A DIFFERENT ANGLE.

According to news dispatches, President Wilson the other day while riding in an overcrowded day coach on the Pennsylvania railroad, took occasion to reprimand the officials of that road by saying to the conductor, "I wish you would tell the man who manages this road that it is very badly managed."

If the president had ridden in a private car he probably would still think that the Pennsylvania road was mighty well managed and his insight into the discomforts the common people endure at times would not have been noticed.

A BACK NUMBER.

The law hasn't budged an inch in a century. Wonderful progress has been made in manufacturing, in farming, in railroading, in education, in printing and in all trades and professions since our revolutionary fathers established the United States constitution. But the poor law has stood tied to that ancient mile stone erected more than a hundred years ago. What is needed now is law to fit the times and present conditions. When a court has a case to decide these days it goes back a hundred years for a "precedent." The "precedent" stripped of its legal adornments, is a decision rendered by some egotistical old sack of false dignity who would be as much out of place in these times as the stink pots of the ancient Chinese would be in actual warfare against a modern navy. Constant delay is another bane of the law of today. Red tape ties the wheels of justice in a thousand places so they are unable to move an inch. Cutting off a lot of red tape and knocking out a few tiresome ancient "precedents" might help some. It is at least worth trying.

POULTRY IS A BIG ASSEST.

More valuable than the wheat crop, the hay crop, or oats or rye, or fruit, is the product of the poultry yards of the United States. Only the corn crop and value of animals slaughtered or sold for slaughter exceed the cash value of the American hen. These are not the figures of a poultry crank, but the report of the government department of agriculture.

Is it any wonder, then, that men become enthusiastic over the development of breeds of poultry in the same way that others become enthusiastic over the improvement of breeds of hogs and cattle and sheep?

If it is true that well-bred horses and cows pay the farmer, is it not just as reasonable to suppose that well-selected and improved strains of poultry are more profitable than scrubs? And is it not true that poultry of the better sort that sometimes finds its way into the markets looks better and tastes better than the mongrel variety?

In Idaho, which is essentially an agricultural state, the breeding of fine poultry ought to be encouraged. It is a part of the dependable assets of commonwealth, just as much as the number of hogs and the acreage of alfalfa.

Here's to the Idaho hen and her mate and may she live no longer than to be a source of profit.

The Cause of Rheumatism.

Stomach trouble, lazy liver and deranged kidneys are the cause of rheumatism. Get your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in healthy condition by taking Electric Bitters, and you will not be troubled with the pains of rheumatism. C. B. Allen, a school principal, of Sylvania, Ga., who suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys, writes: "All remedies failed until I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely. Maybe your rheumatic pains come from stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Electric bitters will give you prompt relief. 50c and $1.00. Recommended by all druggists."

An Epidemic of Coughing.

Is sweeping over the town and young and old are alike affected. Foley's Honey & Tar Compound is a quick safe reliable family medicine for coughs and colds. A. S. Jones, of Lee Pharmacy, Chico, Calif., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has no equal, and I recommend it as containing no narcotics or other harmful properties."

Tales of the Town

AT THE BOAT RACE.

THE water bloomed with silken flags.
And ever as we rowed
My eyes were on a lovely face
That bright with blushes
glowed.

She wore the colors of my crew
Among the frills of lace
That fluttered on her maiden breast,
And yet we lost the race.

I dared not look toward the shore
When he came in behind
And cheers for others, not for me,
Came rolling down the wind.
I dared not lift my heavy lids
To look upon her face.
My dream of bliss, alas, was o'er
Since I had lost the race.

The rival captain sought her side,
Victorious and gay,
His laurels at her dainty feet
In eager haste to lay.
I hastened from the noisy crowd
With slow and weary pace,
For in the running for her heart
Again I lost the race.

But on the wharf, deserted now,
I met her all by chance.
And, to my spirit borrowed hope
From something in her glance!
My arm about her slender waist
Stole softly into place.
And Victory crowned me in defeat.
For Love had won the race.

—Minna Irving.

The suspense is over. Not a single Emmett democrat has been given a place in President Wilson's cabinet.

A child of 4 years, with bright eyes and a roguish mind, began suddenly to giggle in church one Sunday morning. Noticing the child watching the back of a nodding deacon's head, the mother inquired into the cause of such merriment. "Oh mama," laughed the child, "dat man's head is peekin' out at me through a hole in his hair."

Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief—it cures. For sale by all dealers.

By far the largest part of the world's turquoise comes from the mines near the Persian city of Nishapur, where Omar Khayyam was born and lies buried. The mines are situated in a range of mountains rising to the height of 6,655 feet. The highest point at which turquoise have been found is 5,800 feet above sea level and the lowest 4,800 feet. The geologic formation of the Nishapur mountains is porphyries, greenstone, limestone and sandstone the turquoise being found in veins in the rock. The methods of the Persians who operate the mines is quite antiquated, for only ladders and pulleys are used in the rough shafts.

Chronic Stomach Trouble Cured. Nothing is more discouraging than a chronic disorder of the stomach. It is not surprising that many suffer for years with such an ailment when a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle? "About one year ago," says P. H. Beck, of Wakelee, Mich., "I bought a package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using them I have felt perfectly well. I had previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit." For sale by all dealers.
