

EXAMINATION FOR ASSISTANT FOREST RANGER

The United States civil service commission announces an examination for assistant forest ranger on Oct. 21 and 22. In field district No. 4 of the forest service the examination will be held in Idaho at Boise, Challis, Emmett, Haily, Mackay, Montpelier, Oakley, Pocatello, Salmon, Victor and Weiser and in Wyoming at Afton and Jackson.

Candidates must be able-bodied men between the ages of 21 and 40, capable of enduring all the hardships of outdoor life. A medical certificate to this effect is required. The examination consists of two parts: a field test and the answering of practical questions. The latter relate to land surveying, timber estimating, lumbering, land laws, mining and the livestock business. Practical experience and general intelligence, as shown by ability to write with reasonable clearness of expression, are the main requirements. Rangers must be residents of the state in which they seek employment, and should be familiar with local industrial conditions and topography.

From the list of successful candidates, the government selects new men for the forest service, who are appointed as forest rangers, at $1,100 yearly salary. They are eligible to promotion later to higher grades, including vacancies in the position of deputy supervisor and supervisors.

When necessary the ranger must own and maintain his own saddle and pack animals. Rangers permanently assigned to a forest are provided with headquarters consisting of cabins, barns and sheds and with some agricultural land to grow food for their families and domestic animals.

Applicants can secure information concerning the examination from the U. S. civil service commission, Washington, D. C., or from the forest supervisors, at the places named.

DIARRHOEA QUICKLY CURED.

"I was taken with diarrhea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by The Modern Drug Co.

Blind Coffee Tasters.

Shut away from the sunshine by their total blindness, the loss of sight seems to have brought a brother and sister, expert coffee-tasters for A. Schilling & Co., partial compensation in making their sense of taste keener than in those who can see.

Tests made by the company of a large number of coffee-tasters resulted in proving that the two blind tasters were far superior to the others and they secured the post of chief coffee-tasters.

From 9 till 12 each day they are engaged in tasting various kinds and blends, taking small sips, and with such refinement of the sense of taste that they can detect instantly the slightest variation of admixtures. They record their findings on numbered slips, which have brass tacks placed beside the figures so their fingers, in which the sense of touch is also greatly developed, may read what their eyes cannot.

"They never make a mistake," said an official of the company yesterday. "Their powers of sense along these lines are well nigh uncanny."

Cape Smoke.

The chiefs of Basuto and Bechuanaland demand prohibition, and take care that it is secured to their people. But nevertheless the brandy party of the Cape Colony leaves no stone unturned to promote the sale of "cape smoke" and wine sufficient to strengthen to suit the native taste. Nothing can be more fallacious or hypocritical than to speak of the native being supplied with "light wines." The native wants something with a "bite" in it, and is not satisfied with any intoxicant which does not proceed down his throat "like a torchlight procession."

Within the last three months there were at one time no fewer than 1,500 persons in the Johannesburg jails charged with illicit selling of intoxicants. The crime is that of giving veritable poison to natives—all at a price frequently of ten shillings a bottle. The punishment for this lucrative and murderous traffic is, Mr. Wilnot contends, "absolutely preposterous," and after some months of easy prison life the brazen trafficker returns to his easy method of making money.

CAUGHT A BAD COLD.

"Last winter my son caught a very bad cold and the way he coughed was something dreadful," writes Mrs. Sarah E. Duncan, of Tipton Iowa. We thought sure he was going into consumption! We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely." For sale by The Modern Drug Co.

Idaho Turkey Red as Milling Wheat

In Bulletin No. 72 of this station, "A Report on the Milling Properties of Idaho Wheat," attention is called to the particularly hearty praise given Turkey Red flour by all who took part, or viewed the results obtained, in the home baking tests. Since that report was issued, a series of investigations dealing with the relative merits of dry farmed and irrigated wheats for milling purposes has been commenced. The first year's work in this series very clearly supports the claims the friends of Turkey Red have made for it. Other varieties (among them, Bluestem, Dicklow, Defiance, Gold Coin, and Sonora) unquestionably possess certain very desirable characteristics, but Turkey Red is perhaps the most desirable all-around milling wheat now being grown in this state. We have found it heavier in weight per bushel and invariably sufficiently rich in the nitrogen containing compounds to insure a flour well above the average in gluten contents. This characteristic of the grain combined with a high flour producing capacity, a satisfactory yielding power and a peculiar hardness under adverse growing conditions easily entitles the variety to first consideration among farmers and millers in all sections of the state where previous experience with it has shown no appreciable loss by lodging previous to ripening. Unfortunately the variety is characterized by a relatively weak straw, and for this reason its unrestricted distribution in those sections where a rich soil and heavy rainfall generally results in excessive straw growth is not to be recommended. It is preeminently the wheat for the dry farms of the state.

Indian Johnson Gone to Happy Hunting Ground

Indian Johnson, a familiar character with Cokeville people, died at the Olson ranch last Friday evening of consumption. He was a brave of the Bannock tribe and was near his 55th birthday at the time of his death.

Indian Johnson was quite a sporty character in his younger days, associated with and was quite a friend of the early white settlers in this vicinity.

He won the championship in a five-mile foot race which took place south of the cemetery between the Bannocks and a tribe of Utah Indians. Over this same ground he had won and lost many horse races and his last resting place, in our cemetery, is a very fitting one to have finished his wild career, overlooking, as it does, the site of some of his victories and defeats.

Years ago Indian Johnson became attached to P. W. Olson and has paid him a visit most every year since, camping at his place and partaking of his hospitality.

Last summer he told Mr. Olson he was coming this year for one more elk hunt before he took his long trip to the happy hunting grounds. When he came Mr. Olson, seeing his condition, put him off and he lingered along in expectancy until he finally succumbed to the dreaded enemy of the red man—the white plague.—Cokeville Register.

VERIFY IT

The Proof is in Montpelier, Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Montpelier citizen is itself strong proof for Montpelier people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Montpelier citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved weak kidneys and now states the result was permanent. (Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? The case is right at home.)

Mrs. A. Tubbs, Front St., Montpelier, Idaho, says: "You may publish my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills for everything I said when I recommended them before holds good. Four years ago I was in a bad shape with kidney complaint and was hardly able to get around. I had pain and weakness in my back. Doan's Kidney Pills improved my health wonderfully and I feel grateful to them. I advise their use to all kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, Sole agents for the United States.
