seven sleigh loads, two of which were composed of ladies, started from Charleston last Wednesday morning. About seven miles below Charleston the party encountered a rock and snow slide and started to dig through.

Milner climbed over and found another slide beyond, and recommended that they return to Charleston. They started back and found another slide behind, through which they dug and returned to Charleston. The same party started the next morning in company with Messrs. Green and Ingerson of American Fork on horseback, and succeeded in getting the latter over the slides with the use of wagon covers and horse blankets. Not being able to get through the slides the sleighs returned to Charleston, and at once notified the road supervisor, who came to the assistance of the parties with men and teams, and succeeded in getting the party through by eleven o'clock last night with the work of eighteen men and fifteen head of horses.

The Wasatch county people went back after seeing the party through to North Fork about half a mile outside of that county and Mr. Milner states that they all expected the supervisor of this end to be working from here, on account of the telephone message sent to Marshal Knight of Provo for that purpose. Mr. Milner is very severe in his condemnation of Marshal Knight for not notifying the road supervisor of the condition of the road and the help needed, instead of, as inferred by the Enquirer, making it a personal matter with Mr. Milner. In all about thirty people, including ladies were blockaded by this slide.

A WOMAN'S WOMAN.

With the "New Woman" There Has Come a Change.

"One hears a good deal about the new woman," said a Washington woman who had had a long and varied social experience in England and America, "but it seems to me that the women I meet today are very much like the women I knew fifty years ago. There may be more who are highly educated, or self-supporting; but the well-bred woman doesn't talk entomology or Greek roots or shop in society, and I can't tell a pretty girl who knows about bugs from the one who doesn't. The brilliant woman and the attractive girl in society are very much what they always were, I fancy. One must get behind the scenes to recognize the modern woman's peculiarities. Entomology and a salary may affect her private life.

"But I do not notice in society one sign that women are changed, and I'm delighted with the change. When I was a girl the half hour or whole hour after dinner was the abomination of desolation. The men said with their wines and cigars. The women adjourned to the drawing rooms and manifestly did penance for their sins. Some of them tried to be amiable and kept up an invertebrate conversation. Some were openly, frankly bored, and the advent of the men was hailed with undisguised joy and relief. Now things are altogether different in this day and generation. To be sure, the men often leave the table with the women, but even when they don't there is no dull hour for the women. Women are more interested in each other than they used to be, or else they are more interested in themselves. Whichever it is, the result is the same—increased animation and fluent conversation. When a number of women are together nowadays they seem to have a most hilarious time, and conversation never flags for a moment. I suppose it is because there are more interests in the lives of women than there were in the old days. One doesn't need to talk jam or servants or children or clothes—though these staple topics are still hard worked, I notice. I've often seen a look of actual regret on the women's faces when the doors opened and the men came in. It is a wholesome sign. A woman's woman is a much finer product of civilization than a man's woman. The men are so easily deceived, poor things." —New York Sun.

Bradley-Martins to Settle in London.

Mrs. Bradley-Martin is now expected to settle permanently in England. She is looking for a suitable West End mansion, and has been inquiring about Baron Ferdinand Rothschild's house in Piccadilly, near Hamilton place. This, however, would not be large enough for Mrs. Bradley-Martin's purposes, as it was arranged for a bachelor residence, with splendid reception rooms, but with few bedrooms. Mrs. Bradley-Martin intends to entertain on a lavish scale, and, with the Cadogan family to back her, the Countess Cadogan being the sister-in-law of her son-in-law, the Earl of Craven, she would soon get in to the first society.—London Letter.
