CHRISTMAS TIME.

Christmas time is here again—the one time in the year which draws the people of all Christian nations closer together; the time when those who have drifted to distant parts, yearn to return to the "dear old home" and once again join in the festivities that prevailed around the fireside in the days gone by. It is the time of the year when the spirit of good cheer permeates every soul, and the thoughts of all are to do good and make each other happy.

The Examiner trusts that the true Christmas spirit will prevail next Sunday in every home that it visits and that each and every one of its readers will enjoy "A Merry Christmas" to the fullest extent.

Upon retiring from the office of Auditor and Recorder on January 1st, W. R. Holmes will take up the duties of editor and manager of the Paris Post. This will be a new field of labor for Mr. Holmes, and while he will find much of the work of the country editor pleasant, he will also find that the editor has his trials and tribulations the same as other people. If Will makes as good an editor as he has a county officer, he will never have cause to regret having taken up newspaper work. The Examiner wishes him success in his new undertaking.

With a half dozen or more applicants for every job he has to give out, and with some vigorous kicks being registered against certain ones to whom positions have already been promised, Governor-elect Hawley no doubt fully realizes by this time that there is more truth than poetry in the phrase, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

The St. Anthony Peak-Chronicle suggests that if the members-elect to the legislature from Fremont County wish to have their names go down in Idaho history, they should get busy drafting bills as follows: House Bill No. 1, "Repeal of the local option law;" House Bill No. 2, "Repeal of the anti-pass law;" House Bill No. 3, "Amend the primary election law."

A LITTLE POLITICAL HISTORY.

The Idaho Post, published at Moscow gives the following bit of political history:

"In 1880 there was a democratic majority of approximately 1500 in this state. Four years later it was reduced to 786 on an average, and in 1888 the republican congressman was elected by a majority of about 3,000. The state remained republican until 1892, when the populists carried it for presidential electors by a majority of 1921. The republican governor, however, reduced a plurality of 1409. Two years later the republicans had a majority of over 3000, and in 1896 Bryan carried the state by 16,868. In 1900 the democrats again carried the state for presidential electors and elected Hunt governor by 2160. In 1902 Morrison defeated Hunt by 5853 and Gooding's plurality in 1904 was more than 17000 over Heitfeld. This was reduced in 1906 to 8890, and in 1908 Brady's plurality was out down less than 8000. The vote of the state this year shows an average plurality for the republican state candidates of about 7000, Congressman French receiving the highest plurality of 14569.
