The Evangelistic Meetings
At the M. E. church is increasing in interest and attendance. Are we all interested in building into the community life, stability of character and social solidarity? Have we shown our interest by attendance and co-operation? Christianity in its fulness is "Life", it is the religion of hope; it touches the hard rock of human nature as it were, with a magic wand, and immediately there breaks forth the fresh bubbling water of a regenerate life. It increases confidence, faith and trust, the lack of which is the most expansive thing in the world. Some may say the revival is alright for others colossal failure in that it awakens the soul in less than five percent of its students. The reason is that we are trying to operate our schools without religion—The school of the future will take for its task the arousing of the souls of its students, rating as secondary the mathematics, sciences and foreign languages, now thought to be important." Industry, science, commerce, agriculture, invention, the arts and cultures all await the development of this inner man—the fuel of the soul machine, the one thing necessary." Jesus was stating a great psychological truth when He told but I don't believe in it. Then you don't believe in a commercial revival. Are we right in asking ourselves, 'Is the culture which I have and to which I aspire strengthening my devotion to those things which are pure and lovely and of good report? Are the most cultured men I know the most devoted to the highest interest of humanity and the most uncalculating and unselfish in the measure of their service?' Germany was unequalled in her intellectual attainments of a certain kind, but the effect of it all on her scholars in the atrophy of spiritual vision and power will ever remain as an indictment of a godless culture that cannot be overlooked or explained away.

Like wealth and power of any sort, culture has its insidious temptations. First of all, it is compelled to be analytical and critical. It takes things to pieces, its flowers lose their perfume in the study of calyx and sepal. Babson, president of the Statistical Society says: "The facts are before us from a statistical standpoint, education today is a
His hearers that "thru faith they could secure health, happiness and prosperity." The Holy Spirit is the great source of supply, the invisible, but living substance. Man is the motor that can use this great invisible, and untied power. To know Jesus as a vital living reality, a positive molding influence, the life quickened and living in constant companionship with Him. One of the great philosophers recently said, "The only two provinces of absolutely sure knowledge—One is pure mathematics, the other the experience of the soul. Thus to increase trust, faith, we need a religious consciousness."
Come to these services. Meetings commence at 7:45 p. m., except Saturday. Afternoon services at 2:30 p. m.
Three services Sunday. Morning service at 11 a. m. Afternoon service of prayer and praise at 2:30. Evening, young peoples service at 7 and preaching at 8 p. m. Everybody welcome.

SCRUBS BRING MUCH REGRET
Aged Live Stock Owner Sorry He Did Not Begin With Purebred Cows Years Ago.
"If I had started with a few purebred cows 30 years ago I would have something that I would be proud of now rather than a lot of nondescript animals." This remark was made to a representative of the United States Department of Agriculture by a live stock owner seventy-five years old. That even this age is not too late to make a beginning is shown by the fact that he is a believer in purebred sires and his herd, though not purebred, contains some grade Holstein cows.
A Remarkable Record.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds, croup and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities became better known. It is the standard and main reliance for these diseases in thousands of homes. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.—Adv.

SEASONS CHANGE?
THE first snow of the season has fallen, says a newspaper dispatch from a city far up in Canada. King Winter is coming to life in the northland, getting ready to creep south. Old-timers soon will be saying, "The seasons are changing. We don't have the cold weather we had when I was a boy."
Not so, say the Weather Bureau experts in Washington. Their records show no radical changes in the seasons. Weather runs in cycles. It may be exceptionally hot or cool or rainy for several years, but nature soon steps in and evens things up. Over long periods the average is about the same.
For instance, accurate weather records have been kept since 1780 at New Haven, Conn. These records show that a mild winter is counterbalanced later by a cool summer or a severe winter.
Striking an average over 10-year periods, the records show that the yearly temperature has hovered around 50 degrees since 1780.
The warmest July was in 1780, but the thermometer then registered almost exactly the same as in July, 1876.
The coldest January, in the 142 years recorded, occurred as late as 1857. The coldest February occurred years after the warmest one.
Back in 1770, Dr. Hugh Williamson wrote that the winters of the preceding half century had been much milder than "in the old days." That is much the same story that the old-timers tell now.
It probably has been so since the days of the cave man, people imagining that seasons are changing. They get their idea from the fact that severe weather occurs only in intermittent cycles. And severe weather sticks in the memory, while exceptionally mild weather that pulls the long-range average to normal is forgotten.

Lenore News
Alden Carey, the 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carey, Sr., has been very sick but is better now and able to again resume his studies.
Mrs. J. H. Johnston is home from the hospital but it is reported that she is not getting along very well.
Frankie Carey, Jr., made a business trip to Orofino and from there to Lewiston the last of the week.
Mrs. Jesse Tumbleton, who is taking medical treatment at Lewiston, made a trip down Saturday and back Sunday.
Alf Hollingsworth and family spent Sunday at the Carl Gillispie home.
Mrs. Marvin Vincent of Leland spent Sunday visiting her folks.

The farmers of this vicinity sold quite a number of cattle and delivered them to Kendrick, Sunday and Monday.
Bill Green was seen with his car at the mercy of a little truck, towing him into the jitney hospital at Orofino for repairs. Evidently the car was curable for he made a dashing trip home from Lewiston by way of Orofino and reached home just in time for the Sunday school rally.
The parties given at two school houses at Teakean and South Teakean were well attended and everyone enjoyed them very much. The teachers are the Misses Mary Perry, Ena Perry and Irene Johnston.
A rag ball social will be given at the Jack creek school next Friday, October 27. Everybody welcome.
A Sunday school rally was given Sunday at the Lenore school. They had Sunday school and a sermon by Rev. Pain of Gifford. A big dinner was served out on the lawn and everyone reports a dandy time.
