You say to the drug store man, "Give me a small bottle of freezone." This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that freezone dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without irritating the surrounding skin.

tons aggregate were the toil of the first day of the full-fledged submarine warfare.

The period of grace given by Germany to neutral shipping in the "barred zones" expired early Tuesday morning and the day's havoc caused by the U-boats is believed to be indicative of the proportions to be maintained hereafter in Germany's campaign to starve out England.

The vessels sunk Tuesday included seven British, five Norwegian, one Russian, one Swedish and one Spanish ship.

There is nothing in the reports to show definitely that there was loss of life. Grave fears age, however, entertained for the bulk of the passengers on the Commonwealth and Dominion liner Pert Adelaide of Liverpool. Only ninety-six of her passengers and crew are thus far reported to have been picked up at sea. The vessel's captain was ciptured by the U-boat commander.

Aggregate tonnage sent to the bottom on February 6 alone is 6,693 tons in excess of the total tonnage destroyed in the first five days of the new warfare from February 1 to February 5 inclusive, during which period only 41,887 tons were sunk.

The total tonnage destroyed since February 1 up to February 6—as reported by official and unofficial sources in London—amounts to 89,467 tons.

If Tuesday's rate should be main a ruescay's rate should be main tained, the U-coat blockade would mean the destruction of a million and a half tons a month, or half a million in excess of the figures estimated in Berlin dispatches.
